MURDERER OF POWERS CONVICTED

Verdict in Case Tried in Dallas is Reached in Less Than Five Hours

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DALLAS (Tex.) May 26.—D. E. Soderman was found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the slaying of Jay Clay Powers, prominent hotel owner, actor and playwright, by a jury in Criminal District Court here tonight, and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. The jury rendered its verdict at 10:30 o'clock after having been out four hours and forty-five minutes. Powers was shot in the lobby of the Waldorf Hotel here April 18. Soderman has been held in jail without bail since. His trial, under grand jury indictment, began last Monday.

Six ballots were taken, according to E. B. Williams, foreman. The sentence was the maximum under the law.

Judge C. A. Pippen complimented the jury "for its courage in rendering its verdict."

"It is a great day in our courts when men have the courage and fearlessness to make such a verdict," the judge said.

"I thank you," called Soderman to the jury with the reading of the verdict.

"It's not fair," Mrs. Soderman sobbed.

Soderman's brother, Arthur, of Los Angeles, made no comment.

Mrs. Powers, the widow, and Lucille, 16-year-old daughter, were not present.

W. W. Nelms, defense attorney, said the defense would appeal.

LIFE TAKES ODD TURN

Hungry Genius to Get Bride

Socially Prominent Chicago Girl Soon Will Become Sculptor's Wife

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—Stanislaws Szukalski has gone to Chicago to marry Miss Helen Walker. Szukalski is a penniless sculptor whose genius has been recognized by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, John Sloan, Robert Henry, Peter Larson, Walter Dean Goldbeck and other artists and critics, but who has, nevertheless, been frequently ill from hunger in the last year. Miss Walker is the daughter of Dr. Samuel T. Walker, one of Chicago's most prominent physicians.

The marriage, which is to take place within a few days, followed by a honeymoon in Canada and later residence in New York, is the climax of a courtship which has been an item of interested gossip in the artistic and social circles of two cities. It is the romance of a talented, bored and popular society girl and a strange young Polish genius.

OF AN OLD FAMILY

Dr. Walker, a member of an old and socially secure family, was graduated at Yale in the class of '83, and has been president of the Yale Club in Chicago. He has established himself as a leading physician and is a widower. His other daughter, Harriet, married Paul Welling, son of the former president of the Illinois Central Railroad.

Miss Walker was one of the bridesmaids at the scheduled wedding of Miss Mary Baker and Allister McCormick, who waited vainly at the church for Miss Baker to appear.

Szukalski at 16 was the infant phenomenon at the art museum of Cracow, Poland. His curious, tortured, but anatomically perfect creations in clay and bronze brought artists from Berlin, St. Petersburg and Vienna to see his work. His father had emigrated to America and set up a blacksmith shop in Chicago. With the money derived from the purchase of some of his work by the Cracow Museum young Szukalski came to America to join him.

Until the elder Szukalski's death father and son were constant companions, and frequently Stanislaws refused invitations to dinners and parties on the ground that his father, "the greatest man that ever lived—and I am not," as he said unblushingly, and he were going for a walk.

GOT FATHER'S BODY

Stanislaws's father was killed in a street-car accident. Stanislaws found the body in the morgue. He showed no emotion. He went to the officials and asked for a permit to keep the body. When they asked him what for, he answered: "I want to dissect it. I want to learn anatomy. I am too poor to buy the cadavers of other men. My father would wish it."

It was thus, by dissecting the body of his own father, that young Szukalski acquired the knowledge of the structure of the human body which, even in his most bizarre conceptions, is startlingly accurate.

Patrons appeared in Chicago who wished to buy his work, but he had a theory that the work of artists should not go into private collections, but should be owned by cities. He would sell nothing, no matter how high a price was offered. This threw him upon the philanthropy of friends and admirers.

Moneyed people provided him with studios and materials from time to time and he lived on cheap food purchased with money obtained here and there.

JURY DISCHARGED

PAGEANT OF PAST STIRS MEMORIES OF ROMANCE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, May 26.—Two hundred thousand persons today thronged the streets of Sacramento and witnessed the most wonderfully inspiring historical pageant ever held in California. The parade marked the climax of the six-day celebration being held here in commemoration of the "Days of old, the days of gold, the days of '49."

The spectacular parade, which was more than five miles in length, proved that time has not weakened the spirit of the once Far West but has merely placed over it a thin veneer. And today that coat was shed for the pageant of the past.

ROMANCE RE-ENACTED

The romance of early California as told in song and story was ushered back again from the revered past and the life and customs were re-enacted — reunited with a spirit of those days, the heritage of every Californian, a heritage handed down by the men and women who won this land and then, worn by toil and strife, laid down their burdens and passed to their children the charge of maintaining the work they so gloriously started.

Even without all the other features that are a part of the '49 celebration, the pageant of the past was sufficient to make '49 week one of California's greatest events.

Back from the days of old were brought scenes that to the older spectator stirred long-forgotten events. Each float and each costume in itself meant little perhaps, but when taken as a symbol of the past they told stories of events which once stirred the hearts of the world and crowned the West as the home of romance.

BURN BODY OF NEGRO IN SQUARE

Woman Identifies Him as Attacker; Killed by Victim's Father

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WACO (Tex.) May 26. — A 23-year-old negro man was killed here at 5:30 this afternoon by the father of Mrs. Margaret Hayes, victim of an attack Thursday night, when she identified the negro as the one who attacked her.

Seven shots were fired into the negro at the home of the woman's father.

The negro was apprehended on the public square this afternoon by E. L. McClure, a telegraph operator, who, with his wife, took the negro to the home of the girl.

When the negro entered the room, the girl threw up her hands and screamed that it was the one who had attacked her.

The father, Sam Harris, then grabbed a pistol and began firing. A crowd estimate at 6000 stormed the undertaking parlor where the body was taken, dragged the corpse behind a truck through the streets and burned it on the public square.

FIGHT STEEL SCHEDULES

But Committee in Charge of Bill Is Victorious in Senate Voting

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The Senate committee came today to its first big fight over individual schedules in the tariff bill. Rates recommended by the Finance Committee majority on some steel products came under fire from both the Republican and Democratic sides of the chamber, but as rapidly as votes were taken the committee was sustained.

Senator Cummins of Iowa, one of the Republican Senators who fought the Payne-Aldrich bill, opened the fight on committee duties on steel plates and announced that he would have amendments to offer to many other duties in the schedule. Senators Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic leader, and Stanley of Kentucky, conducted the fight for the minority.

Asserting that for years the United States Steel Corporation had fixed the prices of substantially all commodities it produced, or in which it dealt, Senator Cummins said the intimacy in the industry was so close that something besides competition would have to be depended upon to fix reasonable prices.

"I do not want to go to the point to which we are being forced, that of the government fixing prices," said Senator Cummins. "Therefore, I am for adjusting the schedules to permit fair competition from abroad, but I do not know that that will be effective."

The Iowa Senator and Senators Underwood and Stanley argued that the United States could and did produce steel cheaper than any other country in the world, the Democratic Senators insisting that in this circumstance, tariff duties were unnecessary. Senator Stanley said the United States was selling in the markets of the world and that in the face of that the United States Steel Corporation wanted Congress to guarantee its profits against any possible competition from foreign lands.

Cloture and the difficulties Republican leaders have been having in keeping the majority Senators on the job, were brought into the tariff discussion again by Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, who declared that the Republican Senators do not remain in the chamber to hear tariff discussions because they were thoroughly satisfied with the provisions of the bill.

Declaring that if Senators would attend the sessions and the bill were intelligently discussed, it would never become a law, Senator Robinson said that he revealed no secret when he stated that some of the Senators in charge of the bill, at heart and in fact, know that many of the proposed increases in rates were unreasonable and unjust.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, declared Republican Senators were hearing from home and were receiving letters and resolutions proving the people had become aware that the Democratic contention that the bill would increase prices was correct.

BOOMERANG IS PREDICTED

Filipino Plea for Independence on Strength of Four-Power Pact Expected to Defeat Aims

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The four-power Pacific treaty which the Filipino special mission expects to invoke when it presents its plea for independence before President Harding and Congress will act as a boomerang and help to defeat their cause, in the opinion of administration leaders here today.

The instructions delivered to the mission by the independence commission of the islands, and indorsed by the Philippine Legislature, urge the delegates to argue that the results of the Arms Conference, particularly the four-power treaty, have cleared the way for the granting of independence. This idea is based upon the argument that the powers signatory to the pact agree to respect the integrity of their insular possessions in the Pacific.

DON'T FEAR JAPS

Heretofore, it has suggested that if the United States relinquished her part, in Philippine affairs, the islands would eventually come into the possession of Japan or some other power. The Filipinos assert that for Japan to encroach upon the islands would constitute a violation of the treaty for which Japan would be answerable to the United States and the other signatory nations.

Hence, they say, the long-standing obstacle to Philippine independence namely, the difficulty of providing guarantees that independence would continue, have been removed, and it was largely as a result of this line of reasoning that the decision was made to demand "absolute, complete and immediate independence," instead of some half-way measure.

DIFFICULTY ENDED

When information of the instructions to the mission reached the United States, some apprehension was felt among administration officials on the score of this four-power treaty argument. There was no particular disposition to believe it sound, but it was felt that unless a logical answer could be provided, the Filipino case might be straightened to the public mind. Today, however, the difficulty was ended, when a State Department expert pointed out that the four-power treaty obligates the signatories to respect their "insular possessions" in the Pacific, and that the moment independence is granted the Philippines they cease to be an insular possession of the United States, and hence come without the scope of the four-power treaty.

Another argument that is prominently advanced by administration opponents of Philippine independence has to do with the alleged danger from internal opposition. Native chieftains, notably those among the warlike Moros, it

HENWOOD IS SET FREE

Case Was Noted Decade Ago

Prominent Denver Society Man Was Convicted on Murder Charge

Slaying in Brown Palace Hotel Drew National Attention

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DENVER, May 26.—Harold Frank Henwood, former pet of Denver society, serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary for the murder of George E. Copeland, prominent Cripple Creek mining man, in the bar-room of the Brown Palace Hotel on the night of May 24, 1911, will walk out of the State prison at Canon City a free man Sunday.

The mails today carried a letter from Gov. Shoup to Warded Tom Tynan containing an executive order commuting Henwood's life sentence to a term which will make possible his immediate release. Only one condition is imposed—Henwood must not return to Denver.

AIDED BY SPRINGER

For the fact that he will be a free man once more, Henwood can thank primarily, John W. Springer, Denver financier and former president of the Continental Trust Company, and two women. The women are his sister, head of a large convent in Chicago and Mrs. Thomas McCue, of Denver. Mrs. McCue is the widow of Thomas McCue, who at the time of his death was Democratic national committeeman for Colorado and who, during Henwood's two trials for murder, was his staunch friend and financial backer.

John W. Springer, at the time of the killing of the husband of Isabel Springer, the cause of the killing, made a personal appeal to Governor Shoup for executive clemency for Henwood. Two weeks ago, accompanied by John T. Bottom, Henwood's chief attorney, he called upon the Governor and implored the executive to let Henwood out of prison.

DRAMATIC SCENE

A scene dramatic in the extreme was enacted in the executive chambers when Springer presented his plea. In a shaken voice and with tears streaming down his face, the former banker pleaded with the Governor to make use of the pardoning power vested in him by the Constitution. Reciting the incidents leading up to the killing of Copeland, who was struck by a bullet intended for Tony Von Phul, with whom Henwood had quarreled over Mrs. Springer, Springer said he was convinced Henwood was actuated by noble motives and that he fired in self-defense the bullets which killed Copeland and Von Phul and made James W. Atkinson of Colorado Springs — like Copeland—an innocent victim, a cripple for life.

Time and again the banker assured Gov. Shoup that Henwood in his opinion, simply was protecting Mrs. Springer when he became involved in a quarrel with Von Phul. He expressed the firm conviction that Henwood was acting as a friend of himself and his wife and that he had been punished more than enough.

SISTER IS UNTIRING

Henwood's sister and Mrs. McCue have been unsparing in their efforts to obtain freedom for him. They obtained for him the commutation of the death sentence for the killing of Copeland and later were the moving spirits behind two applications for a pardon heard by the board of pardons in 1917 and 1921 and denied in both instances. Now that he will be a free man they have obtained a position for him in which he can earn an honest living and start life anew.

Mrs. Isabel Springer, the cause of the trouble between Henwood and Von Phul, the latter a prominent resident of St. Louis and an aeronaut of international repute, was subsequently divorced by Springer and died a pauper several years ago in a hospital on Blackwell's Island, New York.

An intimate friend of the Springers, Henwood, according to the story which he told on the witness stand during his trial, had learned that Von Phul was harrassing Mrs. Springer by threats to publish certain letters written by her prior to and after her marriage to Springer. Von Phul had known Mrs. Springer in St. Louis.

FRANCE WON'T TAKE PART IN THE HAGUE MEETING

Decision to Stand Aloof is Taken After Talks With Washington; Believe Results Impossible

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, May 26.—The French government decided definitely today not to take part in the economic conference with the Russians at The Hague next month. This attitude was adopted after the Foreign Office had had a detailed discussion of the possibilities of The Hague conference with the State Department in Washington.

Premier Poincare was informed by the United States government that the principal contention which would have to be fulfilled before America would even think of dealing with the Bolsheviki at The Hague, or elsewhere, involved the recall by the Moscow regime of the memorandum they sent the powers at Genoa in replying to the conditions proposed as the basis of future negotiations. The memorandum reiterated the Communist principles to which the Bolsheviki adhere.

RESULTS IMPOSSIBLE

The French government is convinced that Moscow would refuse to accept this condition, and, therefore, it feels that fruitful negotiations at The Hague are impossible.

Another element in the situation responsible for the decision of the French government to stay away from the Holland conference was enunciated by Premier Lloyd George in the British House of Commons yesterday. As viewed by the French, Lloyd George practically admitted that the Russians were holding to their Red army as a weapon to blackmail the powers into coming into an agreement with them. The French regard this as a dangerous way of approaching The Hague, and they prefer to stay at home.

It is understood that Poincare is much pleased with the conversations he had with Washington, because they have given him an opportunity to sound out American opinion and to mould France's policy along similar lines. It is emphasized that he did not try to persuade the United States to go to The Hague conference, but merely sought to ascertain if participation of the United States was possible.

PREMIER IS PRAISED

He is convinced now that this is not possible, as the conditions laid down are such that he does not believe the Bolsheviki would accept them. The Premier has received many letters of congratulation from Americans on his stand toward Russia.

As a companion piece to the Premier's decision not to send delegates to The Hague, he announced in the Chamber of Deputies today that he would not tolerate further Bolshevik propaganda or antiarmy campaigns in France. He asked the Chamber to authorize proceedings against two Communist members of the Chamber.

Poincare is leaving Paris for London the first week in June, when, doubtless, he will confer with Lloyd George, although the real object of his visit is to attend a Verdun memorial celebration.

Lloyd George's speech in the House of Commons was not received very warmly in Paris. Many of its passages seemed unsatisfactory, particularly his suggestion that at The Hague conference many political questions that were not decided at Genoa will be taken up again. The French feel that there has been too much quibbling on this point, and the understanding here has been that The Hague gathering would be restricted to discussions by economic experts and not politicians.

SPEECH DISCUSSED

The semiofficial Le Temps takes up Lloyd George's speech argumentatively, dwelling on three points. First, the newspaper argues, although Lloyd George expressed pleasure at managing to arrange a nonaggression pact, no "pact" was signed at Genoa; the nations simply adopted a resolution by which Russia and the other nations agree to abstain from aggression.

Second, the paper denies Lloyd George's statement that the Genoa conference was preceded by tense-

HARDING IS ONLY FAIR AS GOLFER

First-Rate President but Fourth-Rater on Links, It Seems

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Warren G. Harding of the Marion Star battled on the golf links today with his colleagues of the Washington newspaper correspondents and won fourth prize, a box of golf balls, in the annual tournament of the Washington Newspaper Golf Club. The President rolled in a gross score of 91, equalling that of Lowell Mellett of the Washington News, who won first place, but the Marion correspondent's handicap of 23 was short of the tournament winner, who took the silver cup given by Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post.

While the tournament was on, capital news was stymied. The President played with the local correspondents, newspaper owners, cartoonists and others of the fourth estate. The President presented the prizes to the various winners and when he reached his box of golf balls, said they looked like real practice balls.

The ten low-score men will compose a team representing the Washington club, which will meet a similar New York newspaper men's club next month.

Nineteen Killed in Powder and Mine Explosion

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SINNAMAHONING (Pa.) May 26. — Eight men were instantly killed and three others slightly hurt in a series of explosions which today blew to pieces three loading houses and another building of the Grasselli Chemical Company plant here. The cause of the explosions will probably never be determined, as all the men in the building where the powder first ignited were killed.

The plant is built in the hills just back of the village. The concussion was so great that buildings here were damaged. The first explosion occurred in a packing-house on the edge of the plant. Immediately workmen in the other buildings ran for their lives, and none too soon, for they had scarcely reached places of safety when two other explosions followed.

Much blasting powder went up in the explosion.

GAS KILLS ELEVEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) May 26.—Eleven miners were killed last night in an explosion in Acmar No. 3 mine of the Alabama Fuel and Iron Company, St. Clair county, according to reports received today at the Birmingham station of the Bureau of Mines.

Eighty-two men were working in the mine at the time of the explosion, but all except the eleven who were killed escaped. Ten of the bodies have been recovered. The explosion was due to mine gas. It caused little damage to the mine.

MILLIONAIRE BACK IN JAIL

Unsavory Character of Partner of Man Slain in Park Is Unearthed by New York Police

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—While Walter S. Ward, slayer of Sailor Clarence Peters, fought a losing fight all today in the White Plains courts for his release on a writ of habeas corpus from the jail cell in which he spent the preceding night, a search of many days in the secret places in the New York underworld proved the existence of unsavory character of "Charlie Ross," Peters's alleged associate in a plot to blackmail Ward.

If "Charlie Ross" is really wanted by Westchester County Sheriff George Werner, who has sent out one meager description of that individual, his arrest and detention as a material witness to the truth or untruth of Ward's plea of self-defense in his confession of the killing of Peters is a matter of a few hours.

The man's true name is withheld until Sheriff Werner has taken measures to arrest him. He is a man with a criminal record—a discharged seaman of the United States Navy, has admitted a vicious tendency which would indicate the quality of his relations with Peters and the hold the two had on Ward. "Ross" is at liberty on a suspended sentence imposed on him six months ago in a New York court, in which he pleaded guilty to a charge of extortion.

SERVED IN NAVY

When the real name of the man was given tonight to Sheriff Werner in White Plains, Werner admitted that he had heard it once before from one of Ward's attorneys. It is surmised that "Ross" and Peters met while both were serving in the Navy and that the operations by which the pair kept themselves in funds commenced when both were given discharge papers and found themselves on the New York pavements.

"Ross" served as a bugler on the battleships Rhode Island and Connecticut. He left the Navy a year ago and had various troubles with the police authorities until six months later, his most serious lapse resulted in his arrest on a charge of extortion, preferred by a wealthy man of unclean record. The charge was that "Ross" had extracted several thousand dollars from this wealthy plaintiff as the price of silence.

The name of the man who was victimized is known, but is here suppressed. It is not, of course, Walter S. Ward, whose trouble

Adams, past commander in chief of the G.A.R., known over the United States as a man of wide experience, deep thought and exceptional oratorical abilities. He has recently come from Omaha, Neb., to Los Angeles and will make this city his permanent home.

MILLIONAIRE BACK IN JAIL

with Peters and "Ross" commenced at a later date.

The hope held out Thursday by Dist.-Atty. Weeks that today's arguments before Justice Young in the White Plains Supreme Court would end the mystery which has cloaked the motives for the killing of Peters vanished when the proceedings developed into a skirmish of lawyers. Ward's temporary freedom — interrupted by his rearrest and confinement over Thursday night in jail—was at stake.

The first movement in the engagement of lawyers' wits was made when Ward's attorneys secured a writ of habeas corpus in the early morning. At noon Ward and his lawyers and Dist.-Atty. Weeks pushed their way through a packed courtroom to the counsel inclosure.

TAKEN FROM CELL

Ward was ushered out of the small jail into the empty lower corridors of the county building by Sheriff Werner five minutes earlier. He was shaved and groomed for his first public appearance since his confession, and smiled to one or two onlookers.

Neither side broached the subject of increased bail for Ward and Justice Young, dismissing the writ, based his decision on that fact.

The order sent Ward back to his cell. He had awaited the order in Sheriff Werner's office and was presently marched back and disappeared through the jail door. The cell in which he slept a second time tonight is the one which Harry K. Thaw once sat in and waited for White Plains judges to set his bail.

The next move in the legal battle for Ward's liberty will be made tomorrow morning before Justice Seeger in Newburgh. Justice Seeger originally admitted Ward to $20,000 bail and has sole power now to hear a petition that Ward be readmitted to bail. This petition will be made by Ward's attorneys with Dist.-Atty. Weeks again opposing. Asked whether he would approve $75,000 as an adequate bail, Weeks said:

"This amount is immaterial to me. In my opinion it is entirely up to the court."

FRANCE TURNS DOWN MEETING

ness all over Europe. Third, in order to consolidate peace, two conditions are essential—the paper says. These are to show the troublemakers that the Allies are not afraid of them and to create a desire in the United States to help Europe.

"Yesterday's speech by Lloyd George did just the contrary," the Temps continues. "When insisting on Russia's military strength and the dangers of a Russo-German alliance, Lloyd George had the appearance of a man who was afraid. By declaring that The Hague conference would continue Genoa's work he placed an obstacle in America's path because the United States objects to the Genoa methods."

CONTESTS FRANCE'S RIGHTS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 26. — At the luncheon given in his honor today, Prime Minister Lloyd George contested the inference of France's right to dictate peace conditions to the world, recalling that Great Britain mobilized 9,500,000 men.

"Have we no right to say something so that peace may be established," he said. "We did this for a common purpose. As long as we have a common purpose let us stand together. Great Britain is not yet out of danger—the world is not yet out of danger—humanity is not yet out of danger.

"I do not profess that the task of the Genoa conference is completed, but it is begun, and having been begun we are going through to the end with it."

POINT DANGER AT CROSSINGS

Campaign is Indorsed by Harding

Posters Will Cover Entire United States

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Warmly indorsed by President Harding, a campaign for the elimination of accidents at grade crossings will begin on all the railroads of the United States and Canada next Thursday, June 1, and continue for four months, according to plans announced today.

The campaign, which will be known as the careful crossing campaign, is under the auspices of the American Railway Association. The plans were arranged and will be carried through by the safety section of the association. When the campaign and its object were called to the attention of President Harding he issued the following statement:

"My attention has been called to the fact that under the auspices of the American Railway Association, an intensive campaign is to be waged for eliminating accidents at railroad highway crossings.

"The complete success of such an effort would mean the saving of thousands of lives, the prevention of many more thousands of injuries and, incidentally, the prevention of a great property loss. Of course, the ideal solution is elimination of grade crossings, to which all possible energy and means should be unceasingly directed. But the extent of our country and its railroad mileage make apparent that not for many years of utmost effort could this be effected. There should be constant pressure for elimination of these danger spots, particularly in the more populous areas; pending which there is need for just the kind of preventive effort that your association is planning. Among these measures, the most effective would seem to be to arouse in the minds of drivers a sense of their personal responsibilities. When thoughtlessness is allowed to usurp the place of vigilance, as too often happens, the scene is set for tragedy. Reminders, and still reminders, of the need for caution at railway crossings are needed.

"Surely, the effort you are undertaking is appealing and it ought to have the most generous and general support.

ACCIDENTS INCREASE

Accidents at highway grade crossings have been increasing alarmingly in the last few years, according to records kept by the Interstate Commerce Commission, largely as result of increase in the number of automobiles in use. In 1921, according to these records, there were 1702 fatal accidents of this sort and 4818 persons were injured. The great majority of the accidents involved automobiles, the machines striking trains, or being struck by engines and cars. During the campaign efforts will be made to impress the drivers of automobiles especially with the necessity of caution when going over railroad tracks. The slogan of the campaign will be "Cross Crossings Cautiously."

Beginning today, railroads all over the country and in Canada will post on their property and in all cities where there is a railroad a striking poster showing a careless automobile driver about to sacrifice himself and his family to speed mania. More than 1,250,000 posters have been distributed by the railroads, and they will be seen by automobilists everywhere. A small replica of the poster will be in the form of "stickers" which will be placed on mail.

The safety section of the American Railway Association, which is in charge of the campaign, was organized about a year ago to promulgate safety not only among employees of the transportation lines of the nation, but also among the public and the "careful crossing" campaign is its first effort. It is believed that by educational methods automobile drivers, the drivers of other vehicles and pedestrians can be warned of the danger of carelessness at highway grade crossings, and thus protect themselves. Railroad officers point to the fact that as President Harding says, it would take many years to eliminate all highway grade crossings, and that something must be done in the meantime. They also point out that it would cost, at a conservative estimate, $12,000,000,000 to do the work, and this vast sum it not available at this time. Interstate commerce reports show how dangerous crossings are being eliminated gradually. On the other hand no crossing is essentially dangerous if the usual precautions are observed.

TRAINMEN CONVICTED OF LIQUOR CHARGE

FOUR GUILTY OF BRINGING WHISKY ACROSS BORDER TO SEATTLE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SEATTLE, May 26.—Four members of the crew of the Great Northern Owl train from Vancouver, B. C., last July 15, were found guilty of transporting liquor from Canada and possession of liquor by Federal Court jury here today. The men were charged with stopping the train at Richmond Beach, a suburb, dropping off seventy-five sacks of whisky, and then proceeding to Seattle.

The four, Ben a Vincent, conductor; Arthur Kirkman, brakeman; Henry M. Walt, engineer, and Anthony Zievelto, express messenger, will be sentenced next Monday. They were acquitted of a charge of conspiring to smuggle the liquor into the United States.

AGED WIFE IS ASKING DIVORCE

Says Mate of Fifty-two Years Deserted; He Says She's a Nagger

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 26. — Mrs. Elka Friedman, who celebrated with her husband Israel their golden wedding anniversary two years ago, is suing him for a separation in the Supreme Court. It became known today.

Mrs. Friedman, aged 75, and her husband, four years her junior, were married in Galicia, Austria, in 1870, and have six children.

To his wife's declaration in her affidavit supporting her plea for alimony, that he deserted her, Friedman retorted that throughout their fifty two years together, Mrs. Friedman nagged, abused, insulted and mistreated him.

GOVERNOR SETS HENWOOD FREE

thus save Mrs. Springer. The two men met in the bar-room of the Brown Palace Hotel. A quarrel arose and Von Phul knocked Henwood down. The latter whipped out his revolver and began firing at Von Phul.

The bar-room was crowded at the time. One bullet killed Von Phul, another fatally wounded Copeland and a third bullet struck Atkinson.

Two informations were filed against Henwood, one charging him with the murder of Von Phul, and the other with the murder of Copeland. He was never tried for the murder of Von Phul. He was tried twice for the murder of Copeland. The first trial, held within a month after the double killing, resulted in a life sentence. This judgment was reversed by the Supreme Court. The second trial was held in June, 1913, lasting nearly a month. Henwood was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hanged. This sentence was affirmed by the Supreme Court. A few weeks before the day set for his execution the then Governor of the State, acting upon the unanimous recommendation of the State Board of Pardons and six judges of the Supreme Court, commuted the death sentence to a life term in the penitentiary.

PROVED BAD PRISONER

On Oct. 16, 1914, more than three years after the murder was committed, Henwood was taken to the penitentiary. For the first few years of his stay in prison, he proved a bad prisoner. Well connected, he labored under the impression that money and "pull" would obtain for him his freedom. Only with greatest reluctance did he perform the tasks ordered by the warden.

Twice he appealed to the Board of Pardons for a parole. Both appeals were denied. These denials, together with Warden Tynan's advice that only by hard work and strict compliance with the prison rules, could he earn his parole, made a changed man of Henwood. He went to work with a will in the prison carpenter shop. He lived up to all prison regulations, and became a model prisoner. About a year ago he was made a trusty, the first step toward obtaining executive clemency.

Upon his release from prison, Henwood will be met by Attorney John T. Bottom and Mrs. McCue. He will at once proceed to a large city in the Middle West, where Mrs. McCue has obtained employment for him.

NEW PLAN FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

ference late today, advised them of the committee's plan and requested that they inform the committee as quickly as possible whether the details were acceptable to their principals.

Those invited by Mr. Kahn included W. B. Mayo and J. W. Worthington, spokesmen for Henry Ford; Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power Company; Frederick E. Engstrum and Marion Butler, who represented the offer Mr. Engstrum tendered the committee, and Charles L. Parsons.

THREE REQUIREMENTS

Three requirements had been approved by the committee, which would have to be accepted by any purhaser, lessee or user of the shoals properties before the committee consented to advocate the final agreement by Congress, it was said. These were that the properties at Muscle Shoals should be subject to the absolute right and control of the government at all times for the production of nitrates or other munitions and that nitrate plant No. 2 must be kept available for such usage.

That the bidders obligate themselves under strict terms to manufacture and sell fertilizers in time of peace to the public, and, that the Gorgas steam plant be excepted from the properties at Muscle Shoals which should be developed collectively.

Mr. Martin notified the committee today in a letter to Chairman Kahn that he disagreed with Atty.-Gen. Daugherty's opinion holding the contract under which the Gorgas plant was enlarged for government to be invalid. If necessary, the letter said the company would resist in the courts any attempted disposition of the plant to others than itself.

WIFE IS HELD AFTER SLAYING OF HUSBAND

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

TULSA (Okla.) May 26.—Mrs. M. A. Jerkenson, 35 years old, mother of two children, was held in the County Jail here today for the slaying of her husband, Dr. M. A. Jergensen.

Dr. Jergensen was shot to death in his home last night. Mrs. Jergensen made a confession, according to Police Chief Doran.

"I don't know why I did it," she told neighbors after the shooting. Dr. Jergensen applied for a divorce last Tuesday.

MILK BOTTLE TO JOIN DODO

Paper Container to Replace Glass Receptacle

Cheaper, More Sanitary, is Argument

Government Officials Have Approved Change

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The glass milk bottle is doomed. It is to join the dodo and the other discards of antiquity. In its place comes the paper container, made, filled with milk or cream and sealed by machinery. It will be germ-proof, unrefillable and sanitary to the nth degree, and it will cost less than the dairyman now pays to wash the clanking milk bottles.

Milk and cream will come to the lips untouched by human hands and free from dirt of any kind. Sterilized paper containers will replace the familiar glass bottles with the paper lids and sometimes grimy sides. The government officials have bade an investigation and they approve of the change on both sanitary and economical grounds.

CONTRACTS MADE

Machinery is now being constructed for the delivery of literally billions of these new containers and contracts have been made with practically all the big milk producers of the East to replace the old glass syste, which requires washing, sterilizing and constant care and expense to deliver sanitary supplies from the dairies of the country to the congested districts of all the large cities. One of the great sources of disease has been in the supplying of milk to the very poor, where glass receptacles could not be used because of the expense and where much of the milk and cream came in bulk in large tins or other more or less exposed vessels and the great change for the better in this dairy supply revolutio.. is to overcome this.

CAMPAIGN IS WAGED

Not only will the regular trade be supplied with these fool-proof containers, but a campaign now is being made to secure the co-operation of the Salvation Army, the Red Cross and other similar institutions to co-operate in supplying free milk to the poor children of the cities in these sanitary sealed containers, which can never be refilled after use, and are disposed of by burning, as other waste papers, and forever barred from contaminating other food supplies.

New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Chicago will be the first cities of the country to have the paper holders for milk substituted for the glass bottles that wake the householder at dawn. The change will be made this summer or early in the fall, and no more will the milk bottles freeze in winter.

CONTRACT PRICE LOW

The contract basis on which these supplies are furnished to the dairymen is so low that new supplies daily will cost less than the return and cleansing of the bottles, to say nothing of the first cost and replacement. One of the greatest factors in dairy costs is the breakage of containers, and this promises to be completely eliminated.

The machines make the containers from the plain paper, complete the receptacle ready for filling, other machines fill these to exact measurement of the size and others seal hermetically the package ready for delivery. Handled in refrigerators these containers will keep the contents as well as the glass vessels, and once the container is opened for use it cannot be used again.

PAGEANT STIRS OLD MEMORIES

looking oxen appeared as though in a picture. Women and children occupied the schooners as they did long years ago and beside them on horseback rode their men folks, ever watchful for the lurking Redskins. Picturesque guides, clad in buckskin and fur caps, kept constant pace with the emigrants, pointing the way over the unmarked prairies and ready to counsel ways and means of evading the Indians.

And the Redskins again rode the trails of war and of the buffalo. Astride their Nevada ponies and clad in the typical Indian dress, their faces smeared with warpaint and eagle feathers crowning their heads, the aborigines followed along after the emigrants.

And so it was. Each section of the parade unfolded a story of the lives of our sires. Some were touched with danger, suffering and sorrow, while others told of fun and frolic. Combined, they told the story of the past, more striking than words, more truthful than the filmed romances.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO PAST

Along the same route as they passed today, others once passed, but the latter were actually living the life that today was depicted. The present paid tribute to the past, and the few remaining worn and weary argonauts who held honored places in the line of march again walked the paths of their youth and in remembrance clasped hands with friends of yore, who long since have joined the caravans of the dead.

Aside from the picture of the past, the pageant was typically western. There were floats that told not of the deeds of old, but presented scenic pictures of the country which compare favorably with any of the world, and which go to endear California in the hearts of all her children.

Lassen Peak belched forth steam, and other mountain scenes were shown. Floats cartooned the funny episodes, which gave Bret Harte and others material for some of the world's classics. One float by the Builders' Exchange, depicting Hangtown, was a work of art in itself and rich in humor.

And so from every angle, the pageant of the past proved more successful than the fondest dreams had anticipated. The spirit of the West expressed itself and called back for a time the days and events which California prizes as her greatest heritage.

PRESIDENT NOT TO BE MEDDLER

tience, pluck, energy, generosity, loyalty and charity fully up to his or her intelligence."

Summarizing his remarks on the tariff question, Judge Gary said: "As between charities, the main difference, as I see it, is that the Republican party has stood for a protective tariff and the Democratic party for a tariff for revenue. The settlement for this controversy should include both."

In a plea for impartial governmental control, where it is undertaken, he insisted that "all lines and departments of economic activity of similar importance should be subjected to the same treatment." There has been a disposition in recent years, he declared, to pass laws which measurably exempt union-labor organizations, and recently farmer associations, from governmental investigation, supervision and control against wrong.

To permit such organizations to do, as the result of combination, "things that are claimed to be beneficial to them which are denied to others, is to create classes, to favor some and to injure the whole body politic," the steel magnate declared. "This is not equal opportunity and equal obligation."

OPEN INVESTIGATION

In this connection Judge Gary took a fling at investigation and publication when carried to excess.

"Constant, partisan and reckless indulgence in this pastime by representatives of government, or what is much worse, by self-appointed, unqualified or dishonest individuals or associations, posing as public benefactors, may be and often is misleading and antagonistic to the general welfare," he said.

"The bonus question," he declared, "is not yet ripe for determination. Even though there may be two sides to the question as to whether or not a soldier who has escaped disability, physical and mental, should be paid or ask payment of a bonus, it would not be useful for us to consider or form opinions on that question at present."

BONUS PROPAGANDA

"There has been considerable propaganda in behalf of the proposal," he continued. "Personalities and vituperative comments have been indulged in. Prejudices have been apparent. High government officials, Senators and Representatives have been importuned and, to a certain extent, abused for opposition to or lack of interest in the 'soldiers cause'. National ingratitude for loyalty and sacrifices has been charged. Legislation has been proposed, amended, discussed and halted. Because of this situation, a feeling of unrest and resentment has arisen, and the effect upon the natural progress of efforts to return to the normal conditions of peace and industry has been depressing.

"Former soldiers, like all others, need opportunity to work, and to continuously furnish this chance courage and capital should be given to industry. The load of taxation ought to be lightened, not increased. Enterprise has staggered under this burden. It would not be difficult to break its back.

"These are not idle words. They are a solemn warning, not only to soldiers, but to everyone who is at present seeking what is neither reasonable nor patriotic."

Judge Gary was re-elected president of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Charles M. Schwab, Willis L. King and John A. Topping were re-elected vice-presidents. N. B. Clark, president of the Consolidated Steel Corporation, was chosen treasurer.

MEXICAN MINISTER ILL ON TRIP

De La Huerta Stricken With Appendicitis en Route to New York

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) May 26.—Adolfo de la Huerta, Secretary of Finance of Mexico, arrived in El Paso at 4:10 o'clock this afternoon on his way to New York.

He was so sick with appendicitis that his friends in El Paso and Juarez were prohibited from entering his private car.

De la Huerta was accompanied by Leon Salinas, chairman of the administrative board of the National Railways of Mexico.

Salinas, in a short interview accorded the Associated Press, said it is highly probable that the railways of Mexico will be returned to former owners, British and American interests, before many months. He said that this will be one of the main subjects at the conference in New York, when he and the Secretary meet American, French, British and German bankers.

Salinas confirmed De la Huerta's illness as announced by De la Huerta's private secretary, Alalia Rubio.

A large delegation from the Juarez Chamber of Commerce, many city and military officials, and the Juarez garrison band were in the crowd gathered about the Juarez station to meet the Secretary. His car did not stop in Juarez, however, and was hurried across the American line.

Shades were drawn in the Secretary's car, and it was said that he was endeavoring to get a much needed rest, because he spent a bad night on account of his illness.

Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia, stated that the Attorney General's letter evaded the issue, whether he was paid by Morse or not, pointing out that the Attorney General had stated that he was not directly paid by Morse.

He characterized the letter as a specific equivocation and as a statement that does not carry conviction. He directed attention to two Republican Congressman in the House who had "repeatedly attacked to Attorney-General," and demanded that he prosecute in certain cases.

JOHNSON BEATEN

A fight by Representative Johnson, Republican, South Dakota, to force the House to take up his resolution for investigation of charges of laxity of the part of the Department of Justice in prosecuting war frauds failed today when Speaker Gillette ruled that his claim that the resolution was being suppressed did not constitute privilege.

Mr. Johnson appealed from the decision of the chair, but a motion to lay it on the table was carried almost by a straight party vote. Prior to the ruling Mr. Johnson charged that while the resolution had been reported by the rules committee Chairman Campbell and Representative Mondell, the Republican leader, had determined to kill it.

In a wrangle over procedure Mr. Johnson, turning to Mr. Mondell, the Republican leader, asked:

"Isn't it your intention to kill the resolution and prevent the investigation?"

"You have no business to ask that question," Mr. Mondell retorted, adding that he did not approve of the attempted inquiry.

TACOMA, May 26.—If any girl graduate of the Lincoln High School here appears at the commencement exercises June 16 clad in a dress costing more than $15 she will be given her diploma without being allowed to sit with the class on the platform. That was the edict by the girls of the class today and a committee of teachers was named to see that it is enforced.

BUILD GREAT ORGANS HERE

Factories at Van Nuys and Berkeley Famous

Manufacture Some of Largest Instruments in World

Cinema Theaters Have Caused Increase in Business

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. — Factories at Berkeley and Van Nuys, a part of Los Angeles, are making some of the largest organs in the world. Several of the pipes made for the organ of the University of Southern California in Los Angeles are thirty-two feet long, but these are only half the length of pipes supplied years ago by the same manufacturer for the organ of the exposition at St. Louis.

CAN IMITATE ANIMALS

The multitude of pipes that go into these instruments vary in size from a lead pencil to those large enough to admit a portly man at the opening from which come sounds of roar of tempest or battle. Some made of wood give the tones of a flute, and with metal pipes are reproduced the strains of the violin or of the human voice. With combinations of pipes, say organists, the call of any creature, from the roar of a lion to the cheep of a sparrow, may be imitated.

Organ boxes may be placed in the orchestra pit, or elsewhere, but the usual place for large ones is to the right and left of the proscenium of theaters behind grille work. Within the two sections are placed bass, tenor and wood drums; church, cow and locomotive bells; chimes, and sometimes an upright piano; castanets, tambourines, xylophone, cymbals and tom-tom. These instruments are real; tonal effects of others are produced by the pipes.

PRICES RUN HIGH

Until motion pictures became popular, organs were used mainly in churches. The instrument in the Mormon Tabernacle at Salt Lake City, though installed many years ago, is still one of the world's largest, several additions having been made to it. Church organs are of the dignified type, whereas the motion-picture organs, with their drums and bells, play any music from the most solemn hymn to the noisiest jazz. In price they run from $5000 to $50,000.

The modern organ is operated from a console, or desk, by means of electrical controls from the organ keys, through wires to electric magnets, which in turn control air passing from bellows and wind chests to pipes. The number of banks (manuals) of keys varies from two to five, each of sixty-one keys. The University of Southern California has five.

HAS CUE SHEET

With these keys the artistic performer can produce from the organ tones and shadows as delicately as does the artist in painting. The motion-picture organist is supplied with a cue sheet indicating varieties of moves and action, such cues often including a description of the picture action to inform him whether to play joyous or sad music. For the larger and more expensive pictures a score book is furnished with appropriate music to be played a certain number of minutes, so that by timing he could play without watching the picture if desired.

In a four-manual organ there are 244 keys, 1495 electro-magnets, six and one-half miles of silver, iron, bronze and copper wire; 3200 pounds of metal, six bellows and one twenty-horsepower blower; 13,638 square feet of wood, and an enormous quantity of miscellaneous material.

Fisher was hurt by a steer which had been roped, pulling the saddle-horn loose and into the side of the rider. In the accident Peebles's mount fell and was ridden into by the lady driver.

The best roping time was seventy seconds and was won by Coyote Oliver.

DOYLE IS ATTACKED BY VOLIVA

Spiritualist Called "Tool of the Devil" by Zion City Head

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, May 26.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion City, today called Sir Arthur Conan Doyle "a tool of the devil" and denounced him as the "betrayer of millions of souls who would be damned because they believe in his demoniacal rot."

"Ask Conan Doyle what about the divinity of Jesus Christ? What about the blood of Jesus Christ and see what answer you will get," Voliva declared.

"Conan Doyle and all his ilk are described in the prophecy given through Paul—'that in the later time some shall depart, from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits and doctrines of demons.' That is what the people are doing today. The rise of spiritualism is one of the signs that the dispensation is closing.

"Conan Doyle says that he has a photograph of a man's soul as it left his body. He is a liar; he has nothing of the kind. These people always work in the dark, you will notice—always in a dark room.

"All that he is giving the people is purely and simply the work of lying demons and unclean spirits, and nothing else. He has not talked to any man or woman who has lived on this earth. The silly rot is absolutely in contradiction to the plain word of God."

Sir Arthur was shown the remarks of the Zion overseer and reiterated all of his former statements about his spiritualistic discoveries.

Playwright on Tour Against Volstead Act

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, May 26.—How did Shakespeare write his famous quartos?

"With a with—Oh!" said Augustus Thomas, well-known playwright speaking here today on his tour against the Volstead Act.

It takes drams to make good dramas, the veteran playwright contends, and there is nothing like a draught of foamy lager to aid in draughting a play.

"Acting is done under high nervous tension," he declared, "and one can't go to sleep immediately after a performance. The psychic self must be relaxed gradually, and an after-theater session in a bar was a good way to do it."

Mr. Thomas declared in his address that the prohibition act tended to tear down the Constitution and bar keepers were now making $100 a day instead of $4 before prohibition.

SEEK WIFE WITH TWO HUSBANDS

Lived With Night Officer in Day and Factory Man at Night, is Charge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FLINT (Mich.) May 26.—Charging that she alternated in living with two husbands, one a night patrolman, and the other a day factory employee, police today began search for Mrs. Anthony Sprayer, 26 years old. Mrs. Sprayer disappeared immediately after an investigation was begun. A warrant for her arrest was issued today.

Patrolman Anthony Sprayer declares he was married to the girl, April 10, last. Henry Robuck, automobile worker, who says he was married to her in St. Louis, May 25, 1916, precipitated the investigation.

Sprayer, who patrols a night beat, asserted his wife always was with him during the day, while Robuck, said she spent the nights in his home.

LARSON JURY AGAIN FAILS TO AGREE

FORMER TACOMA BANKER WILL RETURN TO WORK IN CALIFORNIA

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

TACOMA, May 26.—For the second time this week, a jury before whom Ole S. Larsen, former president of the defunct Scandinavian American Bank, was tried on the charge of illegally borrowing the funds of the bank was unable to reach a verdict, and was dismissed by Superior Judge Clifford, shortly before noon today. The case was given to the jury at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The jury in the first case was dismissed Wednesday night, after it had struggled vainly for ten hours to agree upon a verdict.

Larsen will return to California to resume his work with an automobile firm, where he has been employed for several months.

Today are the 1903rd and 1904th performances of the Mission Play at old San Gabriel.—[Advertisement.

REPUBLICANS HAPPY AGAIN

New York Situation Pleases Old Guard

Roosevelt and Calder Booms for Senate

Hearst Wanted as Opposition by Leaders

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 26. — Compared with the ructions in the Democratic party in this State an impressive, if not oppressive, calm prevails in the Republican bailiwick. If there is to be any fighting over the Republican nominations for Governor and United States Senator it has yet to materialize.

There is a widespread opinion among New York Republicans that both Gov. Miller and Senator Calder will be renominated. Although the Governor has announced no decision, and said he desires to retire to private life, it is so generally assumed he will be persuaded to run again that no rival for the nomination has appeared up to date.

Senator Calder is an avowed candidate, but not without opposition, though so far it has not assumed threatening proportions. The opposition is discernible among Progressive Republicans and among the "drys," who have been outraged by his advocacy of light wines and beer.

Various candidates to pit against Calder in the primary are being discussed, among them being Lieut.-Col. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy; Frank Munsey, newspaper publisher, and James R. Sheffield.

BOOM GROWING

The boom for young Roosevelt is growing perceptibly, it being understood that he is not seeking the nomination, but is in a receptive mood. The Roosevelt boomers are adopting no narrow attitude. They are offering Teddy, Jr., as the most popular vote getter the Republicans could put up for either Governor or Senator, though just now they seem to have the Senatorship more in mind.

The more talk there is among the Democrats of nominating the popular former Governor, Al Smith, for Senator, the more you hear from the Calder opposition of the futility of trying to beat Smith with Calder. To defeat a man so popular as Smith a candidate of specially magnetic personality must be selected. Teddy, Jr., fills the bill, say his friends, and is the only Republican so far mentioned who could be relied upon to stop Smith.

One of the leaders in Republican national politics said today the recent successes of former Progressives in the primaries, notably Beveridge, in Indiana, and Pinchot in Pennsylvania, apparently focused attention on young Roosevelt as a plausible candidate for United States Senator, whose selection would be timely as a concession to progressive sentiment in the Republican party. He added that the nomination of Roosevelt would disarm the opposition of the drys, which the selection of Calder would entail, and gain for the ticket the active support of the ex-service men antagonized by Calder's opposition to the proposed bonus legislation.

CALDERITE BELIEFS

The friends of Senator Calder yield nothing to Roosevelt or Al Smith on the score of popularity. They point to 1912, when Calder was the only regular Republican in the greater city elected to Congress, carrying his district by 8000, while Taft lost it by 20,000. They say Calder would be stronger than Roosevelt because of his immensely greater personal following in New York City, to which Al Smith's following is chiefly confined.

Smith could be beaten, say the Calderites only by a candidate like the Senator, who can fight Smith to a standstill in New York City, and then snow him under in the Republican strongholds up State.

The Republican leaders pretty generally are praying for the nomination of Hearst for Governor by the Democrats. They think that will be enough to guarantee the election of the Republican candidate for Governor, if it does not swamp the Democratic ticket completely. They are not yearning, however, for the nomination of Al Smith for any office. If he goes on the Democratic ticket the Republicans, the leaders concede, have a fight of uncertain outcome on their hands.

URUGUAY PLANS TO SAVE MONEY

Make Cabinet Liable for Unauthorized Expenditures

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MONTEVIDEO, May 26.—The Uruguayan Senate is considering a measure making the Cabinet Ministers personally liable for the payment of expenditures not included in the budget.

The bill now before the Senate prohibits any official, including the President, to authorize any expenditure or sign any contract until he is advised by the Federal Auditor that the expenditure has been provided for.

TURKS SEEL TO TELL ABOUT LATE KILLINGS

NATIONALISTS WOULD SEND ENVOY HERE TO EXPLAIN "ATROCITIES"

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 26.—The Turkish Nationalists, anxious to conciliate the United States, today announced their willingness to send an envoy to Washington to clarify misunderstandings with reference to atrocities of the minorities, instead of having an American delegate join a commission of inquiry. If this is acceptable to Washington, Dr. Odman Bey, former vice-president of the Grand National Assembly, will be nominated.

Meanwhile, the radicals in Angora are urging that the sword is the only solution for present difficulties. About 5000 Turkish recruits have been dispatched to the Meander front, lengthening the line considerably. Well-informed Nationalist circles are predicting a Turkish offensive after the feast of Bairame.

The Turkish Nationalists announced today that the Congress of Anatolian Greeks and Armenians have decided to protest against the British deportation and atrocity accusations.

ASK INDEPENDENCE EDICT WITHDRAWN

MANCHURIAN PROVINCES ARE IN FAVOR OF AUTONOMOUS STATE, IS REPORT

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PEKING, May 26.—The assemblies of the three Manchurian provinces recently sent a joint delegation to Gen. Chang Tso-Lin at Shanhaikwan, urging him to withdraw his recent declaration of absolue independence, say advices from Mukden, the Manchurian capital.

The delegations urged Chang to return to Mukden and issue a proclamation, setting forth that Manchuria, henceforth, should be an "autonomous state within the Republic of China."

All the revenues from the railroads, customs and postoffices in Manchuria are being withheld from the Peking government by Chang to pay the expenses of his "government."

Last Obstacle Removed for Mathilde, Max

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, May 26.—With Harold F. McCormick today standing as legal guardian of Mathilde McCormick, 17-year-old fiancee of Max Oser, Swiss riding master, in addition to being the young woman's father, it was predicted in social circles that the last barrier to the international marriage is removed.

Mr. McCormick declined to supply additional material for the speculation which has followed his appointment.

"I was appointed at her request," he said. "I'll do what a guardian is supposed to do, that is, I'll conserve her interests. I don't want to say a word more about it."

However, acquaintances of the McCormick family were agreed that the appointment of the father as guardian was a step to prevent Mrs. McCormick, Mathilde's mother, from stopping her marriage by refusing to give her consent.

Under the law of Switzerland, Miss McCormick, having not yet reached her majority, would require the consent of her parents or guardian before she could be married, it was pointed out. Mrs. McCormick, who obtained a divorce in January, is reported as having disapproved strongly of the marriage of her daughter of Oser. Under the present arrangements, the consent of a guardian would somewhat supersede the wishes of the mother and Mathilde's grandfather John D. Rockefeller.

SACRAMENTO CHARTER VALIDITY IS UPHELD

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO GRANT MAN WRIT OF MANDATE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—The State Supreme Court today upheld the validity of the 1920 charter of the city of Sacramento and declared the 1911 charter ineffective in refusing to grant L. H. Spaulding a writ of mandate to compel the City Clerk of Sacramento to accept Spaulding's oath of office as City Collector under the old charter. Spaulding was named City Collector by the City Commission of Sacramento after the 1920 charter had been adopted by the people, but before it had been put into effect. In refusing to issue the writ, which he requested to compel City Clerk Harry G. Denton to accept his oath under the 1911 charter, the court held that it could not go back of the 1920 charter and that the 1911 instrument was inoperative.

PIONEERS ON WAY TO REDS

American Men and Women to Till Land

Say They Are Vanguard of Thousands More

Aim is to Put Russia on Her Feet

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

RIGA (Latvia) May 26.—Hope and anticipation were shown in the faces of every one of the fifty-seven men and eleven women, real pioneers they called themselves, who arrived in Riga late in April from America, on their way to Siberia, to take over concessions granted them by the soviet government.

READY FOR FATE

Each member of the party, headed by Dr. William Mahler, of Newark, N. J., gave assurances that he or she was prepared for all kinds of hardships, and was willing to take things as they came. All agreed that they did not expect too much in Russia, at the start—but they were going to give the co-operative plan a thorough test, and believed it would work out.

In the party was William A. Vanhoffen, a consulting engineer of Chicago, a Russian, who has lived in the United States eighteen years. There were nine other engineers, the remainder of the men being miners from Arizona, Montana, California, Pennsylvania, and farmers, chiefly from the Dakotas, Washington, Oregon and other parts of the West.

Four of the young men brought growing strawberry plants from Seattle, having nursed them like babies all the way with the hopes of soon replanting them on the land which the soviets have assigned them.

Dr. Mahler and Vanhoffen said this party was merely the vanguard of 6000 to 7000 others in America, who are coming to Russia as soon as arrangements can be completed. Of this contingent, each person put up $300 or more to cover the expenses of the trip, and had money to spend en route. In Riga the travelers all stayed at the best hotels and purchased a great deal of stuff here, including boots, some clothing and great quantities of seed grain which the workers hope soon to plant in Siberia.

PAID FOR LABOR

Each member signed up to remain in Russia two years, and if he is dissatisfied at the end of that time, he may return to America with all expenses paid, and in addition, receive a certain allowance for his labor.

In a statement given out here by Vanhoffen, it was set forth, that the plan is to strike directly at the heart of Russia's industrial problem, the lack of skilled workers and machinery, by importing them direct from the United States. They are to operate coal mines in the Kuznets Basin and the Nadejdenski steel plant in the Ural Mountains region.

The contingent was made up of Russians, Finns, Czecho-Slovaks, Germans, Scandinavians, Hungarians, Jews and Irish, all of whom have lived in the United States several years and several native-born Americans from various parts of the country. There was one 3-months-old baby brought by its father and mother.

The party had clothing for several years, and four carloads of American food which, with the garden truck which it was planned to plant at once, will last more than a year.

CHAMPION LANDLORD DOING THINGS RIGHT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

JERSEY CITY, May 26.—A new candidate for the rarely contested title of world's champion landlord was brought forth by Jersey City today in John Swanson. Here is his record:

Bought modern six-story apartment house and rented three and four-room apartments for not more than $35 a month.

Refuses to rent to anyone without children.

Guarantees for the first boy born in house a yearly gift of $100, until the child reaches 21.

Guarantees, and has already paid to Emma Myrtle Doyle, the first $50 of a yearly gift of that amount until she is 21 for being the first girl born in the house.

Bought a four-story house in the rear to erect a two-story "perambulator garage" to park the carriages used by the more than 100 babies in his apartments.

Installed a "superintendent" in the garage to see that the proper baby gets its proper car.

Swanson is a shipbuilder, born of Swedish parents in Ireland. He is 50 and has a wife and five children.

Physician Has New Sleeping Sickness Cure

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, May 26.—A serum which, when injected into humans in the early stages of sleeping sickness, has produced a cure, has been discovered by Dr. E. C. Rosenow of Rochester, Minn., he announced today at the convention of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Rosenow exhibited motion pictures of the isolated and hitherto unknown germ which causes this disease.

The malady, it was explained, is an improper functioning of the brain, which produces unnatural sleepiness or, contrarily, as unnatural wakefulness, or again, muscular spasm, such as severe jarring of the head. The death rate is about 30 per cent. Dr. Rosenow stated.

COAL RATE HEARING HELD IN BAY CITY

ROADS VOLUNTARILY CUT AFTER DATE IS SET FOR INQUIRY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. — Coal rates from Wyoming and Utah to California and Nevada were the subject of a public hearing begun here today before Examiner M. A. Pattison of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who has conducted similar investigations in Denver, Salt Lake City, Butte and Seattle.

After the date had been set for today's hearing the railroads voluntarily reduced the freight rate on coal from the Wyoming and Utah fields to San Francisco, Stockton and Sacramento from $7.25 to $6 per ton to meet foreign competition and, it is understood, that a similar reduction is proposed for Los Angeles and other Southern California points.

Today's session was taken up in part with a protest from the Public Utility Commission of Nevada against the alleged discrimination resulting from the reduction. Previously Reno enjoyed a rate of $6.25 per ton as against $7.25 for most California points. Representatives of the commission urged the restoration of this differential by a lowering of the Nevada rate. Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce of Fresno also urged that that city be included in the new $6 rate, offering evidence tending to show that it was as much entitled to the reduction as was Stockton.

There was also some discussion as to the possibility of a reduction in coal rates from certain points that would permit of competition with fuel oil.

The hearing will be resumed on Monday.

SLAYER OF PARTNER DIES AT SAN QUENTIN

CONDEMNED MAN ASKS WHY PRISON OFFICIALS HANG HIM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
SAN QUENTIN, May 26.—John Valcalda was hanged at the State prison here today for the murder of John Fox, a business associate at Sutter Creek, Amadore county, March 2, 1921. The trap was sprung at 10:19 o'clock and Valcalda was pronounced dead at 10:36.

While being taken to the gallows, Valcalda asked the Rev. Joseph H. DeNicholas of the Church of the Advent, San Francisco, his spiritual advisor, "Why are they hanging me?"

The condemned man slept well last night and ate a hearty breakfast, but suffered a partial collapse after consuming the meal. He revived a half hour before the death march. Several weeks ago alienists examined Valcalda at the request of Gov. Stephens to determine his sanity. He was pronounced sane. Insanity had been his defense.

Cox was standing on a street in Sutter Creek conversing with two friends and holding his five-year-old son by the hand when Valcalda, his former partner in a saloon enterprise, approached and shot him down without warning, according to the evidence. Valcalda's counsel said in the trial that he had brooded over the fact that his name had appeared on the birth certificate of a child whose paternity he denied.

PROSPERITY SPECIAL LEAVES QUAKER CITY

TWENTY OIL-BURNING ENGINES ARE DELIVERED TO ESPEE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—Flying pennants, proclaiming it the "Prosperity Special," the largest and perhaps the most remarkable single train of locomotives ever hauled across the continent left the Eddystone plant of the Baldwin Locomotive Works today for East St. Louis, Ill. It consists of twenty oil-burning engines of the Santa Fe type, each, with its tender, nearly 100 feet long and weighing 621,000 pounds.

The train is part of an order of fifty locomotives of this type built for the Southern Pacific lines. All of them are ready for delivery and the remainder will be forwarded as rapidly as possible.

Throughout the journey each of the locomotives, which are to be used in the freight service on the heavy grades in the Far West, will be manned by an experienced engineer.

Many distinguished men and officials of the Southern Pacific and other railroads attended exercises marking the departure of the special.

WOMEN ARE MISTREATED BY BANDITS

Men Companions Beaten; One Suspect is Killed in Accident; Other Held

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
SACRAMENTO, May 26.—Three women late last night were taken from their men companions by two bandits on the H Street Road near here and brutally mistreated. Several hours later two men were taken from beneath a wrecked automobile which was said to have been stolen in Sacramento a few hours previous on the same road.

The men were brought to the Receiving Hospital here, where one of them died early today. The other man is under guard at the hospital suspected of being one of the thugs who attacked the women and beat and robbed their escorts.

Mrs. Joseph Shepard of Sacramento, Miss Edith Adamson of Stockton and Miss Edith Williams of Lodi are the women said to have been attacked while their escorts were being beaten and robbed.

Louis La Porte, a local man, is the one held in the hospital as a bandit suspect, while the other man, whose name is not known here, died at the Receiving Hospital without recovering consciousness. The attacks were all separate ones.

FRESH MYSTERY IN POISON PEN CASE

CHICAGO WOMAN RECEIVES DEATH LETTER AFTER MAN'S ARREST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
CHICAGO, May 26.—A new element of mystery was injected into the investigation of the "poison pen" letters sent to Mrs. A. H. Shotwell, 233 Delaware Place, when another message was received today by Mrs. Shotwell, threatening her with death for the arrest of Eugene Bryant, confessed author of the previous letters.

While the police were investigating this angle a gray-haired man sat in the dingy waiting room of the East Chicago-avenue station, trying patiently to make the officers understand that "his boy couldn't have had anything to do with this affair."

He is Judge William F. Bryant, father of the boy, who has already confessed writing blackmail threats to several prominent Chicagoans, and who is suspected by the police to be the author of many more.

Judge Bryant, former District Attorney, and member of the Nebraska Supreme Court commission, was notified of his son's arrest Thursday and started immediately for Chicago, although he is 71 years old, and was hardly able to stand the journey.

He has not eaten since Thursday noon, but he refused to move from his seat in the police station for fear that he might lose a chance of "doing something for his boy."

"If he did do these things I would attribute it to post-war psychosis," he said. "He was wounded and his jaw fractured during the battle of the Argonne. Later he drank water containing mustard gas, and almost died."

ARRANGE FUNERAL OF RAILROAD BUILDER

WILLIAM G. EDES DIES SUDDENLY ABOARD CALIFORNIA TRAIN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
SAN RAFAEL, May 26.—Arrangements are being completed today for the funeral from his home here of William G. Edes, former chief engineer of the Alaska Engineering Commission, who died suddenly yesterday on a train between Merced and Modesto. Mr. Edes located and constructed the government railroads in Alaska as chief of the commission, to which post he was appointed by President Wilson.

As an associate of William Hood, former chief engineer of the Southern Pacific Company, Edes was prominent in the location and construction of that company's line from New Orleans to San Francisco. Later, as chief engineer of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company, he built the extension of that line from Willits to Eureka, which was termed one of the most difficult pieces of railroad construction in the United States.

Mr. Edes also participated in the revision of the Southern Pacific lines over the Sierras. He was inspecting a railroad project in the San Joaquin Valley when stricken.

Mr. Edes was born in Bolton, Mass., sixty-five years ago, and was a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Edes, and a brother, Dr. Robert Edes of Springfield, Mass.

EXTRADITION GRANTED IN SWINDLING CASE

MAN ACCUSED OF STEALING CORPSE IN "DEATH" FOR INSURANCE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
TONOPAH (Nev.) May 26. — Jack McFachern, alleged swindler of insurance companies, has been extradited from Nevada and returned to Leadville, Colo., to answer to a charge of grand larceny.

To collect $10,000 life insurance, McFachern is accused of having stolen a corpse from a cemetery at Victor, Colo., placed the body in a mine tunnel and fired a heavy charge of dynamite to destroy the corpse and give the impression he himself had been killed.

Afterward, it is alleged, he watched his supposed funeral from a house in which he was hidden and read his eulogy in a local newspaper. One insurance company paid the claim but another investigated and fought the case.

WANT TO VOTE ON LOCAL OPTION BILL

FIFTY REPRESENTATIVES EAGER TO GIVE OPINIONS ON BEER SALE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
WASHINGTON, May 26.—Fifty Representatives today joined in a request to the House Ways and Means Committee for a prompt report and opportunity to vote on the Hill local option 2.75 per cent beer and cider bill.

The bill provides that each Congress district shall constitute a Federal local option district, and that in the next November election the voters shall decide whether they wish beer or cider as defined in the bill. Beer is defined as meaning any beverage obtained by the alcoholic fermentation of an infusion or decoction of barley malt and hops in drinkable water containing not more than 2.75 per cent of alcohol by volume; cider means any beverage obtained by the natural fermentation of apple or other fruit, vegetable or herb juices containing not more than 2.75 per cent of alcohol by volume.

The bill provides that there be levied on all beer or cider so manufactured a tax of 20 cents a gallon. On the basis of 2,000,000,000 gallons of beer legally produced in 1914, Representative Hill asserts that this bill would produce from $400,000,000 to $500,000,000 a year of needed revenue.

RAIL WAGES CALLED CAUSE OF STRIKES

MANUFACTURER URGES RAILWAY LABOR BOARD TO REDUCE PAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
WASHINGTON, May 26. — Failure of the Railroad Labor Board to reduce wages of railway employees is responsible for labor difficulties in other lines of industry, Lawrence D. Tyson of Knoxville, Tenn., president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, declared today in an address at its annual convention. The association is composed of southern manufacturers of cotton goods.

"Railroad labor is still about the highest paid labor in the country," said Mr. Tyson. "In view of the fact that the government sanctions the wages allowed by the Labor Board it is not to be expected that workers in other industries will accept less. Therefore, until the wages of railway employees are made commensurate with those paid in other industries strikes may be expected."

Mr. Tyson declared that union labor leaders have followed a mistaken course in opposing wage reductions.

PEGGY JOYCE IS CALLED TO COURT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
NEW YORK, May 26. — Peggy Hopkins Joyce appeared at the Criminal Courts Building today to testify before the grand jury in the investigation into the shortage in the books of an employee of the Metropolitan Trust Company.

The former actress caused a flutter among the jurors, who had been listening to the dull report of minor crimes and the reading of uninteresting records.

She explained that there was a shortage of $2000 in her $14,000 account in the trust company, and that she had been summoned merely to inform the jurors that she had deposited $14,000 and had $12,000 left.

"I did not come here willingly. I want you to understand," Miss Joyce told the numerous interviewers. "I would rather lose the money than see this man go to prison."

CONVENTION IS MUCH DESIRED

Many Cities Invite Mothers and Teachers

Next Year's Meeting Place Still Unsettled

[BULLETIN DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, May 26. — Santa Cruz, Yosemite National Park, San Jose and Stockton each extended an invitation to the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' Associations to meet in these cities in May, 1923. This year's convention will come to a close here tomorrow. The State executive board, which makes the final decision as to where the conventions will be held, announced it would make its report by September.

Stockton made an especially strong bid for the next meeting, telegrams being received from the Chamber of Commerce of that city, the Merchants' Association, civic organizations and individuals. These supporters advised there were fifty-seven reasons why Stockton should be awarded the 1923 convention but if developed San Jose advanced fifty-eight reasons, the fifty-eighth being that San Jose is the home of the president of the State organization.

DELEGATES LEAVING

Many delegates departed today for their homes. Several hundred, however, remained for a trip to the Army and Navy aviation school and to the Coronado Islands.

A tribute was paid today to Mrs. Herbert Stockton of San Jose, State publicity chairman of the organization. Mrs. Stockton, it was learned, has declined an offer to become publicity chairman of the national association.

Reports today by State department chairmen included those of Mrs. C. R. Hutchinson of Glendale; Mrs. A. G. Sylvester and Mrs. A. Kuenzli of Santa Ana; Mrs. S. S. Turvey, San Bernardino, and Mrs. William Eckhart, Los Angeles.

YOUTHFUL ESSAYIST

Stanley Newcomb, a 12-year-old student of Lincoln school here, was advised today that an essay he submitted in the highway and highway transportation education campaign had been selected from more than fifty written by school children in this State, and that he had been awarded a gold medal and $15. His subject was "How I Can Make the Highways Safe."

By this award the boy becomes eligible to compete for one of three gold watches and a trip to Washington as the grand prize in the nation-wide competition. The national essay committee, which will make the award, includes Mrs. Warren G. Harding and Senator Coleman DuPont.

Marriage licenses issued here today included the following: James E. Robertson and Martha L. Luty, both of Los Angeles; Paul Woodbury Pence, Los Angeles, and Mabel A. Bidwell, San Diego.

A resolution voting to ask the Legislature of California to bar freight and passenger motor vehicles from roads directly paralleling railroads was passed by the California State Hotel Association at its convention in Hotel del Coronado today. The resolution, offered by Sam S. Porter of San Diego, was unanimously carried. It was also voted to send copies of the resolution to every hotel and every chamber of commerce in California.

A HOTEL SCHOOL

A plan to establish a hotel school at the University of California was proposed to the hotel men tonight by Benjamin W. Johnson, supervisor of vocational education at University of California, who was one of the chief speakers of the evening. Mr. Johnson declared that the training and development of the personnel in the hotel business has not kept pace with the development of the business, and urged the establishment of training courses in hotel management. Negotiations are now pending with Cornell University for the establishment of a four-year course in such training, he said.

His plan for the University of California hotel school called for its operation by the Hotel Association with from 200 to 300 rooms, and that it should be self-supporting.

The association also went on record as favoring the modification of the Volstead Act, to permit the sale of light wines and beer.

Second Survey of Pacoima Dam Project Asked

To control the storm waters in the lower San Fernando Valley, as well as to store waters for irrigation purposes, the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce has petitioned the City Council to start new proceedings for the building of a dam in Pacoima Canyon. The previous proceedings were abandoned because of protests over the boundaries of the district which would be bonded for one-third of the cost of the dam, the total cost of which was estimated would exceed $1,000,000. Two-thirds of this amount would be paid by the city and county.

The communication from the Van Nuys Chamber urges the council to make new surveys for the dam and the bond district, and to call a bond election for the project, which includes the dam and the construction on Kester avenue in the Van Nuys district of a covered conduit for storm waters. The letter was referred to City Engineer Griffin for a report.

TWO KILLED AT CROSSING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, May 26.—Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Pelsue, each 53 years old, of 1432 East State street, were killed today when a Pacific Electric car on the Newport-Los Angeles line crashed into the light automobile in which they were riding, at Seventh street and Ximeno avenue this city. Mr. Pelsue, who was the proprietor of a rug factory at 810 East Tenth street, was picked up more than 100 feet from where the accident occurred. His body was mangled almost beyond recognition. Mrs. Pelsue who was driving the car, died en route to the hospital. The car which struck the automobile was running at the rate of forty miles an hour, according to reports of witnesses to police, and struck the automobile squarely in the center, carrying it on the fender 150 feet before tossing it aside. The car was stopped about 500 feet from the crossing.

Mr. and Mrs. Pelsue came to Long Beach from St. Louis six months ago. They leave five children. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Pelsue are at the Byrum and Peek undertaking parlors where an inquest will be held early next week. A. R. Munson, a special officer in the employ of the police department developed today to be the mysterious and missing third member of the trio who were caught in the act of moving a safe from the office of the Crescent Creamery Co. at Anaheim street and Daisy avenue early Monday morning. Munson's identity was not made public until the preliminary hearing today of J. N. Sligh and "Goldy" Goldworthy, charged with the burglary. Munson told on the stand how he accepted the offer of the other two men to participate in the safe job, helped plan the burglary and furnished the car with which to haul the safe away.

While he was plotting with Sligh and Goldworthy, he was reporting regularly to Chief Ben W. McLendon and a ring of police officers were on hand to capture the pair in the creamery office. Munson was permitted to escape in the car. At the conclusion of testimony, Justice of the Peace S. H. Underwood bound Sligh over to the Superior court under bonds of $3000. Goldworthy asked for a continuance until next Wednesday and it was granted. Attorney J. E. Sligh, aged 83, father of the accused, defended his son.

Mrs. G. M. Christine, 31 years old, 191 Lime avenue, was killed tonight when hit by an automobile driven by Pat Berry, 19 years old, of 1703 East Broadway. Berry was arrested for failing to stop and give aid.

GREER HELD FOR MURDER

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, May 26.—Addison Greer, who last Saturday shot Alfonso Bernal following a quarrel in a house just south of Visalia, has been charged with murder as result of the death of Bernal, who died in a local hospital.

A joint Memorial Day program is to be given in Visalia by the American Legion, the Women's Auxiliary of the Legion, the Elks' Lodge, Women's Relief Corps and the Grand Army of the Republic.

Rev. J. D. Allen of San Francisco, former pastor of the Old South Church of Visalia, will be the speaker of the day. Other features include a flag raising, prayers, commanders' addresses, community singing, decoration of monument by officer of the day, renewal of pledge, Grand Army and taps.

TRUSTEES TO MEET

Tulare county school trustees will meet in annual convention Monday in the Visalia Theater, according to County Superintendent of Schools J. E. Buckman. Many new provisions of law, including school budgets, length of term, tax rate and other measures will be explained by Sam Cohn, chief deputy to Will H. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction and chief statistician in the office of Mr. Woods.

When Deputy Sheriffs Harry Davis and Robert Poole approached the home of H. Hayden, near Springville, the latter made a dash for the turkey pen. The officers giving chase, arrived just as Hayden was pouring out the last of a thirty-gallon barrel of brandy. A small amount of the liquor was saved and Hayden was arrested for having liquor in his possession without a permit. He declared he was keeping the liquor for a friend. Hayden paid a $500 fine for bootlegging several months ago.

SEEK DAMAGES

Two damage suits have been filed in the Superior Court against E. L. Foster by Dave P. Hart and Mrs. Veta Hart, as a result of an auto accident on the Hanford-Visalia highway on July 9, 1921. Mr. Hart seeks judgment in the sum of $2361.15 and Mrs. Hart asks damages in the amount of $5000.

The State Highway Commission, meeting in Sacramento, considered eleven bids on the six-mile stretch of mountain highway from the end of the present paving at Three Rivers toward the line of the Sequoia National Park. This is the first work ordered by the State on this work which will eventually connect Giant Forest with the sea via the "Sierra to the Sea" highway.

Fresno May Have Female Fire Warden

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FRESNO, May 26.—Fresno county will be probably the first county in America to appoint a woman fire warden if the strong recommendation of Miss Allie Archabald of Orange Grove is approved, as is expected, by the Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Collins, speaking in favor of the innovation, said: "There is no reason why a woman is not eligible for the position so long as she is used to outdoor life, is a lover of nature, and knows the country she will undertake to patrol in fire prevention and protection work."

Miss Archabald asks that she may be given charge of the Clark's Valley, Squaw Valley, Hill's Valley and Piedra territory, and her application is backed strongly by the board of landowners of the district specified.

Lloyd Poffenberger, 20, who was arrested in Madera Tuesday night and brought to Fresno to face a charge of burglary, was given his preliminary hearing in Judge J. G. Critchton's court at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Bonds of $2000 were set at his arraignment on Wednesday.

Porterville will furnish transportation for forty-five men. Other Tulare county towns and the city of Fresno are expected to furnish a quota of fifty cars, or transportation for about 200 men.

SUICIDE'S IDENTITY REMAINS A MYSTERY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, May 26. — All efforts of officials today to establish the identity of a man who committed suicide in White Park last night, proved unavailing. Patrolman Bradley heard a shot in the vicinity of the park at 10:30 o'clock and upon passing through, came upon the dead body on a park bench, a revolver being clutched in the right hand. Powder marks on the right side of the head showed where the bullet had entered.

A watch, a bunch of keys and 26 cents in money were found upon the person of the dead man, who was five feet nine inches tall and weighed about 180 pounds. He had a light complexion and sandy hair, and wore a black hat with the label of a Los Angeles merchant on the inside of the band.

Pasadena Pupils Will be Last to Use Grand Stand

Handsome Apartment Hotel is to be Erected

Medical Degrees Received by Two Young Women

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, May 26.—Pasadena High School commencement exercises on the night of the 15th inst. will be the last public event to be held at the grand stand of Tournament Park, which has been the scene of Tournament of Roses football games and other celebrations for many years.

All but 12,000 of the 40,000 seats in the park have been dismantled, the lumber being utilized at the new stadium, now in course of construction north of Brookside Park, in the Arroyo Seco. The stadium, when completed, will accommodate the Rose Tournament games and other outdoor events on a large scale.

The remaining seats will be left until after the high school commencement. It has become necessary to hold the high school commencements outdoors here, because of the growth in the size of the graduating classes, and the consequent increase in the number of relatives and friends desiring to attend. The school auditorium is inadequate for seating them.

PLAN NEW HOTEL

A five-story apartment-hotel is to be erected at the northwest corner of Madison avenue and Herkimer street, by Lewis H. Turner and A. B. Stevens, Pasadena business men, they stated today. The new building will cost $150,000. It is expected to have the new building completed by Jan. 1, 1923.

The body of Miss Vera Berryman, of the Monrovia High School, who was drowned in the public swimming pool at Brookside Park last evening, was taken early this morning to Monrovia, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Berryman, reside. Official reports of the fatal accident by the local authorities last nigh gave he girl's name incorrectly as Burnham, which delayed notification of the parents.

George Forbes, superintendent of the Brookside plunge, refused today to discuss the accident, but Park Supt. Jacob Albrecht stated his belief, based upon inquiries in Monrovia, that a sudden heart attack caused the girl's death as she jumped into the pool. When she did not come up other bathers jumped in and brought her body to the surface. According to Supt. Albrecht, she was a sufferer from heart trouble.

RETURN AS DOCTORS

Two Pasadena girls who were just coeds when last here at Christmas have returned to Pasadena as full-fledged doctors of medicine, having received their degrees at the University of California at Berkeley. They are Dr. Eleanor Tompkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Tompkins of North Los Robles avenue, and Dr. Marian Lockwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hanford Lockwood of Palmetto Drive. Dr. Tompkins will join the staff of the Children's Hospital, San Francisco, next month, while Dr. Lockwood will practice in the Orient as a medical missionary of the Presbyterian Church.

Earle Lindley, local business man, today reported a bicycle theft by the toniest bicycle thief revealed in the annals of the police department here. Lindley said that a man driving an expensive automobile had stopped his little son, Philo Lindley, while the latter was riding home from school, seized his bicycle, thrust it into the back compartment of his sedan and motored away. Heartbroken, the Lindley boy ran home and reported the outrage to his parents.

WARSHIPS READY FOR MANEUVERS

Entire Pacific Fleet Will Leave Los Angeles Harbor on Tours

Foreshadowing the departure of the entire battleship force of the Pacific Fleet from the Los Angeles Harbor base within the coming fortnight, the superdreadnaught California, flagship of the Pacific Fleet, sailed for San Francisco at 10 a.m. yesterday, with Admiral E. W. Eberle and his staff aboard.

By June 5, every one of the dreadaughts now in port will be scattered along the Pacific Coast, on visiting tours. But in the meantime, the nine ships that are still at the base will be put through ten days of intensive torpedo practice and gun drills.

Next Wednesday night, eight destroyers will arrive from San Diego to assist in the maneuvers, the vessels operating every day from June 1 to 10, with the dreadnaughts in the torpedo areas in the Catalina Channel. The destroyers slated for the arduous work of laying smoke screens and dodging torpedos are the William Jones, flagship, and the Woodbury, S. P. Lee, Nicholas, Young and Zeilin, of Destroyer Division Thirty-four, plus the Hull and Corry of Equadron Thirteen.

Monday morning the Tennessee will proceed to Venice to take part in the Memorial Day celebration at that resort, returning to the base the following day. On June 2, five ships will get under way on cruises that will keep them away from their base for two months. The Idaho will go to Santa Barbara, the New York and Texas to Santa Cruz, the Pennsylvania and Mississippi to San Diego.

June 5 there will be but two dreadnaughts at Los Angeles Harbor, the New Mexico and Tennessee. The New Mexico will sail on that date for the Puget Sound navy yard for annual overhaul, while the Tennessee goes to Santa Monica, four days later sailing for San Francisco.

By June 12 nine dreadnaughts will be assembled in San Francisco Bay, which will be their base until they return to this port late in July.

FISH SUPPLY IS NOT IN DANGER

C. S. Bauder of Los Angeles Defends Purse Seines

Asserts Southern California Fishing Methods Good

Charges Against Small Nets Riles Commissioner

Purse seine fishing methods, as employed by fishermen in Southern California waters, are not ruining or depleting the State's fisheries, declared C. S. Bauder of Los Angeles, head of the Fish and Game Commission, in an emphatic denial yesterday of reports from San Diego and Monterey that small meshed nets are killing the fish industry.

Bauder asserted that the Fish and Game Commission has no evidence to prove that the use of purse seines is ruining the fish supply, or that they are responsible for excessive amounts of fish being dumped at sea or used for reduction purposes.

"Federal fisheries officials learned several years ago that the use of purse seins in Oregon and Washington waters was fast depleting the supply of salmon," said Bauder.

SALMON REDUCED

"Large numbers of small, immature fish were caught in the nets with the result that the salmon runs became so reduced, especially on Puget Sound, that severe restrictions became necessary.

"Since salmon were the only marketable fish which could be profitably caught with seines in the waters of Washington and Oregon, their use for all fish was prohibited to prevent their continuing to catch salmon under the guise of fishing for other fish."

"When these laws were passed," he continued, "about 100 of the purse seine boats came to Southern California to engage in fishing. It being found that purse seines could be used to advantage for catching blue-fin tuna, mackerel, barracuda and sea bass.

NEW METHODS USED

"But the fishermen of the other two big California packing ports use old-style nets," he declared. "And the introduction of a new and more efficient method of fishing has naturally met with opposition, though the new net is no more destructive than the old kind.

"The fishing industry of Southern California," asserted Bauder, "contains as high a class of men as any other industry and it is unfortunate and regrettable that the action of a few fishermen in violating the State fisheries laws should lead any person to believe that as a class our fishermen are pirates, crooks, or law-defying desperadoes."

PORT NOTES

Increasing industrial activity in Japan is being reflected at Los Angeles Harbor by the number of foreign steamers calling here for cargoes while en route to the Orient under charter to the Japanese government. Yesterday alone three tramps, on their first calls at the local port and flying the flags of as many nations, put in for fuel. They were the British freighter City of Cambridge, of the Hall Line and bound for Yokohama from Liverpool, the Norwegian tramp Trysilfoss, en route to Kobe, and the Dutch freighter Brisalie, of the Royal Dutch West Indian Line, for Yokohama with 6000 tons of steel rails from Savannah.

Representatives of the Japanese government now on the Atlantic Coast are chartering all possible vessels for single trips or short-time charter to the Orient, according to a statement issued yesterday by K. Zerwick, Los Angeles Harbor surveyor. Information gained from men returning here from the Orient also say that Japan is emerging from the industrial depression that has blanketed the commercial life of the country since the war.

The freighter Frederick Luckenbach, now en route to Middle Pacific ports, will handle 3000 tons of California products, has made her last visit here under the flag of the Luckenbach Line.

Luckenbach officials announced yesterday that she has been sold to the Castle Lodge Shipping Company of Mobile and will be delivered to her new owners following her arrival there next week. The purchasing company, a new concern, is now being incorporated under the laws of Delaware. Sale price of the Frederick Luckenbach has not been announced as being $40,000, or less than $10 per deadweight ton.

The freighter will be renamed the Castle Lodge and will load at New York next month for Mobile instead of Black Sea ports on her maiden voyage under her new name.

Word has been sent to the local Maritime Exchange that Roland S. Morris, American Ambassador to Japan, has persuaded the Nippon government to accept the American Shipping Bureau's method of grading the certificates of American vessels in Japanese ports. Under the new Japanese regulations passed last February 1, the American steamers were forced to undergo a Japanese survey.

The rate investigating committee from the shipping Board, touring the country in an effort to obtain the adoption of uniform stevedoring rates at all American ports, is due at Los Angeles Harbor Monday from San Francisco. The committee, composed of Henry D. Bain, chairman, L. G. Valadie and R. H. Ovenstreet, has held several conferences this week with San Francisco ship operators, those being interviewed including Struthers & Barry, Inc., the Admiral Line, Pacific Mail Steamship Company, General Steamship Corporation and Swayne and Hoyt, Inc., Operators at this port will first be interviewed individually but a general conference will be held prior to the commission's departure for San Diego next Thursday.

Addition of the steamer Wellesley to its lumber fleet plying between Astoria and Los Angeles Harbor was announced yesterday by Hammond Lumber Company officials here. The Wellesley is remembered here as having limped into port two months ago in a wrecked condition after having survived the worst storm ever experienced on the Mexican West Coast while en route from Balboa. She is now undergoing repairs at a San Francisco shipyard and will go into service June 1, being under long-time charter to the Hammond company from her owners, the Mexican Steamship Company.

STILL DEADLOCKED

Judge Refuses to Discharge Jury in Breedlove Case

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, May 26.—Judge Conkling today declined to discharge disagreeing jurors in the Breedlove murder trial after they had been out fifty hours.

"This case is costing the county a lot of money" the judge stated, "without adding the expense of a second trial. There is no reason why this jury should not agree."

It is understood the jury stands deadlocked 8 to 4 for acquittal.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Country Moving Forward to Prosperity; State Well Wired; About Price Peaks

BY CHAPIN HALL

Every trade review, every writer upon financial topics, every economic lecturer tells the same story. The country is moving forward to prosperity. The business map, upon which Los Angeles was for so long the only white spot, is sprouting white spots in all directions. Assured crops at better prices dot the middle western prospective; a speeding up of manufacturing, lessening of unemployment and more active marketing finds reflection in the East, while on our own seaboard these conditions, plus a constant growth in population, a developing foreign trade, and the introduction of new capital are keeping the Pacific well in the vanguard.

The coal strike has ceased to worry. Car loadings have increased by many thousands over the corresponding period a year ago in spite of idle coal cars. The large consumers appear to be having little difficulty in filling the requirements, and the strike is plodding along to its fore-ordained failure. With the early settlement of the textile strike, and the absorption of thousands of workers in the steel, automotive, copper and other reviving industries, to say nothing of the seasonal cry of the farmers for labor, the unemployment problem has ceased to be a problem. The country is moving forward toward prosperity; the wheels are again in motion.

PRICE PEAKS

Statistics, as a rule, do not make interesting reading, but here is one set compiled by the Wall Street Journal which will repay close study. "It envisions," says that authority, "the whole course of the tragedy we call deflation." Between May, 1920, and April, 1921, there was a sheer drop of 116 points in the commodity group, but from April, 1921, to April, 1922, there was a loss of but 2 points, and no change at all since March. This is what business must have; a stable price level, high or low. The comparative table indicates that they are now coming to a common resting place; some climbing up, and others slowly moving down to meet them:

OUR ELECTRICAL LEAD

California has more electrically lighted homes in proportion to its population than any other State in the Union. During the year, according to available returns, the increase in residences so equipped in proportion to the population was greater in California than in any other State. Although California's population is not nearly as large as that of many other States it ranks second in total number of homes lighted by electricity, Illinois being first.

Figures showing the total number of residential electrical customers for each 1000 of population in the leading States are: California, 220; Utah, 174; Washington, 165; Illinois, 132; Vermont, 131; Maine, 130; Colorado, 123; Oregon, 121; Michigan, 116; Massachusetts, 113.

These figures show that California, Washington, Oregon and Utah, where such a large proportion of the electricity is generated by water power, rank among such well developed and thickly populated States as Massachusetts, Michigan, Illinois, Vermont and Maine.

The number of new residential electrical customers added in the year 1921 per each 1000 of population in the leading States are: California, 29.8; Illinois, 19.7; Florida, 17.1; Michigan, 14.7; New York, 13.9; Maine, 12.4; Minnesota, 11.7; Utah, 11.6; Massachusetts, 11.1; Vermont, 11.1.

The figures for the total number of residential electrical customers in the ten leading States are: Illinois, 858,000; California, 753,000; New York, 686,000; Pennsylvania, 543,000; Ohio, 534,000; Massachusetts, 436,500; Michigan, 425,000; Texas, 306,500; Indiana, 248,000; Washington, 223,000.

In the United States are 5654 operating companies of which 3662 are privately owned, with a total of 1,600,000 stockholders. The privately owned companies generate slightly more than 97 per cent of the total electrical energy produced in this country.

McKEE FOR PRESIDENT

The election of Henry S. McKee to be president of the California Bankers' Association, consummated yesterday at the Del Monte convention, will be received with universal satisfaction. The vice-president of the Merchants' National is a safe pilot. His powers of organization were given brilliant play during the war, and he has a happy faculty of humanising economic subjects. A writer of distinction, a forceful speaker and a 100 per cent mixer, both the association and Southern California are entitled to congratulatory consideration in the honor which the organization has done itself and the southern end of the State

THE COUNTRY OVER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) May 26. — Officials of the Minnesota State Industrial Commission forecast a scarcity of labor in the Northwest in the next three weeks. They base their predictions on the exceptional amount of highway work, building construction, farm operations and on gains in other industrial lines. The situation at present offers a marked contrast to that of three months ago when unemployment was a serious problem.

Improvement in industrial and mercantile activity is reported by St. Paul and Minneapolis business men who are making the first trade tours of the season, visiting various cities and towns of Minnesota and of the Dakotas in a special train. They report crop conditions uniformly excellent and prospects for a good harvest unusually promising for this time of the year.

PITTSBURG (Pa.) May 26. — Public improvements are bound to provide a large amount of employment throughout Pennsylvania in the next year. So many bond issues were ratified by municipalities at the recent primary elections that the carrying out of the extensive building program is assured. Funds have been provided in this district for the erection of school buildings, for street paving and for road building.

Steel production "in this region is growing in volume and pay rolls are on the increase. The great Homestead plant of the Carnegie Steel Company is now on a 100-per cent basis and other plants are operating on similar schedules. The tendency of the price of steel products is upward and offerings are light, especially in the semi-finished lines.

NEW YORK, May 26.—There has been a decided pickup in the demand for textile manufactures in this market. Makers of cotton, woolen and silk goods are encouraged, although they assert that the volume of goods in demand by jobbers and wholesalers still is far from what it should be. Indications have not been lacking that work may be resumed on terms which will permit added stimulus to the cotton goods trade.

Men and women's clothing is selling in excellent volume. Straw hats have moved well, shoes, even of the higher priced lines, are in better demand. Woolens, especially in sports clothes, have been active.

The demand for small hardware is continuous and while orders are not large they are frequent and the volume is satisfactory. Some lines of builders' hardware and tools are expected to advance in price. Building material is active and in scant supply. Brick is being shipped into this city as rapidly as possible but without filling the demand. The same is true of cement and some other lines. Prospects for profitable fruit crops in this district are excellent.

BUSINESS NEWS

Visitor Tells of European Conditions; Bond Market Review; Federal Reserve

An interesting visitor to the Los Angeles financial district yesterday was W. K. Denoyers of New York, who has come to the Pacific Coast in the interests of the world-famous foreign exchange house of Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne. Because of the growth of foreign trading business in this city, Mr. Denoyers's firm has recently installed a direct private foreign exchange wire from Los Angeles to New York to furnish rapid service to the local shippers merchants and bankers. Mr. Denoyers is now attending to the perfection of arrangements on this end of the wire.

The New York financial expert is advising the local exporting and importing interests to take an optimistic view of the prospects for Europe's economic recovery. "The most encouraging thing about the present European situation today is that it is so bad," he said yesterday. By this paradoxical statement, Mr. Denoyers meant Europe's economic affairs are now in such a plight that the countries have been forced to come to a sober realization of realities and begin to work together toward rehabilitation. The worst was passed some months ago and from now on we may expect a steady recovery in foreign exchange rates, he says.

One of the principal factors in the recent up-swing in European rates has been large flotations of foreign loans in this country. If this country is to re-establish its foreign trade on the old basis it must either buy largely of European manufacturers or European securities, Mr. Denoyers points out. The willingness shown by American investors to absorb these foreign bond offerings is bettering the situation immeasurably, he said.

The exclusive foreign exchange wire which Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne, in conjunction with their Los Angeles correspondents, A. W. Coote, have established, is the first of its kind on the Coast. Formerly, traders have been dependent on the regular telegraphic service and stock exchange wires. However, the constantly shifting tendencies of the foreign rates and the increasing volume of that class of business here have made the installation of special rapid-wire service imperative.

IN THE BOND MARKET

The new high records being set by Liberty Bond prices are drawing the attention of teh investment market to the brisk demand which exists at present in the tax-exempt field. Liberty 3 1-2s, the tax-exempt issue, touched 100.04 at the close yesterday, and has been holding firm at slightly above par for the last two days. Of course, the chief factor in the present activity in the Liberties is government buying for redemption purposes, but private investors are also showing greater powers of absorption for these war issues.

Municipal bonds are also following the upward trend of the Liberties. The prime factor in the municipal market as well as the general bond market is cheap money, the second factor is the amount of Victory 3 3-4s still out and the growing scarcity due to the steady redemption policy of the government in regard to its other war issues of early maturity. Recently the Secretary of the Treasury announced that Victory 3 3-4s still outstanding were $280,000,000, a reduction from two months ago of about $50,000,000. Consequently, with less than a month more to run, sale of redemption of these notes should mean added strength to the tax-exempt inquiry.

The only new issue of importance yesterday was $5,000,000 United Steamship Company of Copenhagen fifteen-year 6 per cent sinking fund bonds, due 1927, offered by a Brown Bros. & Co. syndicate at a price to yield 8½ per cent. The company is the largest Danish steamship line and was organized in 1866.

Bond news from London has been depressing lately, being mostly to the effect that the edge has been taken off the market here. The last two or three large issues are reported to have met with unenthusiastic receptions in England. It is said that the underwriters of the new issue of £5,000,000 New South Wales 4½s, offered at 95, have been left with over 90 per cent of the bonds on their hands. Local comment suggests that the public appetite in England has been satisfied for the moment and that a recovery will soon come even as it did in this country following the temporary slump two weeks ago.

UTILITY REPORTS

Following are the 1921 annual reports made yesterday to the Railroad Commission by public utility companies operating in this territory:

The Oxnard Home Telephone Company reports that its operating revenue was $41,981.37; operating expenses, $31,805.80, giving a net operating revenue of $10,175.57. The surplus at the beginning of the year amounted to $11,170.59. The accumulated surplus at the end of the year amounted to $16,008.70.

The Santa Paula Home Telephone Company reports that its operating revenue was $27,569.07; operating expenses, $27,639.13, giving a net operating loss of $70.05. The accumulated deficit at the end of the year amounted to $22,726.02.

The Los Angeles County Water Works Company, operating in Gardena, reports that its operating revenue was $20,190.20; operating expenses, $17,128.42, giving a net operating revenue of $3061.78. The surplus at the beginning of the year amounted to $2865.43. The accumulated surplus at the end of the year amounted to $2938.93.

The Santa Barbara and Suburban Railway Company operating in Santa Barbara, reports that its operating revenue was $134,806.80; operating expenses $122,244.85 giving a net operating revenue of $12,561.95. The deficit at the beginning of the year amounted to $208,309.04. The accumulated deficit at the end of the year was $225,913.37.

The Claremont Domestic Water Company reports that its operating revenue was $20,319.51; operating expenses $11,325.87, giving a net operating revenue of $8993.64. Surplus at the beginning of the year amounted to $7780.85. The company declared dividends of $7604 during the year, leaving an accumulated surplus at the end of the year of $7840.98.

FEDERAL RESERVE

Gold reserves held by the Twelfth Reserve Bank as of May 24 were $254,512,000, a decline from the preceding week when the total was $256,414,000. A year ago the gold reserve was only $193,224,000. Total resources are reported at $413,315,000 which compares with $428,527,000 for the week before and $416,387,000 in 1921.

Total deposits have declined from $143,871,000 on May 17 to $139,821,000. A year ago deposits were $120,497,000. Federal reserve notes in actual circulation, $215,781,000, compared with $224,987,000 for the week before and $284,895,000 as of May 25, 1921. Discount rates on all classes of paper remain unchanged at 4½ per cent.

SHELL UNION

The Shell Union Oil Corporation yesterday filed a petition in the office of the Secretary of State creating $20,000,000 of preferred stock. The concern has already been authorized to issue 10,000,000 shares of common stock without par value which is assessed by the State of Delaware at $1,000,000 for taxation purposes.

TRADE IMPROVEMENT

Bradstreet's weekly report will say today:

"Improvement is the keyword of the reports received this week by Bradstreet's regarding trade, industry and crops. This improvement is by no means uniform, being affected by and dependent upon varying conditions of weather, the progress of planting and of crop development, and the slow but apparently steady gain in activity in most, not all, industries toward better conditions. Final distributive trade, that is, retail buying and jobbing distribution, are both better with most progress, as for some time past, shown in the western surplus grain-producing areas. Better weather and rather more active employment are reflected in the Eastern States generally while the South, owing largely to excess rains in parts of Texas and in the Southeast, shows less notable progress, although the recent rise in cotton, the activity in and strength of lumber and the subsidence of the flood waters in some sections help the growth of the more optimistic feeling recently observed in that section. Weekly bank clearings, $6,866,225,000."

INCREASING CAPITAL

Two public utility companies operating in this district entered petitions yesterday before the Railroad Commission asking for permission to increase capitalization through the sale of additional stock. The Santa Monica Bay Home Telephone Company, showing that its business has increased 25 per cent over last year, wants to sell $28,000 of its preferred stock, $50,000 first mortgage bonds and borrow funds amounting to not more than $10,000, which will be paid out of the sale of securities. The Compton Water and Lighting Company wants to issue and sell $19,400 of its capital stock.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—Recent conflicting and uncertain movements in the stock markets were resumed today. The trend among leaders and investment shares were mainly upward, however, on large dealings to which the shorts made enforced contributions.

Prospective freight rate reductions and lower prices quoted for some essential commodities seemed to exercise less adverse influence, and efforts of bear cliques to depress quoted values on the utterances of the British Premier met with indifferent success.

Further lack of public interest was manifested in steels, equipments, coppers and kindred issues, but the strength of United States Steel was associated with the address of Elbert H. Gary before the members of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Secondary or low-priced rails again led the transportation list to materially higher levels. Striking features of that group comprised Lake Erie and Western common and preferred, St. Paul, Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred, and New Haven. Coalers, notably Reading, again moving upward.

Oils made substantial headway on the higher prices quoted for the crude product, Mexican and Pan American Petroleums scoring the largest advances with California Petroleum, but those issues were among the first to give way under realizing sales.

Other individual features of strength included Studebaker, Baldwin, United Retail Stores, tobacco products and numerous unclassified specialties. Foremost among these was Coca Cola, which retained the better part of its extreme gain of 3 3-4 points. Sales amounted to 1,250,000 shares.

Call money opened and renewed into next week at 3½ per cent, rising to 4 per cent at midday and 5 per cent in the last half-hour, the advance being attributed to calling of loans by local banks. Time rates were unchanged, but available supplies for the longer maturities were small.

Brokers reported moderately heavy sales of bills on London for speculative account following the receipt of cables outlining Lloyd George's speech on events in Genoa. Demand sterling reacted to 4.44¼ but rallied a fraction. All the continental remittances eased slightly. Denmark and Switzerland proving the only noteworthy exceptions. Weakness again featured the Austrian rate on delay in the consummation of a loan to that government.

BOND QUOTATIONS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—Greater activity and a fair degree of strength featured today's bond market. Investment offerings held firm, while many speculative issues registered highest quotations of the year.

Liberty Fourth 4¼s scored a new maximum at 100.50, but fell back under par before the close, and the tax exempt 3½s again rose well above par.

Dealings in foreign war flotations were moderate, charges being limited to fractions. French governments and several of the municipals eased, but United Kingdoms remained firm.

For the third successive session Erie issues featured the stronger domestic rails, the three classes of convertibles making material gains. St. Paul and Texas & Pacific underlying mortgage bonds also strengthened and most of the local tractions improved on the better outlook for capital readjustment.

New offerings were comparatively small, but were readily marketed and the New England telephone 5s sold at a premium of half a point over yesterday's public subscription price. Total sales par value aggregated $15,737,000.

RUTTER PLEASED WITH DRUGGISTS' ATTITUDE

EXPECTS APPOINTMENT OF O'LEARY'S SUCCESSOR IN FEW DAYS

State Prohibition Director Rutter left for San Francisco last night after attending the annual meeting of the California Druggists at Catalina Island and taking a survey of conditions in the office of the local prohibition agent in charge.

Mr. Rutter said he was more than pleased with the attitude of the delegates to the druggists' conference in promising hearty co-operation in the enforcement of the national prohibition amendment and the Volstead law. He hoped for the best results following the face-to-face meeting of the druggists and the representative of the government.

Speaking of the pending complaint in the local United States District Court, instituted by the Rosicrucian Church, for the return of about 700 gallons of wine for purported sacramental use, that had been seized by prohibition agents, Mr. Rutter said it had been ruled that in cases that appeared to be like the present one, such organizations were to be treated as a club and not as a church. He will be here in June, to look after the interests of the government when the matter is disposed of in Judge Trippet's court.

In regard to the successor to D. J. O'Leary, Mr. Rutter said he had sent his recommendation to the national capital, with the request that the matter be expedited. He thought the appointment would be made within a few days.

Director Rutter spent yesterday afternoon clearing up the hearing of local druggists charged with violation of the terms of their permits to dispense intoxicating liquor.

DEADLOCK ON BULLARD BLOCK STILL STANDS

MALLARD'S DAILY MOTION TO LEASE SITE AGAIN FAILS TO PASS COUNCIL

Undismayed by his daily defeats, Councilman Mallard yesterday made his usual motion at the session of the City Council meeting that the city lease the Bullard Block on North Main and North Spring streets for five years at an annual rental of $12,000 to be used as a City Hall annex. Councilman Sparks again voted "No" with Mr. Allan and the vote stood five for the Bullard block and two opposed.

There has been a delay in clearing the title to Normal Hill so that it can be transferred to the Board of Library Directors by the Council for a library site. The City Attorney's office notified the Council that it can grant the title of the hill to the Library Board subject to the vacation of an easement which is holding up the clearing of title.

YELLOW MEN and GOLD

By Gouverneur Morris

Chapter XXIX

SPIRITS OF LAVENDER

With the falling of night there came a dead calm. Lichee still slept in his corner, while Bessie and Carmen and I sat in silence and waited. It grew darker and darker, but still our captors gave no sign. At last, however, we heard steps upon the deck without, and presently the cabin door was thrust sharply ajar, and Carrol, carrying a lanthorn, appeared in the opening.

"What," said he, "no lights? Tactful but cheerless. Well, my hearties, how goes it?"

He strode in, and having thrust the lanthorn almost into our white faces, and laughed, he stood it with a clatter upon the table.

"Now then," said he, "light up and set the table. We've had a hard day of it, and we're going to have a bangup dinner and pass the time with laughter and song. How's the ship fixed for drinkables?"

"There's water," said Bessie, "and whisky and red wine—Spanish Red—"

"Spanish Red!" exclaimed Carrol, smacking his lips. "Where is it?"

"In the wine locker," said Bessie, "under the lower berth in the port storeroom. In there," and she nodded in the direction of the closed door. "Here's the key." She unslung it from her neck and held it out to him.

"You know where the stuff is," said Carrol, "I appoint you cupbearer. Put out a dozen bottles."

Bessie flung the key on the floor.

"Now, my dearest dear," said Carrol, "don't be a fool."

Carmen leaned over suddenly and picked up the key.

"I get him," she said.

"That's right!" said Carrol heartily, "there's a sensible girl. She knows which side her bread's buttered," and he turned on his heel and strolled out.

Bessie turned coldly to Carmen. "After all your hotstuff talk about what you'd do to Carrol—you're a pretty weak sister, I must say."

But Carmen smiled—almost laughed. And she bent down and whispered so that both Bessie and I could hear.

"There is one chance," she said, "only laugh—an' be gay, an' set that table."

"A chance!" I exclaimed.

"Better I not say a thing," said Carmen. "But look—I smile—almos' I am happy; I ask you, if you hopes for paradise, you set thata table—an' leave my little plan all to me."

"Bessie," said I, "this is a straw; but what's good enough for one drowning person ought to be good enough for another. Let's set the table."

"That is fine," said Carmen, "that is fine." And she unlocked the storeroom door, and went in, shutting it after her. Presently we heard her striking a match.

Half an hour later the table was set, the cabin lamps shone brightly upon the white cloth, and there came Swigot and the doctor, the latter looking much the worse for wear, bearing smoking dishes from the galley. Carrol came in next, and last of all Brandreth and Kelsey. The latter had wet and slicked down his spare hairs for the occasion and Brandreth had gone so far as to shave his beard.

Carrol seated himself at the head of the table, forcing Bessie to sit at his right hand. Lichee, his eyes heavy with sleep, came next to his mother; then Kelsey, Brandreth, myself, the doctor and Swigot. The place at Carrol's left was for Carmen, but she did not at once take it.

"I am waiter," she said, "I pass them dishes and pass that wine."

One by one we served ourselves from a tureen of bean soup that Carmen, laughing noisily, handed the rounds of the table. Then, stepping to a kind of sideboard that had been rigged, she took from it a bottle of wine, wrapped it in a napkin and went once more the round of the table filling the men's glasses.

"Good girl," said Carrol, "good girl. And now my happy family—here's luck!"

He tossed off his glass of wine at one gulp and held it out to Carmen to be refilled. Warmed by the generous liquor, he laughed aloud, and catching Carmen playfully round the waist drew her on to his knee; she giggled, resisted, but went to him willingly enough, as it seemed.

"That wine smells funny to me," said the little doctor.

"Were you speaking to me," I said coldly. "I didn't taste it."

"Nor I," said he, "it's gone bad."

Swigot rose suddenly from his place.

"I feel kind 'er giddy," he said. "It's the smell of the lamps." He went out into the fresh air.

"Funny," said Kelsey, "I feel sort of giddy—I've got a gripe in me stummick."

From her perch on Carrol's knee Carmen smiled toward the speaker.

"Maybe," she said, "you take one two drop Spirit of Lavender, you feel better. You not remember? You have little bottle label Spirit of Lavender?"

Kelsey rose to his feet with a sharp cry of terror and anguish.

"What's the matter," cried Carrol sharply.

"The matter!" cried Kelsey. "My God—my God—the slut has poisoned us, and we are all dead men."

"Is that true?" cried Carrol in an awful voice. He rose, unsteadily, casting Carmen violently from him.

"True," she said, "it is as true as Roy Cunningham look down from heaven know—you have drunk, an' you an' you, an' now your dam' soul go howling into hell."

Carrol caught up the empty bottle of wine by the neck and, swinging it over his shoulder, hurled it with frightful velocity into the woman's face. She dropped with a sound of shattered glass and—

"Go first," he shouted, and the next second I had felled him with the chair upon which I had been sitting, and snatching a blunt knife from the table forced it somehow through his right eye into his brain.

Then I rose, still howling like a wild beast with fury and horror; but there was no need of any further effort. Kelsey and Brandreth were in convulsions on the floor; Swigot had not come back, and was undoubtedly suffering his last throes, like a poisoned rat, in some corner of the ship. The doctor alone, who had not touched the wine, sat stiffly in his place. He was blue with fear. Bessie, holding Lichee by the hand, had backed against the wall. Carmen had not moved.

Gradually the horrid sounds that came from my throat ceased; and I ran to Bessie, sobbing aloud, as a child runs to its nurse.

"Buck up, Jim!" she said, "buck up! We're not out of the woods yet. Never mind—there. You look out for Lichee, and I'll clean the slate."

She darted around the table and caught the little doctor by the shoulders, and dragged him from his chair.

"Now, my little bomb," she cried, "you've burst once on this ship and done quite some damage, but you'll never burst again. Overboard you go!" and she began to force him toward the cabin door. They disappeared, struggling violently, the strong deep-chested woman, and the weak spindle-shanked man. One wild cry rang in my ears.

A moment later Bessie, breathing hard, stood once more beside me.

"Jim," she said, "it's all over now, and unless you and Lichee and I play each other false—why all's well. The money's ours now—and there ought to be bright days coming to us all. Lichee, you monkey, you be fine, rich Melican man some day. And Jim—Jim—"

Here Bessie broke down and sobbed, and I, catching her in my arms, had at that moment no memory of any other woman.

THE END.

Citizens Fight Choice of Site for Gas Holder

The Council chamber at City Hall was crowded to capacity yesterday afternoon with property owners from the southwestern part of the city who protested to the zoning committee of the City Planning Commission against the proposal of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation to build a 10,000,000 cubic foot gas holder on a four-and one-half acre tract, between Seventh and Ninth avenues, the Pacific Air Line track and Thirtieth street. Attorney Paul Overton, representing the gas company, said that the tremendous growth of Los Angeles made it necessary for the installation of additional holders and other equipment to serve the consumers adequately.

The protestants declared that the holder should be located elsewhere in the section, that to build it on the site proposed would be a menace to lives and would result in a depreciation in the values of the homes in the district. The committee took the matter under advisement and will forward its recommendation to the Council. It will be necessary to amend the zoning laws to locate the holder on the site proposed by the gas company and the protestants are expected to oppose the granting of this zoning change.

Chain Gang is "Strengthened" by 300 Pounds

Three hundred pounds was added to the strength of the county chainless chain gang yesterday when Judge Shenk decided the case of Hillard S. Karr, a motion-picture actor, who pleaded guilty to failure to stop and aid Gussie Schuster after an automobile accident last December 21.

The defendant, who tips the scales at 300 pounds, was unable to stand throughout the pronouncement of sentence and had to have a chair. He was the first man in the court who sat down during such a procedure.

The court decided to continue consideration of an application for probation until the 30th inst., and suggested that he work on the county highways in the meantime.

Arrests Break Up Strike of Melon Pickers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, May 26.—Mexican military authorities at Mexicali apparently have settled the threatened cantaloupe pickers' strike before it began by jailing agitators who had been traveling among the ranchers organizing trouble. Following arrest of the "Red" leaders, several hundred pickers who had quit work went back to the ranches.

Imperial cantaloupe growers on the American side say there is a prospective labor shortage for this crop. "Fruit tramps," as the white pickers are called, have not yet appeared in sufficient number and the Japanese depended upon in former years have saved enough money to go into business for themselves or to return to Japan.

Date Growers Plan to Build Packing Plant

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, May 26.—Organized date growers of Imperial Valley have decided to build a co-operative packing pant costing $3500 on a site at El Centro, Brawley or Imperial, selection to be made on a report of J. B. Dudley of Brawley, as to advantages and inducements offered. C. O. Bullis, Timken ranch manager, is delegated to obtain a superintendent and E. R. Durard of Brawley will report on finance and equipment.

It is the intention of the growers to have the plant ready to pack this year's crop which will amount to approximately sixty tons from 100 acres. The associated growers expect to perfect permanent organization at a meeting in Brawley Tuesday. Date harvesting begins late in August.

She Certainly Was

They were talking about women friends.

"Do you see Emma often?" one inquired.

"Oh, yes, quite frequently," the other replied.

"Is she happily married?"

"Is she? I'll say she is. Why, that girl is so happily married she has to go to the theater for a good cry."—[Indianapolis News.

MILLIONS FED BY QUAKERS

Germans Grateful for Great Work of Americans

Children Saved from Pangs of Hunger by Meals

Frineds Society Will Cease Operations in July

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, May 11.—Millions of German children who suffered from hunger in the war-time and afterward probably will remember the manna-like meals provided for them by the American Quakers long after they have forgotten the name of the American Friends Service Committee which will withdraw from Germany at the end of July after two and one-half years of relief work here.

WILL TAKE OVER WORK

The budget committee of the Reichstag recently approved an appropriation of 50,000,000 marks for the purchase of foodstuffs to continue the child-feeding program when the American supplies have been exhausted. These supplies are now expected to last until September 30. Dr. Rose, chairman of the German Central Committee for Foreign Relief and director of the Food Ministry, said the government had granted the full amount he requested for this purpose, but the Quaker feeding so strongly gripped the popular mind that some members of the party of the left demanded a great increase in the Federal grant for that purpose.

The Friends organization has been established in 1640 towns which contain about one-half of the entire population of Germany. Its supplies were stored in more than 300 warehouses and its food was prepared in more than 250 kitchens and served from 3360 feeding places, mostly schools and child-welfare institutions.

The money value of the American food provided has been estimated at $8,500,000.

"This amount is less than one-fourth the cost of a first-class battleship," said Francis R. Bacon of Philadelphia, chairman of the Friends committee.

SUPPORT OF GOVERNMENT

He added that from the beginning the Quakers had the full support of the German government, which, since October, 1920, furnished all the flour and sugar used in the ration given to the children.

In addition, the German people supplied all the costs of insurance and distribution of the food, while the Society of Friends paid the overhead expenses. The German contribution is estimated to average about two-thirds of the value of the cooked meals.

Mr. Bacon said that the withdrawal of the Friends committee from this work was made possible because it appeared that the Germans were now capable and prepared to carry it on themselves.

The American feeding reached its height in June and July last year, when more than 1,000,000 children were receiving an extra meal daily through American bounty.

Senator's Body Sent to Arizona for Interment

The body of William A. Parr, for many years an Arizona State Senator, was sent back to his home in Winslow, Ariz., yesterday for burial. Senator Parr died Thursday in the Pacific Hospital, where he was taken following a fall from a ladder in his home last week. He did not regain consciousness after the accident.

Senator Parr was 67 years old. A native of Canada, he spent thirty-five years of his life in Winslow. In the territorial days, before Arizona was admitted to statehood, he served as a legislator, holding office as State Senator until 1918. He was a Mason and a trustee of the First Methodist Church in Winslow.

Senator Parr leaves a widow and two daughters. Arrangements for the shipment of his remains were made by the Ruppe Mortuary.

Advance in Chemistry

Lectures given recently at various American centers of learning by Dr. F. W. Aston of Cambridge, made a notable contribution to the general knowledge of the remarkable advances of the moment in physical chemistry. More and more it is coming to be taken for granted that the chemical elements are made up of identically the same stuff, and that they differ only in their structural arrangements. More and more the passage from one element to another which has so dumfounded science when it was first observed taking place spontaneously is coming to be a matter of course and something which we may ultimately hope to control.—[Scientific American.

ACTRESS .. DELIGHTS .. VETERANS

Aids Benefit Sale of Flanders Poppies

Elsie Janis

TO MAKE others laugh when his heart is breaking always has been the notable accomplishment of the actor, and he showed it best when in the course of the war he entertained the dying and those about to die. But an illustration was found last night here in Los Angeles.

Miss Elsie Janis had promised to look in at the meeting of the Disabled Veterans of the World War in their home, 246 South Hill street, and she did. It was to help along the sale of poppies in benefit of the relief work of the Disabled Veterans, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American War Mothers.

SHE SPOKE KNEELING

The actress came just before she was to appear on the boards of the Mason; Dr. Lloyd R. Mace, president of the Disabled Veterans, introduced her as "the peerless entertainer who was overseas with you," and Miss Janis was lifted onto a counter where she knelt as she spoke.

"I'm glad to see you fellows," she said. "Do you know you look fine. Why, in visiting the hospitals around the country I'm so used to see 'em all in, that it looks fine to see you are up and about."

Thereupon the actress told two anecdotes, which made the young men laugh not a little. But after the first one there was a disturbance. One of the ex-soldiers had gone down and was trembling as in a fit on the floor. He was carried to the back of the hall, and Miss Janis kept on, completed her story and got the final laugh, too.

"TELL HIM I LOVE HIM"

"Tell him when he comes to that I left my love for him," she called as she left. "I'm sorry I knocked him cold."

The young man that went down was a "shell shock case."

The sale of the poppies began yesterday and will continue until Monday. Chief of Police Oaks sold some at Seventh street and Broadway in the afternoon, and Mayor Cryer will sell them today at a location not yet selected. The flowers are artificial ones, made by war widows and orphans in France.

GUILTY VERDICT BRINGS A SIGH

Old Tom Sharkey, Convicted, Sees End in Cell

"Piker Job" at San Jacinto Blasts Crime Career

"Never Say Die,' His Motto, but Lone Hand Fails

It'll be another prison number for old Tom Sharkey, who has already spent twenty-one years behind penitentiary walls. Yesterday the gray-haired old man saw a jury return to Federal Judge Bledsoe's courtroom with one more verdict of guilty.

A "piker job"—a mere $2000 postoffice robbery in the town of San Jacinto—that's what he was convicted for. Time was when Tom Sharkey would have sneered at such a job, but now—

"Well, the old man ain't what he used to be. He's slippin'," the Deputy Federal Marshal tells you. "He ought to feel right at home, though, when they ship him up to the island."

SENTENCE MONDAY

Indeed, he should! For seventeen years Tom sojourned in the Ohio pen, and then, succumbing to the praises of California climate, he came here and soon was spending four years at San Quentin. How much he will draw this time is still a question, for sentence will not be passed until Monday afternoon. Under the penal code he rates as high as ten years on McNeil Island, surrounded by the waters of Puget Sound.

Tom's counsel, Frank B. Demingues and W. T. Helms, tried to get the old-timer to plead guilty, but Sharkey wouldn't have it.

"Never say die!" he quavered and began to prepare a fanciful tale to tell the jury. Against the sixteen witnesses that the government mustered, Tom played a lone, brave hand. No one was there to testify for him—no one but himself—and the story which Sharkey told left little on which his counsel might base a plea.

FIFTH CONVICTION

The attorneys did their best, though, quoting a bit of poetry, mentioning the Einstein and Darwinian theories, and even dwelling upon the creation of man in their effort to gain the old boy his liberty.

Asst. U. S. Dist.-Atty. Herron's reply was brief, and then, when Judge Bledsoe reviewed the evidence for the jury, the shadow of the bars appeared once more before the eyes of old Tom Sharkey.

It was his fifth known conviction for a criminal offense.

"And I guess it's my last," he sighed as they led him back to his cell to await the sentence.—Yes, old Tom's spirit is about broken.

"Cigaret Girl" First Entrant in Veterans' Contest

Alice Greenman

ALICE GREENMAN, la belle demoiselle des cigarets of the Alexandria, is the first to enter the beauty queen contest of the United Spanish War Veterans' national convention. Her candidacy, announced yesterday, is backed by the entire Ambassador Hotel System and by thousands of smokers who have selected Havana and Turkish wares from her tray in the restaurants of the down-town hotel.

Miss Greenman works for George T. Frawley, the nicotine chef at the Alexandria. Her name has been entered in the contest by Abe Frank, general manager of the hotel system. The contest will end the first week in July with a coronation and grand ball at the Ambassador. P. F. Roller, chairman of the finance committee, is in charge of the contest.

WAR BEGUN ON TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

More Than 5000 Motorists Tagged by Police in Last Two Days

The greatest traffic drive in Los Angeles police history has been secretly under way for two days.

Late yesterday, it was disclosed by Chief of Police Oaks that more than 5000 motorists were tagged on Thursday and Friday.

More than 200 police officers in civilian clothes, using 100 automobiles, have been patrolling the streets and making arrests for every traffic violation observed.

"The traffic situation has become intolerable," said Chief Oaks yesterday, in discussing the campaign. "The department is now at war with offending drivers. We believe that this drive will result in great improvement and will save many citizens from injury and death.

"The campaign will continue indefinitely. If the 200 police officers now engaged in curbing violations are not sufficient, I will ask 2000 or 3000 citizens to volunteer as members of a traffic vigilance committee."

Chief Oaks detailed Capts. Heath and McDowell to assume active charge of the drive and instructed them to tag every driver caught in even minor infractions, such as cutting corners, parking too long or too near fire plugs, usurping the right of way, or failing to give the proper signals on turns.

No official tally has as yet been made, but it is estimated that more than 2000 drivers were arrested, on Thursday and more than 3000 yesterday.

The new system is as follows: two officers in plain clothes cruise the streets in an automobile. Drivers are unable to distinguish them as policemen and often are careless. One slip, however, and the offending driver becomes aware that the machine in front of him or in the rear is a police car.

MOTHER OF FILM STAR TO REMAIN

Mrs. Chaplin Given More Time in This Country to Recover Health

Mrs. Hannah Chaplin, aged mother of the famous screen comedian, won a partial victory yesterday in her battle to remain in this country when the solicitor attached to the Immigration Bureau in Washington gave an opinion to Secretary of Labor Davis, asserting that she might be allowed to stay here temporarily as an alien seeking treatment for mental disorder.

Mrs. Chaplin has been living in a Santa Monica cottage since being brought to this country from London be her sons, Charles and Sidney Chaplin. She was permitted to enter for the period of a year only, after Charles Chaplin, making the plea that the Southern California climate might restore her to health, gave guarantee that she would never become a public charge. She had been under constant care of trained nurses and medical experts ever since.

Now the twelve months of grace are over. Through the opinion handed him yesterday, Secretary Davis is allowed administrative discretion in deciding whether that period is to be extended. He is reserving his decision, according to dispatches from Washington, until Mrs. Chaplin's legal representatives present evidence that her sojourn under California's sun has been of physical and psychological value. Preliminary medical reports showed she has greatly improved during the past year.

DESPONDENT IDAHO MAN INHALES GAS

Despondent because of continued ill health, George D. Walworth, 42 years of age, retired business man of Pocatello, Idaho, ended his life last night by inhaling gas in his room at 1215 West Ninth street. His lifeless body was found on the floor of the room at about 8 p.m. by his brother, W. B. Walworth of 648 South Sixth street, Pocatello, Idaho, and W. E. Stone of the above address. A brief note was found beside the body containing a statement by the dead man that he had grown tired of combating a chronic illness.

METEORIC ROMANCE ON ROCKS

Wed One Day, Separated Next, Fairbanks's Art Director Sues

Irvin Martin, art director for Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, yesterday sued Eleanor Dowler Martin for divorce. Attached to the complaint, which reviewed the rapid-fire romance and marriage of the couple, was a picture of Mrs. Martin and a newspaper clipping in which she was quoted as stating that she didn't intend to live with him again.

According to Mr. Martin's complaint, he proposed to his wife Friday, the 12th inst., made all arrangements Saturday, married Sunday, and separated Monday. He charges his wife with cruel and inhuman treatment.

Mr. Martin charges that his wife told her step-sister that she did not love him, and that she married him only to secure the prestige that would go with being his wife. In his complaint he states that on the Monday following the marriage, he left the house for the studio. He gave his wife $100 for clothes. When he returned, in the evening, there was no wife, and no word. Then he learned, it is declared, that she remarked to mutual friends, concerning her husband:

"To h—— with him."

Mr. Martin declares that his wife was seen in a downtown cafe with another man the day following the ceremony. Mrs. Martin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Dowler of Covina and San Francisco. She was educated in the Dominican Convent, in San Rafael.

ACCUSED BY GIRLS

Accused of offenses against young girls in Belvedere, Ernest R. Turner, formerly a vocal teacher in a church there was arrested yesterday at Bishop on information by Deputy Constables Adams and McCollum. The officers will leave shortly to bring Turner here for a hearing.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED OF WOOLWINE'S CHARGES

Discharged Employee Prepares Statement for Civil Service Board

A complete investigation next Wednesday by the County Civil Service Commission of the charges and counter-charges growing out of the discharge of Ida Wright Jones by Dist.-Atty. Woolwine apparently was forecast yesterday. The charges center about what Mr. Woolwine declares is a plot to ruin him by Miss Jones's assertions that he was intimate with her.

Miss Jones said late yesterday that she will file application Monday or Tuesday for a hearing before the commission. The commissioners earlier in the day officially declared Miss Jones's dismissal was irregular and set next Wednesday as the date for a special meeting for "further consideration of the matter."

The day's developments were further emphasized when it was learned that Miss Jones made a detailed statement for the commission a few days ago and that her statement was taken down by a stenographer and later signed by Miss Jones.

INQUIRY MADE

Certain points concerning the asserted relations between her and Mr. Woolwine have been investigated, it is understood. Miss Jones appeared at the commission chambers a week ago Thursday and told "her side" of the case at her own request, one of the commissioners said. Her appearance there has not been made public before.

Richard Kittrelle of the firm of Schenck & Kittrelle, who were retained as counsel by Miss Jones following her discharge by Mr. Woolwine on the 13th inst., admitted that she will file application for a hearing.

Members of the Civil Service Commission and Secretary Doty were reluctant to discuss the case. They had prepared at yesterday's regular meeting a formal statement for the press.

The statement follows:

"In the matter of the discharge of Ida Wright Jones by the District Attorney on May 3, as reported by him to the commission on May 15, the commission held that the procedure taken by the District Attorney in bringing about her removal was not in conformity to the law as set forth in the county charter and in the rules of the Civil Service Commission and that the District Attorney be advised of this action.

"Further consideration of this matter was postponed to a special meeting of the commission on Wednesday, May 31. The secretary was authorized to follow the usual procedure in cases of removal."

The commission received from Mr. Woolwine an additional communication yesterday in which he inclosed a letter that he had sent to Miss Jones last Thursday night by James Smith, an investigator in Mr. Woolwine's office.

This letter was for the purpose

PEASGOOD ARRAIGNED FOR CRIME

Shortage Laid to Former Venice Treasurer Over $30,000, is Report

After testimony was adduced yesterday in Justice Follette's court by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McDaniel that the asserted shortage on the books of James T. Peasgood, Jr., former City Treasurer of Venice, would reach a total of more than $5000, as was asserted, the defendant was held to answer on a charge of embezzlement. Bail was fixed at $10,000.

The court stated that it was "an offense which goes to the very foundation of our government; in so far as government officials violate their public trust, the government menaces the rights of the people."

A. D. McLeod, the auditor who has gone over the former treasurer's accounts, testified. It was stated that the shortage may reach $30,000, including $5000 from the general fund of the city, although the audit of the treasurer's books is not yet completed.

Other witnesses were Thomas Wild, deputy tax and license collector of Venice, and J. G. Harrah, a City Trustee.

Wooed, Won, Sued in Two Short Weeks

It took Willie Borden just twelve days to meet, court, wed; separate from and sue Rebecca Borden for annulment.

According to a suit for annulment filed yesterday through Attorney Henry Hayes by Irving S. Borden, adult brother and guardian of Willie, the youth met Rebecca on the 14th inst. He was 19 years of age. She was 21. Just four days later they were married, each believing that the ideal mate had been found.

A few hours after Justice Hanby had read the ceremony they realized their mistake and separated.

AND NOW WHERE IS UNDERWEAR

Washing Taken Off Line at Laundry, is Police Report

Where, oh, where, is the underwear?

The Hop Lee Laundry at Winston and Los Angeles streets wants to know. Police were notified yesterday that the day's washing was hung on the roof to dry. Early yesterday morning the proprietor discovered that 100 suits of underwear, 100 pairs of socks and six silk shirts had been stolen.

PRICE DEFIES EDICT BY KLAN

his assistant in the investigation, refused to discuss the nature of the grand jury's activity. The jury adjourned until next Friday morning, when the several important matters now being put in shape by Mr. Doran and Mr. Turney, can be presented to it. That this matter is of greatest importance and that the documentary evidence to be placed before the inquisitorial body is considered by the District Attorney's office to be of damaging nature to the Klan and high Klan officials was learned at the Hall of Records yesterday.

King Kleagle Price may be one of the first witnesses before the grand jury when it resumes its deliberations next Friday. Just why the District Attorney's office plans to recall him at this time was not disclosed.

Mr. Price, in the meantime, is to be kept busy by the nineteen fellow kleagles, all of whom are under suspension pending the result of the "Imperial investigation." The reports of these kleagles will be inspected by Mr. Price and their affairs for the fiscal year checked up, Mr. Price said.

In spite of the lengthy telegraphic dispatches published throughout the country and announcing the revocation of commissions of Price and his kleagles, Price remains in charge of the Los Angeles office while Capt. W. S. Coburn, formerly Grand Goblin and now King Kleagle, is speeding toward Los Angeles by some unknown route. Efforts to keep his arrival here secret are being made by Klansmen and Capt. Coburn's attorneys.

A flood of protests against the Imperial action in dismissing Mr. Price and his assistants is flowing into Atlanta from Klans and Klansmen in Southern and Central California. Meetings are being held by the few chartered and the provisional Klans here for the purpose of expressing confidence in Mr. Price. When the new King Kleagle, Coburn, arrives in California he is expected to find his "invisible realms" a much perturbed territory, Klansmen said yesterday.

Nathan A. Baker, the Kleagle who led the Inglewood raiders, and who was suspended with the others as the result of it, was seriously ill yesterday. He is at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Physicians in charge of his case stated yesterday that while his condition is not grave, and his life apparently not in any immediate danger, he can have no visitors for a few days. The nature of his ailment was not disclosed.

King Kleagle Price called on Chief Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dorn yesterday, and was given a few of the reports taken from his office during the raid on the Klan headquarters. These papers, he explained, were needed to check the Kleagles throughout the State.

The Board of Public Utilities yesterday reported to the City Council that after an investigation among the members of that department, it had been learned that no employees of the board were members of the Klan. The City Prosecutor's office and the City Attorney's office has conducted similar investigations, but no members of the Klan were found in those offices.

The Council recently adopted a resolution ordering all heads of departments to ascertain if any men under them were members of the Klan, and if any were found, to order them to resign from the organization or to quit the city service. The Board of Public Utilities letter was in response to the Council's resolution. No other city branches, including the police, fire and other departments have so far reported to the Council the result of their Ku Klux Klan investigations.

RESIGN FROM OFFICE
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TAFT, May 26.—Public pressure against the Ku Klux Klan resulted at a special meeting of the Taft Board of Trustees in the resignation of R. C. Steele, city marshal; J. M. Higgins, trustee, and R. M. Padrick, assistant fire chief, and the removal from service of L. R. Buchanan, honorary chief of the fire department.

The names of the four men involved in the shake-up were linked with the Ku Klux Klan in the recent expose of the local membership.

Steele, declared to be a member of the Klan at Santa Barbara on the 1st inst., was appointed Chief of Police or city marshal, after he had lived in Taft one week. Letters introduced in evidence before the grand jury in its investigation of the Ku Klux Klan in Kern county indicated that Steele solicited and was given the aid of the Klan in securing his official position at Taft.

Buchanan declared that he never attended a meeting of the Klan and never took the oath, which it was contended by the grand jury was un-American and conflicted with the official oath taken by public servants.

Three other members of the Board of Trustees, Haskell Greene, Herbert Hearle and H. C. McClean, Mayor, were listed in Klan records as members of the organization.

BABIES WANT "DADDY" BACK

Father is Missing and Family is Reported Destitute

"Why doesn't daddy come home?"

This question voiced by two children yesterday led Walter Blue, former detective sergeant, to start a State wide search for David Silverstone, 226 Sanborn avenue, Lynwood.

Mr. Blue had gone to the Silverstone residence on a matter of business. He found that the man had disappeared last Wednesday morning, leaving his wife and two children destitute. The family consists of Mrs. Geneva Silverstone and the two boys, Harry David, 5, and Dale, 3 years old.

JUDGE RAPS KLAN
[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—When John D. Eckes, dentist, a Kleagle of the Ku Klux Klan, appeared in the court of Police Judge Sylvester A. McAtee to answer to a charge of failing to support his minor child, Judge McAtee characterized the Klan as "the silliest hoax ever put over on the American public." The hearing was continued until Wednesday.

The charge was brought by Dr. Eckes's divorced wife after he had been arrested on six charges of violating the Corporation Securities Act in connection with his acting as a broker for certain oil stocks. He was compelled to remain in jail in default of $10,000 bail.

"How a good American citizen can belong to a silly organization that goes about in masks and nightgowns is more than I can see," Judge McAtee said. "I am going to give the Ku Klux Klan an exhibition of orderly justice in this case by way of contradistinction to the outrageous methods which it pursues."

COMMITTEE APPROVES FOUR WAGE INCREASES

The Budget Committee of the City Council yesterday tackled a long list of applications of city employees for increases in salary and approved of increases for Secretary Lamb of the Playground Commission from $180 to $190 a month; for License Clerk Wallace, from $215 to $250 a month; for License Cashier Upright, from $195 to $200 a month, and for Playground Superintendent Raitt from $240 to $275 a month. These increases were made in recognition of long, faithful, efficient service by these employees.

Disorganization of Whole Klan Ventura's Aim

More than one-third of the membership of the Ventura Klan of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan resigned in a body yesterday after passing a resolution urging the disorganization of the Klan throughout the country.

Officials of the Klan and some of Ventura's most prominent citizens were in the group who withdrew from the hooded fellowship of the "Invisible Empire." Business men and men prominently identified with the affairs of Ventura county were among those signing the resolution.

The resigning members declared they joined the organization in the best of faith and hoped it would function along the lines indicated in the ritual and the printed tenants of the Klan. Reports of lawlessness, the resigning members said, while not proven in court, caused a feeling of regret. The significant portion of the resolution is contained in the sentences in which the resigning members declare that even though the charges against the Klan are not proven in the Inglewood matter, the fact that the Klan has caused the breaking up of friendships and the disruption of the cordial relations heretofore existing in the city should be sufficient to justify their action.

"We do not want even for a moment to disturb the peaceful and friendly relations of our citizens," the resolution declared.

Fifty-five names were signed to the resolution.

WARDE TO SPEAK

Mission Play Actor to Address Student Body Here

Frederick Warde, the Junipero Serra in the Mission Play, will be the speaker at the Memorial Day exercises at Los Angeles High School, at 10:30 a.m. Monday.

Six boy students will tell the student body why Memorial Day should be observed. The boys, who served in the war, are: Leon Whittaker, John Fraley, Lawrence Hall, James Cohenour, Honore LeClerq, and Clarence Sexton.

One of the most impressive parts of the exercises will be the reading of the names of the boys from the school who fell in the war. The names will be read by Miss Mercedes Long, vice-president of the student body.

WOMAN TO TESTIFY IN MANN ACT CASE

Mrs. Norah Dunham of London, Eng., held here as a witness against Cyril Lyons, charged with bringing her from England to Pasadena for an immoral purpose, was admitted to bond in the sum of $4000 yesterday to insure her appearance against Lyons at the preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Long next week. It is understood that her husband, Henry Dunham, a business man of London, who pursued the couple to California, furnished the bond for the release of his wife.

QUIZ OF UNION RULE ORDERED

Council Begins Inquiry of Extravagant Bills

City Repair Shop 90 Per Cent Organized, is Charge

Labor Costs Too High, is Board's Belief

Following upon charges that the city's automobile repair and machine shop is under the domination of organized labor and has been running up extravagant bills, the City Council yesterday, on recommendation of the Board of Public Works, ordered a thorough investigation of the administration of the shop.

Efficiency Director Eldridge and Councilmen Allan and Langdon were appointed a committee to conduct the investigation which is expected to consume two months' time, and will delve into every detail, including the charge that union men are given preference for employment at the shop, which technically is conducted under the open-shop plan.

Superintendent Ainsworth of the shop denied that union labor controlled the shop, though he admitted that probably 90 per cent of the men employed there are members of the union.

The attention of the Council was directed to the shop when appropriations of several thousand dollars were asked by the police department to meet bills from the shop for building three police ambulance bodies and one patrol wagon. The cost of these four jobs ran far in excess of original estimates. The police department did not have the funds on hand to pay the bills.

The investigators will compare costs of work of the city's shop with similar costs at privately-operated shops in Los Angeles.

The Council has already gone on record against any additional automobile body building work being done at the shop until it has been thoroughly investigated.

"Mouse" Unable to Furnish Bail at Arraignment

"I could give $100,000 bail in San Francisco, but not $25,000 here," said Guido Spingola, known to the police as "The Mouse," when he appeared for arraignment yesterday before Justice Hinshaw. The court fixed bail at $25,000. The defendant, with G. W. Kerr, known as "Red" Mitchell, and others, is accused of robbery of three men employed by the Standard Oil Company of $82,000.

"The Mouse" was brought back from Seattle by Deputy Sheriff Bright and has been held in the Pasadena City Jail since Monday. Hearing in the case was set for the 31st inst.

WOOLWINE 'PLOT' UNDER INQUIRY

of informing Miss Jones specifically why she had been discharged, his first letter to her having failed to do so, thereby failing to comply with the civil service regulations.

In Thursday's communication Mr. Woolwine merely inclosed the letter he had sent on the 13th inst. to the commission, giving his reasons for discharging her, as follows:

"It was communicated to me by one of the employees of the District Attorney's office that Miss Jones had stated to him that she was going to make an affidavit to the effect that she had been intimate with me and that she was going to sell this affidavit to my political enemies for the sum of $10,000, and then leave the State. Upon verifying the fact that she made such a statement and that she had planned to take such action, I immediately discharged her."

Although this second letter to Miss Jones complies with the provisions for specifically telling an employee the reasons for discharge, it fails to inform Miss Jones that she has a "reasonable" length of time in which to reply to the charges, it was said at the commission office.

Since her discharge as investigator of juvenile cases for Mr. Woolwine, Miss Jones has denied emphatically making any overtures toward obtaining any money for her asserted information that she and Mr. Woolwine had been intimate.

Although denying this phase of the charges of the District Attorney, she has asserted repeatedly that for five years they were intimate and that an operation, deemed necessary because of these declared relations, was performed in Los Angeles in January of 1921. Another illness of similar origin was experienced by her in 1917 at Elizabeth Lake, according to her statements.

Details of these instances, as well as all other information connected with the case were included in her statement for the commission, it was learned.

Mr. Woolwine has declined to make any statement on the case, other than written explanation given the commission for her discharge. He was not at home last night and could not be reached for a statement.

Miss Jones retained Schenck and Kittrelle on the night she was discharged, and after she had been told, according to her statement, that Mr. Woolwine "planned to break her and railroad her to the psycopathic ward."

President Windham of the commission last night said that no intimation had been received from Miss Jones as to what her action might be. The commission had set Wednesday, he said, for the special meeting because it was believed that if any action was planned it would develop by that time and the matter could be disposed of. When the special meeting was set, no word had been received from Mr. Woolwine that he had specifically given Miss Jones notice of the reasons for her discharge.

Why We Are the Cleanest Clothed People in the World

Said a famous Frenchman, visiting America for the first time: "Ah—you-Americans—you are the cleanest clothed people in the world. I envy you!" We have reason to believe he meant what he said.

Clothes sent "out" in Siam are usually washed in a village pond—one water for everybody's washing. Blow-can sprinkling is universal among the Chinese. In Mexico it is well known that laundresses rent out apparel of their patrons—many instances are related of men meeting their own shirts on unfamiliar backs. Europe, too, has its unusual customs.

Yet, clothes look clean in these countries—the difference is that here we have linked up sanitary service with our laundering. With us, clothes are sterilized as well as cleaned.

This will illustrate:

Everything in the family bundle is washed in five to ten baths of cleansing suds and rainsoft water when you send it to us.

Javelle water, used so extensively during the war as a purifying agent, also plays its important part.

Sterilized, superheated air of 210° to 280° temperature is used in drying. Still other pieces are dried in ironing at a temperature of 320°.

Clean clothes never come into contact with the soiled — wrapping in aseptic paper, in a special shipping room well removed from the receiving room, is the final step.

Your family washing, sent to us, is refreshed and cleansed inwardly and outwardly—actually made purer than the milk we drink.

And it is well to remember that this service of sanitation—which helps keep us the cleanest clothed people in the world—is obtainable only in professional laundries, like ours.

To be sure of this service that is safe and saving; to be sure of protection for your own health and that of your family; to secure help that will take all of the inconvenience and work of washday out of your home, phone us today and one of our drivers will call for your family bundle.

OR A DAISY
They were wearing carnations on Mother's Day, but on Father's Day everybody will be donning a poppy.

THE STRAIGHT OF IT
Some of the big banks are training their tellers to shoot straight. It is also highly important that they should walk straight.

IN THE PICTURES
A Japanese film company with a capital of $100,000 has been formed in San Francisco. Maybe this is for the purpose of supplying some more of those picture brides we hear so much about.

LOST EVIDENCE
The prohibition agent reports the disappearance of 1600 cases of Scotch whisky somewhere between San Pedro and Los Angeles. If any gentleman has 1600 cases of Haig & Haig under his belt he will kindly step up to the captain's office and explain.

TAKING A VOTE
A Chamber of Commerce referendum is said to show a majority of almost five to one in favor of a modification of the Volstead Act that would permit the use of light wines and beer in the home and at the table. But what does the Chamber of Commerce propose to do about it? Will the members suppress Congress or reverse the amendment? Is it to be threats or cajolery?

NEED OF CONSCIENCE
Bryan says that a great fault of the world is a growing absence of conscience. That's a fact. There are a lot of people who hate to admit that they voted for free silver in 1896. If the world had enlargement of conscience instead of a lessened magnanimity it would be better for us all. If you find a world without a conscience it is a world of selfishness and aggrandisement.

DEEP ROOTED
There are any number of French people who expect to see a French invasion of Germany. They expect to collect their share of the reparations from Germany with the sword. They figure on beginning at once. They say that Germany will not pay in gold and must therefore do it in blood. The French mind is unable to conceive a German as other than an enemy. At that, he has history to sustain his view. But it is mighty embarrassing for the peace of Europe.

CONSOLIDATION
The Presbyterian General Assembly has taken the work and activities of thirteen of the different philanthropies and auxiliaries of the church and consolidated them into four boards or commissions. This is to promote efficiency and prevent duplication. It is also in the interest of economy. They are reducing or concentrating commissions and boards everywhere except in the political machinery of the State of California. That runs merrily on—wasting money at the spigot and bunghole alike.

AGAINST LAW AND ORDER
All the official forces of union labor appeared to be united in opposition to the plan for giving Chicago one thousand additional policemen. There was no denying that the city was in dire need of more officers for the regulation of traffic and the prevention of crime. Nevertheless the increase was fought by all the spokesmen for organized labor. Can it be taken for granted that union labor is opposed to law and order everywhere? The evidence seems to all point that way. But Chicago gets her added policemen. That should help.

MAKING GOOD CITIZENS
An eminent authority declares that if the youth of America had the training of the Boy Scouts from the age of 12 to 18 years there would be a minimum of crime and a maximum of service. The Scouts do inculcate courtesy and an impulse for kindly deeds, while the modern school curriculum is deathly silent on these attributes. The Boy Scouts are led to develop a resourcefulness that may spare them any need for criminal excursions later on. They are also taught to believe that chivalry is not dead and that patriotism is a national virtue. If the children of the foreign-born could all be brought into the camps of the Boy Scouts there would be much less to worry about it as to the future of the land.

THE SWATSMAN
Babe Ruth's sentence expired Saturday and the supreme arbiter permitted his return to the game. Some forty thousand fans turned out to see him wallop the bead. They had their faces all fixed for a home run, but the mighty Ruth could only swat a few holes in the air and go back to the bench. Naturally the crowd groaned when Babe struck out. Ruth is sanguine that he will still be able to equal or surpass his home-run record, but his enforced absence from the opening games and his limping start form a handicap that will be hard to overcome. With his salary and his $500 bonus for home runs, Ruth figured on cleaning up about $100,000 this season, but the poor devil may not make much more than $75,000. This is pretty tough on a husky man who has to work pretty near an hour a day.

VINDICATION OF LLOYD GEORGE
The dawn of a new day in European diplomacy is marked by the overwhelming vote of confidence given Lloyd George in the House of Commons Thursday.

It is a recognition of the fact that, in diplomacy as elsewhere in modern business life, it is desirable occasionally to shift gears and thereby avoid straining the engine.

In other words, the day of downright rigid diplomatic pacts between diplomats has gone; henceforth leaders must be followers; diplomatic agreements can go no further than public opinion can go with them; it is no longer, in diplomacy, the question of enforcing technical rights, but of edging along from day to day, compromising and ameliorating and adjusting conditions as they rise. It is a recognition of the fact that diplomacy has ceased to be a political matter; it has become an affair of business men—and business men are practical.

In holding up the hand of Lloyd George the British Commons has tacitly accepted the fact that the atmosphere of continental Europe is charged with T.N.T. and that a great world war can be averted only by tact and by concessions, not only to French opinion, but to the emergencies of the two "outcast nations," Russia and Germany.

Incidentally, the vote of confidence seems to stamp Lloyd George as the greatest practical statesman in Europe. He has been bitterly criticised as an evader, a slippery compromiser, a shifter.

The vote of confidence seems to be an acknowledgment that Lloyd George is the forerunner of a new school of diplomacy; that had he attempted to force upon Europe the old, uncompromising, technical standards the world would by now be straddling another volcano.

In a dramatic speech in the House of Commons, with the vote of confidence and incidentally the peace and future of Europe hanging in the balance, the Premier answered his critics.

He said that a serious disagreement between Great Britain and France would be one of the most disastrous things that could happen in the world—a statement which seemed to intimate an agreement between Britain and France regarding the enforcement of the German reparations due May 31. It is a recognition that Great Britain cannot override French public opinion in this regard and cannot expect French diplomacy to do so.

Lloyd George spoke to the House of Commons with great candor and with solemn warning in defense of his course of action in reference to Germany and Russia.

He said there were three alternatives in dealing with the Russian situation: force; leaving her to her fate; or making a reasonable business compromise. The first had been attempted and had failed; as to the second—

"How," he asked, "could we insure Europe against the risks this policy would involve? The Russo-German agreement shows the sort of peril I mean." He said that Germany could not re-equip Russia economically, not having the capital, but that was not the case with armaments, as there was every natural resource in one country and complete technical skill in the other.

He said that it was hopeless for Russia to attempt to rehabilitate herself without the help of the thirty other nations who form the concert of the powers.

"It seemed very simple," he said. "Russia needed goods and customers and we needed her produce. There was a seller and there was a buyer. Yet, when you come to deal with it, you found a chasm deep, wide and impossible."

Russia was going to the very people whose property she had confiscated and whose claims she had refused to pay and was asking "Lend me more."

The demand of Russia for a life-restoring loan did not prove insuperable; but the question of private property rights in Russia was more serious.

Belgium balked and France joined with her, "not from agreement, but out of general sympathy with Belgium." Finally the soviet disturbances of May 1 in Russia scared the Russian delegates back from their tentative concessions.

The difficulty of dealing with Russia, he said, was peculiar in that public opinion in that country is wielded by a powerful minority of about 1 per cent of the population.

As he explained:

The soviet system is not a democracy; it is an oligarchy. Talk about nationalism in Russia is humbug. They talk about the great principles of revolution.

It is claimed that Russia is a peasant proprietary. It is said that 95 per cent of Russian property is land and that the soviet has nominally nationalized it. But let them try to take it back. It is as much peasant property as if the titles were written out. I told the Russians so and they could not challenge it. The vast majority of the Russian people are more individualistic than the people of England. You have the paradox of a Communistic government speaking in the name of an individualistic population.

NEGRO AND INDIAN
The remarkable progress made by the negro and Indian races during the year last past has been tabulated and recorded by the Boston Hampton Committee in a report rendered by Miss Marian Homans.

Miss Homans refers to the lynchings for the year 1921 as sixty-three, by the Tuskegee report, two more than the previous year; the frightful race riots at Tulsa, Okla.; the occupation of Haiti by United States marines; the peonage case in Jasper county, Ga., when a number of negroes were found chained together at the bottom of a river; the dismissal of Prof. Robert T. Kerlin from the faculty of the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va., for addressing Gov. McCrae of Arkansas, in connection with the race riots at Ealine, Ark., as distressing debit events. She then proceeds to discuss the favorable advances of the race.

"Everywhere one sees an increase in race pride and race consciousness," the report says. "The formation of a negro telephone company in Elk Run, Va., a national theater, the first in the country operated by negroes; a new theater in Washington costing $250,000; a phonograph company producing records made by colored people only; the Standard Life Insurance Company of Atlanta employing 500 negroes and operating in thirteen States; a flourishing newspaper, the Chicago Defender; a new and spacious baseball park for colored people in New Orleans, and the magazine exclusively for colored children, The Brownies—all of these enterprises are signs of the growing independence of the race and of pride in its accomplishments."

In discussing progress among the Indians Miss Homans says it appears that President Harding is endeavoring to carry out his pre-election promises to give the Indian a square deal.

"It is good to hear that the so-called agreement authorizing one man to take 50,000 acres of Indian land for ten years at a rental of 12½ cents an acre was canceled in January, 1921, by the then Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Payne. Another proposed wrong, a bill to confiscate the rights of the Mescalero Indians to their reservation in New Mexico and make it a national park has come to naught, in that Congress failed to pass the bill."

The report refers to the serious conditions of drought among Blackfeet Indians in Montana, which ruined their grazing lands and forced 80 per cent of them to abandon their homes, and says that it is gratifying to know that modern charitable methods have been used in the distribution of relief. "The American Red Cross sent an experienced worker to the field and saw that the aid given did not tend to demoralize and pauperize them. The Indians are much encouraged and a real step has been taken toward making them self-supporting.

"Two outstanding features of the past year are worthy of comment here because of the satisfaction they bring to all who are interested in the welfare of the Indian." Miss Homans says. "One is a decrease in liquor traffic. It is now very much harder for the Indians to get intoxicating liquor, crime has greatly decreased and the Indians are doing better work and making more progress in their various industrial activities. The second item of social interest is the granting of citizenship to Indian soldiers and sailors. We all want the Indian to retain pride in his race and his cultural individuality, and every indication of this should be encouraged. Hence the great interest in Indian music and folklore."

WHISKERS ARE RUNNING WILD AND RAMPANT O'ER THE MAPS OF THE MALE POPULATION OF SACRAMENTO DURING THE CELEBRATION OF THE "DAYS OF '49" —

HOW CIVILIZED ARE WE?

BY ALMA WHITAKER

We today are not civilized, actually know next to nothing about the finer principles of civilization in spite of our modern "progress," according to Prof. O. E. Getzinger, who has studied archaeology for thirty-five years, but does not feel that he has yet acquired sufficient data to write a book! The professor has, however, made a few notes which, he says, may require a complete revision of our data on ancient history, if it is verified by other authorities.

By which it will be seen that Prof. Getzinger does not jump to hasty conclusions.

For which reason his talk before the Friday Morning Club was peculiarly enthralling. He confined himself mainly to the Egyptian pyramids, which he declared were built for the glory of the Almighty 30,000 years ago, based upon an amazing understanding of the system of creation by a people infinitely superior to ourselves in spiritual intuitive philosophy, a people almost entirely lacking in the materialistic ideals of today. They were Creator Worshipers and their knowledge was the absolute knowledge of the universe. He scorns the idea so widely accepted that the pyramids were built as a royal mausoleum by a people to whom no such materialistic motives could be ascribed. In fact, he has proved to his own satisfaction that the pyramids were built by Noah before the flood and that for 12,000 years they were submerged 475 feet below the sea. He found sea salt encrustations and various other evidence which he offered in support of his theory.

He finds that the interior of the pyramids, so much of which seemed meaningless in design, was actually based upon the twelve signs of the Zodiac and carries out an explicit idea by which it is obvious that their knowledge of astronomy exceeded anything we know of today. Our knowledge, he says, came to us through the Magi, who were the perverters of astronomical knowledge.

The professor boggles the imagination with his estimates of time. The biblical acceptance that creation is 7000 years old is shattered on the evidence. He estimates each day of the seven allotted to the creation of the world at at least 2500 years, which will account for nearly 18,000 years. Then there are 11,000 years of dark ages about which we can discover little, but, he observed, great changes occur in the firmament and the universe every 30,000 years or so—and he is not quite prepared to estimate how many series of 30,000 years have come and gone in the history of this old world.

The ancient Egyptians divided the universe into three strata—the lower, symbolized in the underground chambers relating to the "creatures," without human soul. The second, the ground-floor chamber, known as the Queen's Chamber, symbolized humans, the materialists with souls, the uppermost chamber, known as the King's Chamber, symbolizes the teachers, those whose role is to spread the divine knowledge of the Most High.

And every detail of the amazing monument was designed to conform with the universal scheme—a scheme of which we today are so ignorant. These ancients, he said, believed that the world was egg-shaped, not round, and he is convinced they were correct. Their plan included two suns, one a great invisible sun which their higher perceptions and sensibilities enabled them to know, to visualize.

Although Prof. Getsinger has not written a book, he has succumbed to the temptation of the newer educational channel—the screen. On Thursday evening he gave a preview of this amazing film, which not only provides actual views, but cleverly illustrates his theories before the Men's City Club. And on that occasion the club was filled to capacity by enthralled, modern, business men, modern materialists, intensely held in wonder and awe by the astonishing things envisioned before them. He has not yet commercialised this film, which was initially created for student purposes, but it is safe to say it will rank among the foremost of educational films—breathing as it does a higher spiritual conception of the universe as understood by a people that existed more than 30,000 years ago, combined with exact knowledge and the progressive materialistic advantages of which alone this generation may boast.

LOOKING UP

BY HENRY C. WARNACK

It is on the tongue of most people in Los Angeles that California has come home. They can't help feeling that our real brand of weather has been off on a visit and that it has just come back. Suppose we had all been traveling? We would have paid no end of money to the railroads and the hotels to get a few glimpses of such weather we have had and much worse. Here we have had it for nothing, plus all the comforts of home, and we are kicking about it. We are merely reflecting the common attitude of the human mentality to take a base reflection of all occurrences and manifestations wherever personality thinks it has had an unpleasant rub with facts. Take an aspiring reflection of any difficulty and it is not only immediately transcended, but its blessing is recognized. We have been too spoiled by the unending glory of this sweet land to remember that the earth cries for water and that it must have its hands and its face washed. We even forget that we cannot have the best temper and energy of the brain without an occasional snap of cold to thicken the blood.

If Beethoven, blind and deaf, had taken a base reflection of these seeming adversities he would have been a helpless and uninteresting animated corpse in a public institution; but Beethoven, aspiring, hears the melody of life with the inner ear, beholds the beauty of life with the inner vision and gives us the harmony of the world. Wagner, taking deafness seriously, would have been an intolerable and strident boor instead of the master producer of that great volume of music that is the harmony of numbers and the urge of a logic that transcends.

After spending fourteen years with masters on the piano in Europe, Natalie Curtis, that beautiful and unselfish interpreter of Indian and negro folk lore and song, found her wrists paralyzed from much practice. She could have become a social parasite and have drawn about her a glittering circle of comforting friends by the splendor of her mental attainments, but her true splendor was of spirit. She forgot all about the uselessness of her wrists in contemplating the exquisite service which she could render humanity with her beautiful knowledge of music. She divided seven years between fourteen tribes of our Southwestern Indians to preserve their songs and she has since spent almost as much time with the negroes of remote districts in South Carolina and other States to preserve the best of their musical traditions.

Shakespeare is right. "Nothing is good or bad but thinking makes it so." If anything bears down, for heaven's sake look up.

THIS IS THE DAY

Cornelius Vanderbilt—known everywhere as "Commodore"—founder of the financial family that bears his name, was born at the home of a plain Dutch farmer on Staten Island, N. Y., in the year 1794. At the age of 16 he made his first business venture, carrying farm produce from Staten Island to New York in a small ferry boat. His chief accomplishment was the organization of the New York Central Railroad. When he died in 1877 his wealth was estimated at $100,000,000.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE CHEERFUL FRONT

"I'm feeling fine, my heartles, I am not out of whack!" I answer thus all parties who ask me how I stack. It may be I've a tumor, a boil that throbs and stings, but I would pull a bloomer by speaking of such things. For people hate to listen to stories of disease, to see my teardrops glisten and trickle to my knees. When younger I delighted in telling of my ills, of how my life was blighted by Dr. Highlow's pills. One day the fact came to me that I was much alone; old friends would sadly shoo me behind them with a groan. And when, the day's work ended, I sought the Blue Front store, a sort of sigh ascended as gossips left the floor. Alone I walked and wandered, no friend in all the throng, and wearily I pondered and wondered what was wrong. And then I asked my pastor how I had got in Dutch; he said, "You talk disaster and sickness too blamed much.
There's nothing bright or cheering in any spiel you make, the men grow sick of hearing of mumps and stomachache." And now when people hail me and ask me how I stack, though forty aches assail me, I spring no cheap alack. And no one tries to shake me as in the long ago, but by the hand men take me and tell me I'm a jo.

WALT MASON.

THE LABYRINTH OF IE AND EI

[The following rules and examples are adapted from "What Is English." "Always expect it to be is unless you know definitely to the contrary."]

The right use of ie and ei you will find
By this simple device you can keep in your mind:
Write the i before e when they sound like long e;
So in piece, and believe, and in siege, it's ie.

But four cases there are where the e's before i:
It's ei when the sound is long a or long i
(Some exceptions there are when long i is the sound,
And the principal one is in fiery found;)

But in height, and in sleight, and in stein, and heigh-ho,
With the sound of long i comes the ei, as you know:
There's kaleidoscope, eiderdown, seismograph, too,
As some more of the words to illustrate, they'll do.

No exception to ei when the sound is long a
Can be found in a word though you search for a day;
To illustrate: take freight, and add sleigh, and then heir;
The word rein, also vein, even feint, and then their;

In the second, it is written ei when the sound
Is short i or short e (these exceptions are found,
As in mischief, and kerchief, in sieve, and in friend—
If correctly they're spelled, on is they'll depend;)

The third use of ei is when following c—
Then the i doing duty must follow the e—(Financier's an exception to this, it's quite clear,
But there's naught in this word to cause any fear;)

In the fourth are "six freaks" with ei that's called e (Six exceptions to using ie when called e,
As in seize, and in leisure, in weird, and in neither,
Not omitting the words inveigle and either.)

ENVOY.

With the long sound of e write ie without fear;
After c comes ei—is my meaning quite clear?
Where exceptions are shown, as you read through each verse,
You can learn them all right, though your head may feel worse.

CAVE-MAN RITES
The cave man buried his dead with as solemn religious rites as any in vogue today. Such is the conclusion of Prof. Mainage of the French Catholic Institute, from his painstaking studies of relics and ethnological records. Furthermore, he is convinced that their religion was not basically different from ours, and that the latter is merely an evolution of the former. The tombs and carvings reveal nothing in common with animism or totemism, although the cave man's belief undoubtedly accepted a plurality of gods, from which the idea of one supreme being later emerged. Prof. Mainage's investigations, while pointing to the evolutionary nature of religion, throw no light on the origin of the monotheistic concept.—[Scientific American.

Beautiful new Ship Cafe opened formally Thursday with a burst of music which was to be a time the voice of hundreds of guests who came, and might be termed holiday in that it was entirely good wishes and welcome to William Paine and Frank Booth, the new proprietors. There was a spirit and air of comradery about the crowd, as one of New Year's Eve, and shortly after the distribution of handsome favors, Tom Cooney, who certainly did himself and the dinner could only be described as "sumptuous," and, despite the immense crowds that there were many who applied for, Success is certainly with The Ship, and the unfortunates who were too late to secure a reservation should phone early. The eagerness of everybody to attend is readily understood once you have spent an evening there.

"What gives this salad such a wonderful flavor?" was asked recently when a bright hostess was serving a dainty luncheon. Then she told her secret. She explained how she was using Golden Ball Orange Vinegar in her salad dressing. This new household product is of course rich in citric acid and well endowed with health-giving vitamines. It is particularly adapted for all cooking purposes but unusually good for salad dressing. The fame of Golden Ball Orange Vinegar has spread to the East and Los Angeles housekeepers should step lively lest it all be exported. The one refreshing feature is the fact that there is no danger of finding boring insects which make their home in apples in this orange vinegar. You can buy it from Albert Cohn or the Rock Bottom Stores.

With summer coming on it is time to give a thought to your lawn. When friend husband comes home tonight give him the suggestion of purchasing Thompson's Adjustable Lawn Sprinkler Heads. It is an ideal system, the water is distributed with less expenditure of time and energy and with a greater degree of uniformity than is possible by any other method. The Thompson Adjustable Sprinkler Head has given satisfactory service for many years and has been widely distributed throughout the county. The metals used in its construction are non-corrosive and universally recognized as the best for that purpose. They sell for $8 per dozen and are made right here in Los Angeles by the Thompson Manufacturing Co. at 2468 E. 8th St., near Santa Fe Ave.

For the convenience of readers who want Vitimin, the 100 per cent complete wheat flour, which is as fine in texture as ordinary flour and contains the entire wheat kernel, a telephone order to the grocery department of Hamburger's will bring you this pure product. It is ideal for the home-baking needs, especially for the children. It makes the finest muffins, cookies or bread stuffs, containing all the nutriment that nature put in the wheat, as well as that delicious wheat flour. You can be absolutely certain of its purity and health-giving elements.

Monday's washing is made much simpler when you use White King Washing Machine Soap in granule form. It is the ideal soap to wash woolens, dainty silks, milady's lingerie and the perishable garments of children in. Dissolves in either cold or warm water, though preferably warm. A small amount goes a long way which makes it much more economical than soap in bar form or in flakes. We use it with equal success in the washing-machine, the wash bowl or the family tubs. Order a package today that you may realize what a satisfactory product it is.

You may be a bit skeptical when buying a box of "Sweet Brannies" made by Genevieve Jackson Co., for reducing. First of all, the children so enjoyed munching on them that you hadn't enough to take as frequently as was necessary, but follow directions for eating Sweet Brannids to reduce you and show "stick-to-it-iveness" and watch results. Gratifying? Of course!

If you have not already complet-ed your spring house cleaning, don't miss brightening up your brass, copper or nickel plating with Superi Metal Polish. Said Mrs. A. to Mrs. B.: "Don't tell me men cleaned your house and put your floors in such excellent shape!" "Yes, men," was the quick rejoinder. "The Acme Cleaners were recommended as being capable of doing any kind of cleaning and they were better than their word. My house was never cleaned more thoroughly nor did my floors ever look so well. Their number? Pico 1650."

And now for what might be termed the final step in our weekly chats, pertaining to the busy woman's quest for a beautiful complexion. It isn't half so hard to acquire as you were wont to believe before you began the use of the cosmetics which the Owl Drug Co. recommends, is it? Once convinced of the truth of Emerson's words to the effect that, "If you would seek the beautiful, you find it not unless you take it with you"—you will renew your efforts to acquire "the skin you love to touch" by daily using the Owl beautifiers heretofore mentioned, ending with Vernice, the face powder which has been found to agree with almost all skins because of its smooth velvety proportions, then a final touching up with a tiny bit of Red Feather rouge (absolutely harmless, by the way,) then note how quickly your family are to appreciate the improvement in your appearance.

In the past, when drain sinks or bowls became stopped up, a plumber had to be fetched. The delay and expense was no small item of annoyance and dismay. Are you fully prepared to keep the white shoes of your entire family clean? In other words, have you bought Angelus Glossy, which is made to clean white glazed kid, Cosomopitan for the buck or nubuck and Arctic for kiddies' canvas shoes to keep them looking like new? Angelus polishes preserve your slippers as well as clean them. They are a distinct economy, easily applied and have always been known to give perfect satisfaction. Iced chocolate makes a wonder-fully refreshing drink with the warm days of summer coming on. McDonald's chocolate, which has done sturdy duty during the winter as the basis for hot chocolate is even more delicious, if anything, in the iced form. PRACTICAL RECIPES

Helps for Epicures and All Who Appreciate Good Cooking

BY CHEF A. L. WYMAN, M.C.A.

[Chef Wyman will give his tested and proved recipes, menus for special occasions, and any other information pertaining to the preparation and serving of foods that the readers of The Times may ask. Answers will be published in this column every Saturday. Address all requests to Chef A. L. Wyman, Laboratory Kitchen, 424 Arden avenue, Glendale.—Ed.]

One of our friends for whom we recently published a menu and recipes for a birthday dinner was so well pleased that she has requested that we give her a menu for a stag dinner to be served to twelve men and as she has run out of turkeys and has not stove room enough wants something for the meat course besides steak and chops. She also asks how to prepare peach cardinal, how to use cornstarch with strong flours to make pastry flour, how to whip cream so that it will not butter, and how to make the cantaloupe sherbet that is served in Turkey.

STAG DINNER

A. J. B. is mistaken when she says that she cannot prepare steaks or chops with the same stove room that she has for baking turkey. There is nothing nicer that an oven-broiled steak or chop. Heat a baking pan and try out some of the meat fat in it. Remove the fat and lay in the steaks or chops, place the pan in a hot oven, let cook three minutes, turn the meat and cook to the required degree.

I would suggest for her dinner: Shrimp cocktail, celery hearts, salted almonds, ripe olives, cream of fresh asparagus, small steaks, Spanish or panned chicken, hot rolls, green peas with butter, potatoes au gratin, hearts of lettuce chiffonade, old-fashioned strawberry short cake, coffee, cigars.

HOW TO PREPARE

Mix the cocktail sauce in the morning and keep cool. Place four cans of shrimps in cold water for ten minutes, remove, dry and place in the ice box until wanted. Make the chiffonade salad dressing by mixing four tablespoons of finely chopped parsley with five tablespoons of chopped pimentos, two teaspoons of finely chopped shallots or mild onion, three finely chopped hard-boiled eggs, two teaspoons of salt, half a teaspoon of paprika, two-thirds of a cup of good olive oil and four tablespoons of wine vinegar. After mixing the dressing place it in a fruit jar, set in the ice box and shake well before pouring over the lettuce hearts. Boil and mash some potatoes in the morning, about twelve, mix with a little butter and place in a baking dish, sprinkle with grated cheese and a half an hour before serving brown in the oven.

SPANISH SAUCE

If steaks are used have the butcher cut even sized small tenderloin or club steaks and after oven broiling them place them on hot plates and pour over a sauce made by cooking in two tablespoons of olive oil, two chopped sweet green peppers until tender, two onions chopped, and two cloves of garlic; add two tablespoons of butter, two cups of tomatoes, four tablespoons of orange juice, and let simmer ten minutes. Add one cup of beef stock, two teaspoons of chopped parsley, one tablespoon of chili powder and the juice of half a lemon. Cook fifteen minutes very slowly. This can be made in the morning.

PANNED CHICKEN

Cut chickens as for fricassee. Season two cups of flour with pepper and salt and use to flour the pieces of chicken. Heat four tablespoon of olive oil in a baking pan. Place in the pieces of floured chicken and on each piece place a small piece of butter. Place the pan in the oven and when the chicken is well browned add one cup of hot water, cook for one hour, basting often with the hot water and adding a little more water from time to time so that there will be plenty of gravy. Other recipes for this menu have been published in this column in previous issues.

PEACHES CARDINAL

If fresh peaches are used they should be poached in a vanilla-flavored syrup until tender. When cool place on cold dessert plates and covered with a sauce made by pressing red raspberries through a sieve and sweetening with a little powdered sugar. Add to the sauce one tablespoon of orange juice to each cup used. Sprinkle over all finely-shredded blanched almonds.

CANTALOUPE SHERBERT

Add to two cups of clear sugar syrup two cups of cantaloupe puree, made by rubbing the tender flesh of a cantaloupe through a fine sieve. Add two tablespoons of orange juice and one tablespoon of lemon juice. Freeze to a soft mush. Serve in tall glasses. The Turkish melon has a pink flesh which gives the sherbet a pleasing color. This can be made with a little color paste or strawberry syrup.

OTHER QUESTIONS ANSWERED

To keep the cream from buttering when whipping do not beat so long, beat just enough to stiffen. Might add a little milk before whipping. To make pastry flour from hard flour add two tablespoons of cornstarch to each cup of flour used. Put the cornstarch in the cup first and then fill the measure with flour.

BOSTON CREAM PIE FILLING

O.W.A., Glendale, requests a recipe for Boston cream pie filling, wants the one that is most generally used. Mix one cup of sugar with half a cup of flour, when well mixed add two well-beaten eggs, mix smooth and stir in two cups of scalded milk, beating well. Place in a double boiler and stir over the fire until thick and smooth, about ten minutes. Cool, add one teaspoonful of vanilla extract and spread between layers of cake.

CHICKEN GIBLET PIE

G.P.R., city, was very much pleased with the recipe for Italian chicken which she requested and wants to know how to prepare chicken giblets. The heart, liver and gizzard constitute the giblets and when they are used for any other purpose than making gravy, the neck and wing tips are usually added. To make a nice dish for luncheon cut the giblets in pieces and fry to a nice brown in butter, then sprinkle over them two or three tablespoons of flour and add two or three cups of consomme or consomme made with meat cubes. Cook until clear, there should be just enough sauce to cover the pieces; season with salt, paprika and chopped parsley; cool and place in a baking dish

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

When Buying Spinach

When buying spinach look for that with leaves fresh and dirty. If the leaves are clean the spinach has been wilted and soaked to revive them.

Hemstitching Linen

When hemstitching linen it is a good idea to use the thread which has been pulled out of the linen. This is especially wise if the fabric is colored.

A Dainty Dinner Table

Try varnishing your candles with a plain shellac or painting them with delicate water colors, which will not only make a pretty addition to the dinner table, but prevent candles from dripping on the table cover.

All Around the House

Olive oil will remove gum from a child's hair.

Carved furniture is successfully dusted with a dry paint brush.

Strips of adhesive plaster are sometimes used for labels on cans and bottles.

To avoid lumps in gravy add a pinch of salt to the flour before mixing with water.

Grease can be removed from metal by washing with soapy water containing a little ammonia.

TEXAS GANGSTERS REPORTED ON WAY HERE TO RESCUE POLICE SLAYERS

Having prevented an asserted plot to bring about the escape from the County Jail of two members of the gang that caused the slaying of Patrolmen Harry Chester and W. A. Brett, Sheriff Traeger yesterday took precautions to capture any members of the gang now at liberty if they tried to aid the prisoners. It was stated that nitroglycerin was found in the jail and that a plot was under way to aid the escape of William Bringhurst and Willard Thompson. It was thought the smuggling of the high explosive into the institution was part of the plot. A report also was received that other members of the gang were on their way here from Texas to try to bring about a jail delivery.

Bringhurst and Thompson were found guilty by a jury of first-degree murder of the officers. The penalty is death. Calvin Rowell and James Wheaton were found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment. The other two come before Judge Parker for sentence on Monday.

A prisoner who has occupied the same tank as that of Bringhurst and Thompson, yesterday was taken from that place to another tank because it was feared the slayers of the policemen suspected him of informing jail authorities.

Sanitary Bottles

"Out at the other end of the plant a man sorts bottles and sends them down through the live steam sterilizing tanks. If a bottle looks the least bit dirty other than from milk, it goes to be hand washed, then comes to go through this steam process, which takes the bottles first into the tepid tank, then to one registering 120 degrees, next to one at 135 degrees on to the 160 tank and finally through the 200-degree tank. Then the bottles must pass another inspector and from him they go on an endless chain into the milk house, where a second inspector watches each and every one and not a single chipped bottle is permitted to pass."

It's More than a Matter of Taste

NOT everybody likes the same kinds of bread. Nor does every one want to eat the same bread at every meal. In your own family there are different bread appetites to satisfy.

This desire for bread variety is more than a matter of taste. It is the call of the human system for the right kinds of food to maintain good health. And Science has proven that the well balanced diet must contain both white and dark breads.

Serve at least two kinds of HOLSUM Bread at every meal — HOLSUM White and one of the delicious HOLSUM Dark breads. Your family won't choose Graham all the time — nor Whole Wheat nor Bran. But with several kinds on the table, their appetites will tell them at meal time which HOLSUM they want.

Holsum Dark Breads — Bran, Whole Wheat, Graham, for bone and tissue building.

HOLSUM Stays Fresh.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

THE QUICK OR THE DEAD?

While we want the ill people who are under the care of a physician or who should be, to read our column—if their physicians don't think it will make 'em worse—still, we don't want to have an exclusive audience of them. So far, aside from the hundreds of friendly f. f. who have written in, our correspondence has consisted chiefly of the first mentioned.

Rather do we prefer a husky lot of wellers who are anxious to remain well, and those who are not ill enough to be under the care of a physician, and who want to reform their ways, those who want to be inveigled into some knowledge of dietetics and other things which contribute to health, and inveigled painlessly—in other words, to have the technical and scientific stuff sort of snitched in, unawares, unobstrusively and anonymously, as it were.

For instance, we think that the silly little mnemonic we gave you for remembering the elements that go to make all living things, just as important as the table of elements itself, for we don't believe you would have given the table the grace of a single once-over by itself. Isn't it so?

Now here is the difficulty, however. Those who are in the habit of reading medical news and really like the enumeration of symptoms and want to have their own individual symptoms—which are not of general interest—diagnosed and prescribed for, are the ones that have been in the habit of writing in. And these letters by the hundreds are the things that make an editor think the column is popular.

If we conduct the column and refuse to diagnose individual cases that really should be under the care of a personal physician, editors are going to think that the column is not popular, and we will have to revert to the old style. So it will have to be put to you, friend readers, I'm afraid.

If you want the diseases and the symptoms written about, we can do it. We have had an extensive training and practice, and we have access to one of the biggest medical libraries in the world, and we go to all of the medical meetings, we keep in touch with the latest germs 'n everything, and we belong to the Great Medical Trust (which is, in reality, a great curber of personal liberty, for you cannot get into it unless you are a graduate of an accredited medical college, and are a high-school graduate with at least two years' college training before you entered the accredited medical college, and have one year's internship in a good-sized hospital after graduating from medical college—eleven years' training after the grammar school. Some trust!)

Well now, again, what do you want? Write in. A postcard will do the work. And don't forget that the neurasthenic and those who are ill and really should be under the care of a personal physician, are prolific writers, and unless you who are not ill and don't want to be ill, and want to read along preventive lines, unless you write to that effect we will think you don't read the column, and we will have to abide by the majority. But we are dashed if we want to write straight medical stuff.

When writing in tell us how you like this editorial we also. I—we love it! It seems to spread responsibility so much and it can be used in every line without making us look conceited.

The once or twice a week of our I, I, I; I, myself; I—story of our Column Baby will serve to let loose all the I's necessary to relieve our system.

Which shall it be—the Quick or the Dead?

How Musician is Made to be Shown Tonight

The evolution of the music student of today into the artist of tomorrow is ingeniously carried out in the program arranged by the educational department of the Federation of Music Clubs to be given in Bovard Auditorium, this evening.

It represents the student in high school, where he first gives thought to a musical career. (Alhambra City High School orchestra.) He pursues his studies when he enters the university. (Students of University of California, Southern Branch, with Miss Gould and Miss Wardell in pageant, "The Children of the Sun.")

When he graduates he joins some music organization for further practice and inspiration. (The Madrigal Club of Glendale.)

Later becomes the artist as exemplified in the second part of the program, by two accomplished artists, Mirovich, the great Russian pianist, and Cadman, the American composer-pianist.

The receipts from the concert are to be used exclusively for the advancement of music in the State.

McFee, formerly a guard for the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, yesterday pleaded not guilty in Judge Shenk's court to the charge. Information was received yesterday by Dist.-Atty. Woolwine from Dist.-Atty. Aldrich of Poughkeepsie, N. Wyman Tells Best Way to Make Clam Chowder; To Test Recipes; Roquefort Dressing Delicious and cover with a good pie pastry, cut a slit in the center and brush with beaten egg and milk. Bake in a moderate oven half an hour.

The same writer asks if we have a cook book, and if not, will we recommend one for a young married woman. We have never published our recipes in book form and she will find the best book for her to use is the one that is used by the domestic science teachers.

PINEAPPLE CREAM PIE

E. D. K., Bakersfield, wants a recipe for pineapple cream pie with a meringue. Beat to a cream half a cup of butter and one cup of sugar; when smooth beat in the yolks of three eggs. Add one can of grated pineapple, one tablespoon of lemon juice and one tablespoon of cornstarch, dissolved in one cup of sweet cream. Add the well-beaten whites of the three eggs and fold in. Pour the mixture into a pastry-lined pie tin and bake in a moderate oven. Cover with a meringue made with three egg whites and six tablespoons of sugar. The meringue recipe was published in this column two or three weeks ago.

CLAM CHOWDER

R. C. Q., city, has trouble making clam chowder and wants a recipe that will not be thin and watery. One of the nicest chowders is made with the canned minced clams. Boil two cups of potato dice in two cups of boiling salted water. Cut one thick slice of bacon in dice and fry with it one finely-chopped onion and one clove of garlic, chopped. Cover and cook until the onion is clear and tender. Heat four cups of milk and add two cups of boiling water and the juice strained from three cups of minced clams. Heat five tablespoons of olive oil and sift into it half a cup of flour, blend and add the onion and bacon, stir well and add the milk, keep beating while adding. Add the potatoes and the water in which they were cooked and the minced clams. Season with black pepper and celery salt. Just before serving stir in one tablespoon of butter.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER

L.M.D., San Juan Capistrano, has been married a year and wants a dinner menu for the celebration. As she does her own cooking she would like a simple menu. Would suggest that she serve:

Supreme of fruit
Radishes Ripe olives
Cream of tomato, croutons
Crown or leg of spring lamb
Mint sauce
Potato cubes sante, orange jelly,
Carrots and green peas
Lettuce and cress Roquefort dressing
Orange loaf, berry filling coffee

SUPREME OF FRUIT

In the morning mix equal parts of diced pineapple, oranges, grapefruit and cherries. Place in the ice box until wanted. Serve in goblets or glasses similar to those once used for champagne. Garnish the top with a ripe strawberry.

CROWN OF LAMB

Have the butcher make a crown roast from two racks of lamb. Place in a baking pan, salt and dredge with flour. Wrap each bone end with a thin slice of bacon or salt pork. Cover with a piece of buttered paper. Bake about one and a quarter hours. Baste often. Place on hot platter, remove the bacon. Fill center with the sauted potato cubes made by parboiling potatoes cut in small cubes and when three-quarters done drain and brown in hot butter. Garnish the roast with sprigs of parsley.

CARROTS AND PEAS

Cook in separate waters equal amounts of green peas and diced young carrots. Drain and mix them. Add butter and a seasoning of salt and a little sugar.

ROQUEFORT DRESSING

Rub the yolk of two hard-boiled eggs through a fine sieve, add two tablespoons of Roquefort cheese and rub smooth with a wooden spoon. Add one teaspoon of made mustard and a seasoning of pepper and salt. Add slowly six tablespoons of olive oil, and one tablespoon of tarragon vinegar. When dressing is smooth stir in the finely chopped hard-boiled egg whites. Pour over equal parts of lettuce hearts and water cress.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

ANSWERED LETTERS

Mrs. E.: Kindly give me a recipe for hot cross buns.

Answer: Hot Cross Buns. To 4 cups of scalded milk add 1 cup of granulated sugar, 8 tablespoons of butter, and 3 teaspoons of salt. When the milk has cooled to the lukewarm stage, add to it 2 yeast cakes which you have previously dissolved in one-half cup of warm water, 12 cups of bread flour and 2 1-4 teaspoons of ground cinnamon; stir this mixture well, then add to it 4 well-beaten eggs, and 1½ cups of dried and washed currants. Cover the bowl and let the mixture rise over night. In the morning turn the dough out onto your bread board, pat it down to three-quarters of an inch in height, and cut out buns with a large-size biscuit cutter. Place these buns one inch apart in greased baking pans, let them rise for about two hours, then brush over the tops of them with beaten eggs and sugar, and make a cross on each one with the dull edge of a knife. Bake them twenty to thirty minutes in a hot oven.

V. S.: Is it proper for me to send out pink cards on which I have written invitations to our first wedding anniversary? Also please tell me how to word this invitation and give hints for table decoration.

Answer: The pink cards will do very well for an informal affair. They should read: "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith request the pleasure of your company on the evening of June the fifth at 8 o'clock, to celebrate their cotton wedding." Decorate your table as follows: Make doilies out of cotton batting, edging them with silver paint; these mats should be large enough to extend beyond plates, glasses, etc., when the table is set. For the centerpiece have a basket covered with the cotton and filled with white flowers. Small favors might be wrapped in pieces of cotton tied with white ribbon, and laid at each plate.

"Troubled:" Can you help me with my plants? How can I rid the dirt of the little white worms which work on the roots until they draw all the sap from the plant and cause the leaves to drop off while still green? After the leaves dropped off my plants I investigated and found these worms."

Answer: Lime water is the remedy for earthworms. Stick holes in the earth, way to the bottom, and then pour on clear lime water till it stand on top of the earth. The worms will crawl up to escape it, and you should kill them as they appear. Lime water is also used to sweeten sour earth; add one-half a cup of it to pots in which you suspect the earth is sour. You can either buy the lime water ready made from any drug store or you can make it yourself, as follows: Pour one gallon of boiling water upon a lump of quicklime the size of two baseballs; stir hard, let settle, then pour off the clear water and bottle it, corking tightly.

An Eager Reader: Can you give me a recipe for baked cabbage?

Answer: Baked cabbage. Soak a head of cabbage for one hour in cold water, then cut it up into small pieces and boil these pieces until tender, in water to cover. Drain the cooked cabbage and place it in a casserole or baking dish, pouring over it the following sauce: Stir 1 teaspoon of flour into 1 tablespoon of melted butter in a small saucepan on the range, and then add 1 cup of sweet milk and salt and pepper to season well. When you have added this sauce to the cabbage cover all with bread crumbs and bake one hour in a moderate oven.

[All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and State.—The Editor.]

RECIPES TO BE TESTED

A. B., city, sends a Russian recipe that she would like to have tested. Will test and send findings next week. Also sends a sample of a custard powder. Will try this also next week.

W. R. M., Ocean Park, wants instructions for preserving salad dressing. If he will tell me what salad dressings he wants to make will be very glad to send him the instructions. Also tell me whether the dressing is to be sold in stores or for use in a cafe.

E. D. P., Whittier, asks for instructions for preparing strawberry pie filler. Add to four cups of strawberries two cups of sugar. Bring to quick boil. Remove the berries with a skimmer and place in a baked crust. Reduce the syrup one-third. Dissolve two teaspoons of cornstarch in a little cold water and stir into the syrup. Cook clear, cool slightly and pour over the berries in the pie shell.

PICALILLI

M. Y., Santa Paula, wants to make some old-style piccalilli this year and asks for a recipe. Peel and chop twelve cucumbers and add to them four quarts of chopped green peppers, four chopped red peppers, four chopped bunches of celery, six chopped white onions and two cups of salt. Let stand four hours. Drain and squeeze out all of the juice. Add to the vegetables one teaspoon of celery salt, four tablespoons of turmeric, half a cup of white mustard seeds, one teaspoon of white pepper, one teaspoon of ginger, one teaspoon of cinnamon, one teaspoon of allspice and one and a half cups of brown sugar. Place in a kettle and add enough good vinegar to cover, bring to a boil and let simmer one hour. Place in jars and seal. Ready for use in four weeks.

The Daily Fun Hour.

BY HONOR WALSH.

YALE LOCK TAG

This game was invented by Prof. Emmett Dunn Angell, of the University of Wisconsin, when he was supervisor of games at Yale University, hence its name. Two players are counted out, one for Sprinter, the other for Chaser. All the other players form couples, with arms linked, or "locked," and scatter over the playground. The Chaser tries to tag the Sprinter, who may escape by locking arms with any one of a couple. When this is done, the third player immediately becomes Sprinter and must run away, followed by the Chaser. Each Sprinter should make "Yale Lock" as soon as possible, as constant change of runners adds variety to the game. Whenever a Chaser tags a Sprinter before the latter can effect the Yale lock, the tagged player becomes Chaser, the former chaser locking arms with the nearest couple and the third of that trio becoming Sprinter.

In Co-Ed Tag, a variation of Yale Lock devised by the same instructor, each boy or man has a girl partner. A girl is counted out for Sprinter and a boy or man for Chaser. To save herself, the Sprinter may lock arms with any boy or man, then the other girl of the group must run away as Sprinter. When a girl is tagged, she becomes Chaser and tries to catch either the player who tagged her or any other masculine player crowded out to become Sprinter, when the former Chaser escapes via the Yale Lock as described. Two girls should never be Chaser and Sprinter; this game is strictly Co-Ed.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 198—Incombustible Handkerchief

A handkerchief is passed slowly through the flame of a candle without receiving the slightest of injury.

The trick is done very easily. Twist the handkerchief tightly and in drawing it through the flame do not allow it to remain motionless, at an angle. As long as it is kept in motion there is no danger. Do not use a handkerchief that has been perfumed, as the scented preparation may be highly combustible.

WYATT IS A WINNER BY A RUN

Pitching Third Game in Three Days He Wins Battleship Title

Nig Wyatt, hurling his third game in as many days, yesterday morning at Trona Field, Los Angeles Harbor, outguessed Art Colter, relief pitcher for the U.S.S. New Mexico nine, in as tight a pitchers' battle as ever seen in a Pacific Fleet contest. Wyatt's 2-to-1 victory, giving the Pennsylvania New York the championship of the Pacific Fleet battleship squadron and the right to meet the North Island Air Station squad here next week for the Pacific Fleet title.

Four thousand Navy fans, including practically every ranking officer in the Pacific Fleet, witnessed the game. Interest over the outcome of the contest had been intense in fleet sports circles for weeks, but when Black Curran, New York left fielder, scored with the winning run in the last half of the eighth, the crowd became a howling mob. The game was held up nearly ten minutes until things cooled off.

The two pitchers were the outstanding lights of the game, Wyatt allowing the 1920 fleet champions but six scattered hits while Colter also worked with exceptional coolness. McLaury, New York second baseman, also played sure-footed ball. He secured the only double of the game and his remarkable one-handed grab of Burke's liner in the second frame cut the New Mexico out of two runs. Score:

Bud Teachout Leads Franklin Team to Victory

The Big Hero of Franklin's Great Victory

Above we have Bud Teachout of Franklin delivering one of his baffling curves which floored a dozen Hollywood athletes yesterday. Bud also got a couple of hits, one of them a homer.

PITCHER ALSO IS SLUGGER

Strikes Out a Dozen Hollywood Men and Soaks Out a Home Run for Variety

Aided and abetted by the matchless pitching and batting of Bud Teachout, Franklin High's undefeated baseball pursuers battled their way into the finals of the Southern California prep playoff by undermining Hollywood, 3 to 2, in a palpitating extra-inning tiff, held yesterday afternoon at Patterson Field. Bud more than justified all that has been claimed for him, holding the Foothillers to seven hingles and fanning no less than an even dozen batters. Franklin will meet Pomona for the championship of the south next week.

In addition to his stellar performance on the mound, Teachout helped things along with two clean hits out of four trips to the plate, one of which was an emphatic homer that scored the first run of the game.

Hollywood's famous infield cracked on several occasions, seven bobbles being credited to Coach Ward's men, while Franklin was guilty of but two. Ray O'Brien heaved a good game in behalf of the movie city nine, but wavered enough to let the Benjamins collect seven swats, which errors by his team-mates converted into two of Franklin's three tallies.

ROUND TRIP

Nothing particularly thrilling occurred until the third when Bud Teachout stepped to the plate and sent the first ball thrown to him into deep left for a circuit trip around the bags. Both pitchers were effective until the Hollywood half of the sixth. Schroder, first man up, clicked off a single, and was advanced by Ullman's sacrifice. Rall's single put Shroder on third, and he bounded home when Walsh tapped a disconcerting infield hit, tying the score.

Ullman's two-bagger in the eighth resulted in another run which put Hollywood temporarily in the lead. Ullman sneaked down to third when nobody was looking, and danced in when Harris muffed Rall's grounder. Franklin retaliated in their half of the inning, two hits doing the damage. Brobst singled, stole second, and went to third on Stein's sacrifice. Haycox brought him in by rapping out a clean single.

Both teams were retired one-two-three in the ninth, and Hollywood failed to get a man past second in their half of the tenth. The Foothillers handed the game to Franklin on a platter in the last of the final inning when Brobst, who had reached first on an error and been advanced by a sacrifice and a walk, scored when Rall juggled Goodett's grounder, and the game was over.

QUALIFY FOR GAS DERBY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) May 26. The field of starters for the 500-mile international sweepstakes gasoline derby to be held at the Indianapolis motor speedway next Tuesday, was increased to twenty-one today when Jules Ellingboe qualified his Duesenberg and Glenn Howard made better than the required speed of eighty miles per hour for four laps (ten miles) in his Fronty-Ford. Nineteen had qualified on the previous day. Ellingboe drove his "Duesie" the ten miles in 6m. 18.09s., for an average of 95.5 miles an hour, his fastest lap being clocked in 1:34:11, which figures 95.75 miles an hour. The time for the modified flivver was 7m. 9.95s., an average of 83.9 miles an hour. Howard's best lap was 1:46:19, which figures 84.7 miles an hour.

Rain earlier in the afternoon threatened to keep the cars off the track. The final qualifying trials are scheduled for tomorrow afternoon with eight machines slated to face the starter. These are the two French Ballots to be driven by Goux and Hearne; the French Peugeot to be piloted by Wilcox; Klein's Frontenac; Garner's Bents, Davidson's D'Wehr special; Milton's Leach special and Curtner's Fronty-Ford.

Milton had his California speed creation out on the track shortly after closing time in the afternoon and made several fast laps in his initial performance, but has lost his chance for front-rank position at the start of the big race. The two cars which qualified today will be placed in seventh row with the fastest of the final day's qualifiers going into the eighth row and on back according to the speed shown.

CALIFORNIANS DO WELL

Houser, Smith and Other Prep Stars Win Heats at Chicago Easily

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, May 26.—California's wonder boys showed well in the preliminary heats for the National Interscholastic Track and Field Meet held here today and the boys from the Golden west are regarded as the most likely winners of championship honors when the finals are held on Stagg Field tomorrow.

Bud Houser, the giant Oxnard weight man, led the field easily in his two chosen events, the shot and the discus throw, and then fooled a lot of people by qualifying in the javelin and hammer throws, two events in which he had scarcely been figured inasmuch as these events are not part of the regular high school competition in California. Houser might win the meet single handed by taking all four events.

Smith of San Fernando is another California youth who showed well, winning his heats in both century and furiong by a wide margin and being counted upon to do well in the finals although Washington of Chicago made his heat in the remarkable time of ten seconds flat.

Bickmore and Nichols, the Huntington Beach pole vaulters, looked a good deal better than any of the opposition today and are considered as probable one, two finishers in this event. Nichols also qualified in his heat in the high hurdles, which was won by Barron of Fonda, Ia., in 15 3-5 seconds. Bud Nash led the field nicely in the broad jump.

There were no heats in the quarter mile and high jump so Ed Shaw, the dusky athlete from Monrovia, spent an easy day watching his other friends work out. He looks like a favorite tomorrow but Milt Nash of Huntington Beach is expected to press him in the quarter. Bill Kerr of the same team is a heavy favorite to capture the mile and may also run the half if necessary.

PREP SWIMMERS SET TO GO

Prep swimmers will continue their fight for the Southern California interscholastic swimming title this morning at 10 o'clock in the Bimini open air plunge where the finals will be held. Venice High's squad of mermen look like the ultimate victors as they have fourteen paddlers who qualified for the finals in the heats held at Bimini last Saturday morning. Pasadena has the second largest number of men qualified, eleven "Bullwaterdogs" having gotten in for today's finals. L. A. High has seven men qualified, Hollywood has three entries left, Inglewood has two, while Huntington Park has but one remaining entry.

The Gondoliers look like easy winners as nine of their fourteen men finned their way into first places in the heats. Dedrik, De Cremer, Fair, O'Connor and Bledsoe, all of Venice, look good for firsts in their respective events, which should give the squad from the canal zone a rosy hued lead.

Colin Smith, the crack L. A. High aquatic star, will probably provide a lot of thrills in the 440-yard free-style swim when he hooks up with O'Connor of Venice and Novice of Pasadena. Smith will no doubt kick a lot of water in his opponents' eyes as he is the present 500-yard open Southern California champion.

Pomona Nine Grabs Fracas from Banning

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, May 26. — Banning High School's championship hopes were blasted this afternbon when Coach Van Cleave's Pomona High School nine handed them the short end of an 11-to-8 score in a ragged game played on the local diamond.

Pomona's victory today places them in the final game for the Southern California prep baseball championship which will be played with Franklin a week from tomorrow.

Both heavers were heavily touched in today's game and poor support on both sides was responsible for scores. Ovington secured a home run which brought a runner in ahead of him in the second inning. Banning started a rally in the eighth which looked serious for a time but was stopped when James found himself after three runs had been tallied. Each moundsman allowed four men to reach first base on balls, while James struck out twelve and Guild fanned eight. The score:

Pomona	11	11	4
Banning	8	9	7

Batteries: James and Baugh; Guild and Brown.

MISS STIRLING IS WINNER AT GOLF

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CONVENT (N. J.) May 26.—Miss Alexa Stirling, former national woman's golf title-holder and now representing the North Hempstead (L. I.) Country Club, won the championship of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association today by defeating Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson of Greenwich, Conn., 5 up and 3 to play, in the 36-hole final at the Morris County Country Club.

BEARS OFF TO FLYING START

Californians Qualify Many for the Finals

Merchant is Shining Light in Four Events

Leconey Ties Sprint Record in His Heat

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) May 26. Sun-browned athletes from the Pacific Coast gained a formidable lead in the preliminaries of the intercollegiate championship games today when the University of California team, winners of the 1921 meet, qualified fifteen stars for the semifinals and finals tomorrow. Their greatest rivals, the Stanford University combination, finished in fourth place, with ten survivors, the two Far Western institutions thus accounting for twenty-five of the 106 places left after the weeding-out process.

RED SECOND

Sandwiched in between California and Stanford were Cornell, many times winner of the intercollegiate championship, and Princeton, selected by many experts as a probable victor this year. The Ithacs athletes, under the coaching of Jack Moakley, finished second with thirteen qualifiers and Princeton was third with eleven. Following Stanford came Pennsylvania, Harvard, Yale, and Pennsylvania State, with eight, seven, six and six survivors, respectively. A dozen other colleges also qualified representatives.

The outstanding feature of the afternoon's competition was J. W. Merchant, a senior at California, and a member of the American Olympic team of two years ago. The California Hercules not only established a new intercollegiate record of 171ft. 2 in., in the sixteen-pound hammer throw to lead the field of qualifiers, but also three other events. These were the shotput, javelin throw and running broad jump.

TIES RECORD

One record was equaled when J. A. Leconey of Lafayette easily won his heat in the 100-yard sprint in 9 8-10s., thus placing himself in the select 9 4-5s. class, consisting of Wefers, Craig and Patterson. With the timers using the new tenth-second watches, it is quite possible that Leconey will better the record in the finals.

Of the fifteen events contested this afternoon, California placed one or more men in ten, failing only in the 100 yards, the 880 yards and the 220-yard low hurdles. Stanford was somewhat of a disappointment to her supporters, but the Palo Alto combination ran into some hard luck and lost places in several events in which they were thought sure to advance.

STARS SHUT OUT

Williamson was shut out in the 440-yard run by the narrowest margin, and Falk pulled a tendon in the 220-yard hurdles. Muller of California, the famous "Brick" of football fame, also suffered a streak of hard luck, failing to qualify in the broad jump by a scant inch after competing and winning places in other events.

Cornell showed strongest among the eastern contenders, and was considered still in running in view of the distance runs on tomorrow's program in which it is expected that the Ithacans will accumulate a comfortable number of points.

100-yard run—Carter, Brown; Patterson, Colgate; Lawson, Cornell; Grieb, Columbia; Leconey, Lafayette; Lowe, University of Pennsylvania; McKay, Princeton; Kirkey and Scott, Stanford; Woodring, Syracuse; Muller, Williams; Bammer, Yale. Best time 9.8s., by Patterson, equaling the intercollegiate record held jointly by three men.

120-yard hurdles—Merrick, Boston College; Hoffman, California; Abbott, Dartmouth; Hackett and Whitney, Harvard; Barron and Kaufmann, Penn State; Mason and Thompson, Princeton; Phillips, Williams. Best time 15 3-5s., by Whitney.

Half-mile run—Carter and Cook, Cornell; Shaw, Dartmouth; Mariners, Georgetown; Hedrick and Shields, Penn State; Brown, University of Pennsylvania; Johnson, Princeton; Daly, Stanford; Campbell, Yale. Best time 1m. 57 4-10s., by Brown.

JAPAN OUT OF DAVIS TENNIS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, May 26.—Japan has decided to default in the Davis tennis cup matches, the world's premier tennis trophy, it was announced today, as Kumagae, a member of Japan's team, which played in the finals last year, will be unable to participate. The finals of this year's tournament will be held at Forest Hills, N. Y., early in September.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The real reason for Japan defaulting in the Davis cup tennis matches is the inability of Shimizu and Kashio, two Japanese stars, who reside in New York, to obtain permission from their employers to go to Europe to play Italy, officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association said today.

O'Hara Whips Joe Herrera at Hollywood

Teddy O'Hara made a sucker out of Joe Herrera in the first three rounds of the main event at Hollywood last night. The latter showed a flash in the final round, but was unable to overcome the lead of the rival Oakland lightweight. O'Hara dropped Herrera in the second round for the count of six.

Johnny McManus easily won a verdict over Jimmy Kelsey, the San Francisco 118-pounder, in the semi-wind-up. Frankie Conifrey was disqualified in the second round of his bout with Eddie Handley by Referee George Blake for using foul tactics. "Wildcat" Henry Borba started out to live up to his nickname, in his affair with Jimmy Marcus, but the latter had him acting more like a tabby before the bout ended. Decision to Marcus. Gene Murphy lacked his usual class and was easily beaten by Jack Spar. Lee Mason won a close decision over Young Dayton. Eddie Doodey was too good for the game Sailor Lopez and carried off the laurels.

NEW JAVELIN RECORD

LAWRENCE (Kan.) May 26.—Brutus Hamilton, University of Missouri athlete and Olympic star, broke the Missouri Valley record for the javelin throw with a toss of 171 feet ¾ inch, in the preliminaries of the Missouri Valley meet here today.

Coach Pete Lenz predicts victory and believes Reginald Tumulty of the local team will break the State prep record in the 100-yard breast stroke.

SEALS GRASP ONE AT LAST

And Thereby Break a Pretty Losing Streak

Visitors Soak the Pill to All the Corners

Bob Geary is a Hero and is Supported Well

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS

San Francisco handed Los Angeles a package yesterday in harmony with the beautiful spirit of bundle week. Curiosity prompted the Angels to open it, and more base hits flew out of it than were escaped from Pandora's vanity box.

Thus the northerners were able to take their first game of the week, 8 to 3, and bring to an untimely close their losing streak of six straight. With the Seals out in front all the way, George Putnam forgot to swallow his Adam's apple as he had been doing regularly for three days in moments of deep sorrow and emotion. The awful tragedy of a fat secretary starving to death right in one of our best boxes was almost enacted.

VERY PATHETIC

Three days, as stated, Mr. Putnam had been living on his Adam's apple. Suddenly deprived of this nourishment he found himself growing weak, and falling away to a ton. Famine literally leered at him and stalked grimly back and forth as his Adam's apple remained unswallowed, inning after inning. Then friends pointed out to George that he was starving to death in his seat, and he promptly foiled the Grim Reaper by buying a sack of peanuts, which are being sold at the park in honor of bundle week.

Mr. Putnam seems pleased to get back to plain, simple, custard food. His Adam's apple as a steady diet was too simfiar, and neither did it contain sufficient vitalityes. When the Seals go into their next slump, starting today, George will put salt and pepper on his Adam's apple before swalling it, with now and then a dab of mayonnaise dressing, and change its name to hor d'ouvre. Thus his Adam's apple will become a nine-course dinner, or a banquet.

NOT SO GOOD

Nick Dumovich, who has been looking like one of our best pennant props, fell from public esteem for six innings. Then Tom Hughes went in and fell likewise in the same gory spot. Free hitting by San Francisco with no wasting or excess profits tells the pitiful tale.

Bob Geary was the only Seals hero. Moses, who pitched San Francisco out of the tall sticks at defeat.

REDS-CUBS SPLIT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CINCINNATI (O.) May 26.—The Reds and Cubs broke even in the first local double-header of the season today. Chicago won the first game easily, Cheeves outpitching Rixey by a wide margin. In the second game, Keck, a recruit from the Western League, making his first appearance in the big league, held the visitors to four hits, and beat them 2 to 1. Maisel was hit in the head by a thrown ball in the first game and forced to retire, but was not seriously injured. Umpire O'Day ejected Manager Killefer and Coach Dugey from the field in the second game for loud talking from the bench.

DOAK WINS SEVENTH

ST. LOUIS, May 26.—Doak of the Cardinals won his seventh victory of the season today from Pittsburg, 6 to 2, thereby breaking a losing streak of five games for the locals. Hornsby pushed his way farther into the ranks of the home run sluggers in the fifth inning when he knocked one of Cooper's slow ones over the left-field fence, marking his eleventh circuit drive of the season. He needs one more to tie Kenneth Williams of the St. Louis Americans, leading major-league home-run hitter of the season. Score:

RUTH FINED FOR ROWDYISM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 26.—Babe Ruth was fined $200 and removed from the captaincy of the New York American club by Ban Johnson, president of the American League, this afternoon.

President Johnson gave his ruling after considering the reports of the umpires officiating in yesterday's game at New York between New York and Washington, when Ruth disputed a decision of Umpire Hildebrand and later climbed into the stand after a fan had made a remark to which he took exception.

Ruth will be back in the Yankee line-up tomorrow, Manager Huggins of the Yankees said tonight. But further than that he would make no comment.

Ruth himself had left the park before the league head's ruling became known, and efforts to locate him early tonight were without avail. Manager Huggins declined to discuss his probable selection of a field captain to succeed Ruth.

That Ruth had the sympathy of the fans at today's game was evident from the applause he received during batting practice.

LATE RALLY WINS FOR SACRAMENTO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, May 26.—Sacramento's batting rally in the sixth and seventh innings of the game with Seattle here today netted them four runs and won the game for the Senators, 4 to 3. Seattle garnered two runs in the second inning and took another in the sixth, but was unable to overcome the one-run lead set up by the visitors. Score:

Bob was touched for one run in the fifth, which should not have been, while Griggs and Twombly collaborated doubles with a single by Lindimore for two in the seventh. The seventh was Bob's only sign of weakness. The fifth-inning tally was due to an upset of the dope as contained inside of Jimmy O'Connell.

This gilded athlete went after a deep fly by Babe Twombly, but just as he was about to catch the ball his eighteen-karat spikes failed to hold, and he came down on the resplendent seat of his expensive pants with a mighty thud. It reminded one of the collapse of our entire financial system, or the mint blowing up. Mr. O'Connell reclined in this position, the fly went for a double, and Babe scored on the usual two outs. The Angeles are the only team in the business who make use of all outs except the third. The third out is still a waste of good raw material, and they may hit on a scheme yet whereby it can be utilized.

San Francisco won the game, but Los Angeles enacted the best play. This was in the fourth, when Hal Rhyne walked. Doc Walsh singled to right on a perfect hit-and-run, and Rhyne lit out for third. Twombly cut loose a dandy throw, and Deal stood immobile and uninterested as the ball aped to him. This fooled Rhyne into thinking that the ball was nowhere in that vicinity. So he came into the ground proud and erect like a giraffe, and Charley snatching the ball out of the air, placed the bee upon him.

Joe Kelly, the scrapping Seal, was in left field, his suspension having ended. Joe drew five days of luxurious ease for soaking our own peppery J. Carlisle Smith. Mr. Smith might have done Mr. Kelly a great favor by soaking him back on the chin hard enough to couple it up with his cerebellum. Joe has too much chin, whereas his cerebellum is mainly neck. If the chin were driven back far enough it would cause his cerebellum to protrude, making him look like a brainy ball player behind the ears. Joe is smart all right, but he carries it in his chin, which is really his cerebelluum on the wrong side, and few people understand the arrangement.

Dave Fleming was disappointed, although accepting the result with his customary Christian resignation, but it was significant that his Adam's apple started working where Putnam's left off. Hi Everding doubts whether it will ever happen again, and even a baseball expert like Tommy Laird is at a loss to explain it. Bernie Durning, finding no inspiration in what was happening here, scanned the scoreboard for tidings from the Giants. He tells me that Jim Corbett is as much a McGraw fan as he has been for the last thirty years. Anybody working in the press box at the Polo Grounds easily discovers this, as Mr. Corbett generally sits therein or directly back of the same. It is doubtful whether Jim knows the Yankees play there when the Giants are traveling.

Judge Charley Parker discovered Johnny Baleigh sitting back of third base. Johnny was a southpaw discovery of Hap Hogan's many years ago, and later went to the St. Louis Cards. Haven't seen him in a decade. The score:

SLUGGER MICHAELS HERE FOR SCRAPS

Bobby Michaels, whom Billy (Doc) Morris declares to be the hardest hitting lightweight in the world, arrived in town yesterday looking fit to step into the ring with a few days' training. Bobby is a rangy chap and looks like a powerful walloper. He has been standing most of his opponents on their ears up north, and as the fans of this section dearly love a leather pusher that can qualify as a professor of sockology, Bobby ought to make himself solid.

Bobby comes here under instructions from Manager Lee P. Flynn, direct to Billy (Doc) Morris, who has already allined his charge up for a few dates. If Bobby is as good as Morris says he is, Vernon and Hollywood promoters had better send out an S.O.S. signal for Benny Leonard. According to Morris, Bobby hits entirely too hard for the rest of the lightweights to stand up for more than a few rounds.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Zachary outpitched Shawkey by a wide margin today and Washington defeated the "Ruthless" New York club, 3 to 1. Goslin's single with the bases filled in the first inning gave the locals two runs and Shawkey forced in another in the fifth when he yielded two hits and issued three bases on balls. New York's only run was due to an error by Goslin. Sensational fielding by Peckinpaugh was a feature. Score:

NEW DEPARTURE

ASSOCIATED FIRST NATIONAL TO PRODUCE DIRECT

By Grace Kingsley

That Associated First National intends to go in for direct production, along with its releasing enterprises, was the statement yesterday of Sol Lesser, representative of the advisory committee of Associated First National, who has lately returned from New York. This is perhaps the most important step taken since the organization's formation.

To this end a committee has been appointed, consisting of Richard Rowland, formerly president of the Metro Film Corporation, J. D. Williams and C. L. Yearsley, and organized into a special department to further the proposed plan of production, and also to select, consider and recommend to First National for production, stories, books, stage plays, as well as artists and directors.

"Under this plan," said Mr. Lesser, "any worth-while star, director or producer now has a chance with First National, without the necessity of extraneous promotion and without the expense of a big staff."

Among the projects of direct production is a picture from Elinor Glyn's story of life in the film colony of Hollywood as seen by Mrs. Glyn herself. In this she herself will play a leading part. This picture will be made by the Western Pictures Exploitation Company, an organization controlled by Mr. Lesser and Gore Brothers.

Jackie Coogan's next picture is to be filmed from a story written by Jack Coogan, Sr., and adapted from a well-known story, the name of which will be announced later. All Jackie's pictures in the future are to be big league stuff, according to Lesser, and in entire keeping with the literary quality of "Oliver Twist." After two more pictures, Jackie and his father are to go to Europe, along with a company of players, and a picture will be made abroad from a well-known story, the locale of which includes spots in France and England.

While nothing definite has been announced in regard to the proposed connection of Goldwyn and First National, one gathers from First National officials that there is little doubt the deal will shortly be closed.

Nancy Fair, Producer

Maybe you've been in the habit of thinking of Nancy Fair, lovely and vivacious young leading lady, as a flapper, but you've got to quit that line of thought at once. Now when you think of her, you may think of her as Nancy Fair, producer.

Miss Fair arrived from New York yesterday, where she has been playing in "Tangerine," and it was learned that she is organizing a company for the presentation of a play, to be announced later, which will open at the Columbia in San Francisco the middle of August, and which will later play the Mason here.

But Miss Fair is not a young lady to idle. In the meantime, therefore, while her mother, Mrs. Maud Fair, is attending to the details of organization, the star herself is to play a short engagement on the Pantages time.

Sounds Like Vacation

Being in a merciful state of mind, William Seiter, directing "All for Art's Sake" for Robertson-Cole, is taking his company up to the beautiful Big Bear region to make scenes for the picture. Doris May, Hal Cooley and others are the lucky players.

Doug MacLean's Plans

Having completed his last picture under his contract with Thomas H. Ince, Douglas MacLean has gone to Bear Valley for a fortnight's vacation. The picture is "The Sunshine Trail," and in a few scenes MacLean appears as an 8-year-old child. He wore bobbed hair for these scenes, put on knee-length trousers, a frilled blouse and expansive windsor tie, and altogether was a very amusing child. Douglas James W. Horne directed.

MacLean is understood to have received several attractive offers, but will make no decision until he returns from his vacation. It is likely that he will take a trip to New York.

Walsh Arrives

R. A. Walsh, who has just signed up with Goldwyn to direct "Capt. Blackbird," arrived in the city yesterday. He is scheduled to begin work within the next few weeks. Work of completing his cast will go forward at once. So far Harry Myers, William V. Mong and George Siegman have been signed.

Dick Hatton in It

Mike Rosenberg of Western Pictures Exploitation Company announces a five-reel western to be started next week. Dick Hatton is to be featured. The story is a fast moving affair of thrills and spills. Clifford P. Saum, long associated with Edgar Lewis, will direct.

LIVES UP TO HOPES

Vincent Lawrence's latest comedy, "In Love with Love," is living up to the fondest hopes of both Thomas Wilkes and Sam H. Harris, according to reports from the Majestic Theater, where it is now playing for the first time on any stage. A delicious comedy, full of delicate shadings and situations, it is proving a real winner, and critics are of the opinion that Lawrence's latest effort should be well received when it reaches New York. Mary Newcomb and Edward Everett Horton are supported by an excellent cast in this play, which gives a decidedly new twist to the old triangle.

ROAD SHOW IN FALL

With the exception of the honor premiere of "Monte Cristo," the William Fox cinematization of Alexandre Dumas's famous novel now showing at the Mission Theater, which was staged in Denver, Colo., the birthplace of Emmett J. Flynn, director, and the current showing of the piece at the Tremont Theater in Boston, there will be no general releases of this picture until late in the fall. The reason for this decision is, it is stated, that the success of "Monte Cristo" in Los Angeles and in Boston has been so great that the picture will be released as a $2 road attraction when the fall season of theatricals go into full swing. A New York theater has been secured and a symphony orchestra will use the score which was selected by Dr. Carlos De Mandil for the Mission projection.

REALTORS ROLL INTO THE CITY

Chicago Special Brings 223 to "End of the Trail"

Happy Delegates Will Join Caravan for 'Frisco

Noted Guests to See Orange Show and Sights

Seven days out of the big city on the shores of Lake Michigan, the Chicago Realtors' Special rolled into the Santa Fe station at 2:35 p.m. yesterday, bringing 223 happy tourists who have come to Los Angeles to go to San Francisco by way of the Realtors' "End-of-the-Trail" caravan.

They were glad to be here—although they had experienced a wonderful trip—and said so with much emphasis. And they were eager to start as soon as possible to inspect this "white spot" on the commercial map and to crowd in as much sight-seeing among the mountains, orange groves, beaches and other attractions of this part of Southern California.

The special left Chicago last Friday. Its first stop was at Kansas City, where the local real estate board took the traveling realtors for a two hours' ride. Sunday the travelers reached Colorado Springs and spent the day visiting Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, Cave of the Winds and other scenic marvels. On Tuesday a stop was made at Santa Fe, N. M., where the local realtors had provided a special entertainment. The same day Albuquerque was reached. On Wednesday the visiting realtors went out to the Grand Canyon and other interesting places, and on Thursday they were entertained at Phoenix, Ariz.

GIVEN EAR MUFFS

At this thriving city the tourists were provided with ear muffs to wear in Los Angeles. "If you listen to the siren voices of the Los Angeles realtors you'll never go back to Chicago," they were told.

The roster of the Chicago realtors, who have come West to attend the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, includes a large proportion of the leading men in the real estate line in their cities.

Among those in the fifteen Pullmans were: Callistus S. Ennis, former president of the Chicago Real Estate Board; W. E. Witherbee, president of the Chicago Board of Underwriters; George H. Taylor, president of the Mortgage Bankers' Association; J. Soule Warterfield, business manager of the Chicago Real Estate Board; Dr. C. B. Ball, chief sanitary inspector of Chicago; Charles M. Nichols, chairman of the zoning committee of Chicago; Charles F. Durland, chairman of the national convention committee.

WILL VISIT ANAHEIM

An especially interesting traveler was Edwin S. Judd, founder and first president of the national association, who came to attend his fifteenth annual convention.

Besides the delegation from Chicago, on whose train came also a number of realtors from other cities, there arrived the New England realtors, who mostly went to the Hotel Clark. The greater portion of the visitors went to the Ambassador, which, because of its proximity to the starting point of the caravan, has been made the official headquarters of the "End-of-the-Trail" caravan.

Today the official entertainment provided includes a visit to the orange show at Anaheim, where the visiting realtors will be the guests of the Anaheim Realty Board; and sight-seeing trips in and around Los Angeles. On Sunday they will be taken to the Mission Play at San Gabriel.

FEDERATION PRESENTS MUSICAL PROGRAM

The Federation of Music Clubs will present the following artists and students in program to be given at Bovard Auditorium, University avenue and Thirty-sixth street this evening at 8:15 o'clock:

Alhambra High School Orchestra, Miss Georgia Shropshire, conductor, in various selections; Japanese episode from pageant, "The Children of the Sun," by Norma Gould, Miss Bertha Wardell and students from University of California, Southern Branch; "A Madrigal in May," "Serenade" and "Invocation to Life," by the Glendale Madrigal Club, Mrs. Charles Parker, director; Prelude, G Minor (Rachmaninoff,) Nocturnal Tangier, Alt. Wein, Ethiopian Serenade (Godowsky,) Spring Song (Mirovich,) Cracoviac Fantastique (Paderewski,) Mr. Alfred Mirovich, pianist; "The Robin Woman's Song" from the opera "Shanewis;" "The Land of the Sky-Blue Water," "The Moon Drops Low," Margaret Messer-Morris, with Mr. Charles Wakefield Cadman, composer-pianist, at the piano.

URBAN DISTRICT WILL VOTE ON ANNEXATION

Residents in the section just outside the present city limits at West Washington street will vote on the question of annexation to Los Angeles in a special election June 30. This date was set by the City Council yesterday.

HARD ON THE MUSTACHE

"A screen actor should act with his face," according to Doris Davidson, who is featured with Vera Gordon in "The Good Provider," opening at Grauman's Rialto Sunday, "but he should be careful to avoid going to extremes, as a certain young character actor did. This player was instructed by the director, in a particularly dramatic scene, to bit his lips vigorously. He followed the order so literally that he succeeded, without being conscious of the fact, in chewing off the false mustache he was wearing and ruined the scene." Although Davidson would not admit it, it was whispered that the "certain young actor" was none other than he.

RUSS SIMPSON BUST

Russell Simpson, who is featured in John F. McCarthy's production of "Out of the Dust," which will show tomorrow at the California Theater, is now engaged in "Rags to Riches," starring Wesley Barry. The actor recently finished a leading role in Victor Schertzinger's newest picture at Santa Barbara.

MODERN MOODS OF THE PIANO

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Youth adventures bravely and well into the new realms of music, and the result is interesting at all times for the listener, at least where the elements of music have been so well mastered as in the instance of H. Colin Campbell, who played a piano program last night at Gamut Club Auditorium. The reception which his audience accorded him was proof of their enjoyment of the concert, not only as an exhibition of talent, but also as somewhat of a revelation of modern moods.

Mr. Campbell is a pupil of Thilo Becker, and appears to be one of the most advanced. He is thoroughly studious both in mien and in feeling, and his music throughout reflects the fruits of a fine instruction.

His program features were the Fifth Sonata by Scriabine, a group of novel tone-poems of post-impressionistic type, by the resident composer L. De Vere Nicholson, and the "Islamey," by Balakirew. The Nicholson numbers and "Islamey" were the most scintillating points of interest.

One felt that the pianist was expressing more of himself in the latter part of the program, where these numbers were included. He gained both in the color and the significance of his interpreting. Previously in the Chopin and Scriabine compositions, he seemed somewhat detached. The personal note was lacking, especially in the Scriabine Sonata, where it should have been manifest.

Mr. Campbell evinces a fine degree of poise at the piano. His one outstanding technical fault seems to be an overuse, or rather a misuse of the pedal. His tone adheres to the pastel shades, but there are moments when it is acutely brilliant. Throughout, however, there were attractiveness and beauty to the musical quality of his renditions.

Mr. Nicholson's compositions are of the ultra type, but are well molded. They have the atmosphere of Spain, brilliant in musical color, and yet revealing rather unusual mingling of hues.

Awarded $8000 in Action Over Property Trade

Untangling an involved real estate deal, in which a local firm is asserted to have defrauded a man whose property they were attempting to trade, Judge J. Perry Wood yesterday handed down a lengthy decision in which he awarded John E. Dickinson $8000 against R. M. Gale, R. T. St. John, his salesman, and Albert A. Price, purported dummy in the deal.

According to Judge Wood's opinion, the property of Dickinson in Tulare county was valued at $50,000. Dickinson asked the Gale company to trade it on that basis. The company traded the property for some Hollywood land which they represented to be worth $85,000, but which had been given them to sell for $60,000, and finally for $55,000.

Dickinson asked for $30,000 damages, the amount of the mortgage, given on the Hollywood property, and the difference between the actual value and the represented value. Judge Wood held that $8000 was returnable to Dickinson and that the Gale company should reimburse him for all escrow charges and revenue stamps.

Private Rites for Mrs. Haupt Planned Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Alma Haupt, widow of Paul Haupt, formerly a well-known contractor, will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. today at her late home, 2416 South Figueroa street. Burial will be at Rosedale Cemetery. The services will be private.

Mrs. Haupt, whose maiden name was Alma Lindahl, was born in Illinois and married in 1888. Her husband built the Union Oil Building, the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank Building, the Hibernian Building and many other large structures of the city.

Mrs. Haupt died Thursday at noon. She leaves a son, William Haupt and a daughter, Norma Haupt.

JURY MAY SIFT BRIBE CHARGE

Investigation May Start at Once in Watts Case

Two Trustees Accused of Soliciting on Contract

Asked $15,000 for Sewer Job Award, is Claim

Investigation into the charge of Adam Dalmatin, contractor, that he had been solicited for a bribe of $15,000 by two members of the Watts Board of Trustees in return for a $500,000 sewer contract, may be started immediately by the grand jury, it became known yesterday.

Mr. Dalmatin made his charges at the meeting of the Board of Trustees, Thursday night, without divulging the names of the two trustees who are asserted to have approached him. He said he was willing to do so, and after a turbulent session, resolutions were adopted urging that the grand jury take up the matter immediately.

Another bidder, whose name became known yesterday is Albert W. Phillips, 537 North Hoover street, who submitted a bid for the work, in company with Martin G. Brkich. Their bid, the lowest of any submitted, was rejected when the bids were first opened on the ground that their bond was not properly executed. The bond was afterward declared legal by a decision of the City Attorney.

READY TO TESTIFY

Mr. Phillips denied emphatically yesterday that he or his partner had been approached in any way. He asserted that he knew nothing about the asserted solicitation.

"Would you be willing to go before the grand jury and testify if you are called?" he was asked.

"If they call me I'll go and tell what I know," he answered.

The Phillips and Brkich bid was the lowest, with that of Mr. Dalmatin next.

Mr. Dalmatin disclosed yesterday the manner in which the asserted solicitation of the $15,000 bribe was brought about. He said that two nights after the bids were opened, he was called on the telephone by one of the two trustees he accuses and told they wanted to speak to him "regarding some changes in the contract." He said they called at his home, 481 West Sixty-second street, the same evening.

AVERS HE HAS PROOF

Mr. Dalmatin divulged only a portion of the conversation, he asserts took place. He said the two informed him that an "offer of $15,000" had been made to them for the contract, and they wanted to see if he would make an offer. Mr. Dalmatin says he declined to entertain the proposition.

He declared that he was prepared to substantiate his charges with five witnesses and his wife. The conversation took place, he says, on the lawn in front of his home, the two trustees refusing to enter the dwelling to talk. Inside the house, but within hearing distance, Mr. Dalmatin says, were his two partners, two other men and his wife. They heard the entire conversation. He says he will divulge the names to the District Attorney when called upon to do so.

As a result of his charges, all of the bids were rejected. New bids will be advertised for immediately. Neither Mr. Dalmatin or Mr. Phillips was certain yesterday whether they would bid again for the contract.

FORD SCHEME SCORED

Professor Opposes Muscle Shoals Power Finance Plan

The Henry Ford scheme for financing the hydroelectric power development of Muscle Shoals was scored by H. J. Stonier, director of the extension division of the University of Southern California, in an address yesterday noon before the round table of the Advertising Club, in the Broadway Department Store banquet room.

Mr. Stonier compared the plan with the results following the Civil War, and declared that if carried out it would lead to an inflation of currency.

Last evening Mr. Stonier addressed the Citrus Belt Alumni Association of the University of Redlands. He spoke on "The Part of the University in the Development of the Community."

"BETTER FILMS" CRUSADE

Tomorrow has been set aside by the churches of Los Angeles as "Better Pictures Sunday," and in 360 Protestant and forty-one Catholic churches, a special communication will be read pertaining to the work being developed by the Better Pictures Association of the World.

The resolution passed last Monday by the Ministerial Union and unanimously adopted by the pastors of all Los Angeles Protestant churches, asks, "in order to place the motion-picture industry on a safe and sane basis," the co-operation of the churches to discourage the production and presentation of objectionable motion pictures, to work for the elimination of untruthful and misleading advertising, to strive for betterment in the art of making pictures, and to safeguard the screen from unreasonable restrictions and regulations.

The Better Pictures Association of the World is a nonprofit membership organization, operating for the benefit of the public and for the development of the motion-picture art. All funds are used solely for obtaining wholesome, artistic entertainment at reasonable admission prices. The Ministerial Union went on record as being heartily in accord with the program of the Better Pictures Association, and eager to co-operate with them to the fullest extent, and asks that the members of their congretions become members of the organization.

The Church Federation of Los Angeles has sent a letter to each of the Protestant pastors, asking that a portion of the services Sunday be given to an explanation of the Better Pictures Association program and requesting that their people lend their support to the movement.

Divorce Given Husband When Wife Departs

When James G. Thomas, an employee of the Board of Education, reached his home one evening, he discovered that his wife, Lulu M. Thomas, had locked him out, he told Judge Hahn yesterday. Thomas went to his sister's house for the night, he explained.

He said he surmised then that something was wrong, and when later he was served with papers in a suit for separate maintenance, he knew the "sweet bells" were out of tune. Her decree was denied and he was later granted a divorce by Judge Hahn.

Mr. Thomas's sister testified her sister-in-law wanted to pick out the man she best liked which would require more than one marriage.

Association of Army Officers Holds Meeting

The Association of the Army of the United States, Los Angeles sector, an organization of active and retired officers of the Regular Army, the National Guard and the Officers' Reserve Corps, conducted its monthly meeting last night at the Union League Club, Third and Hill streets. Lieut. W. M. Clare of the Army Balloon School, Arcadia, and Maj. R. C. Cotton, One Hundred Sixteenth Infantry, were speakers. The next meeting will be held June 16.

PATENT FOR NEW HEATER GIVEN AWAY

Gas Company to Let Anybody Make Orchard-Warmers

Champ Vance, vice-president of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, announced yesterday that the company will donate to the public its patents for its new briquet-burning orchard heater so that anyone desiring to do so may manufacture them without royalty. The patents, which were secured to prevent others from asking royalties, will be published.

Another test of the heater will be made at Hemet this evening under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of that place. Representatives of the research department of the gas company will demonstrate the device. At a recent test in the mountains the heaters were able to maintain the surrounding air at a temperature above freezing when the mercury normally stood considerably below that point. The promoters of the orchard heaters say that they are inexpensive to operate and do away with the smoke nuisance.

Ownership of "Vicious" Dog is Denied in Suit

A damage suit before Judge Valentine yesterday in which it was charged Philip Krasow, 5 years of age, was bitten by a dog belonging to Fannie Cohen, developed the strenuous denial that the defendant ever had such a "vicious" dog in her possession.

The lad was awarded $450 damages, the court holding that the defendant owned the dog.

The court further declared that perjury had been committed by one side or the other.

FRESNO HINDU SHOT BY EL CENTRO HOLD-UP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, May 26.—Late last night officers found Thaker Singh, a Hindu from Fresno, shot in the left arm and suffering loss of blood. He said a robber ordered him to throw up his hands at Main and First streets and shot him when he refused, taking $23 out of his pocket when he fell. Deputies are searching the county on description supplied by Singh.

FREE TO RUPTURED WOMEN

If You Have a Large Navel Rupture or Have Suffered Rupture After an Operation Try My Plan Free

Special Corset Attachment for Large Fleshy Women, Gives Neat Trim Figure, Holds Rupture Securely

Mrs. F. E. Williams, representing Wm. S. Rice, Inc., Adams, N. Y., has a special corset attachment that holds any rupture no matter how large. Even if the abdomen is very fleshy, it holds any rupture, with ease, comfort and security. Hundreds of women in Los Angeles and vicinity are in need of just such a support as Mrs. Williams is able to supply. Experience has shown that many women are unable to wear a corset because of large Navel Ruptures or those following operations. The special surgical corset and rupture support combined is designed to care for all such conditions.

Doubtless every woman who has been compelled to wear an ordinary truss or abdominal Support knows the gouging, cutting and chafing caused by narrow bands. The weight of the abdomen must be carried by the band around the back and the pressure is sometimes very great, causing untold suffering. The special broad supporting corset attachment does away with all cutting, chafing and binding. It is light, flexible, durable, cool and fits the figure like a glove. It gives you a sense of absolute security and protection.

Mrs. Williams will be at the New Rosslyn Hotel, Los Angeles, Cal., May 29 to June 1, inclusive, to demonstrate this marvelous Support free to all women. She wants to fit it on you and prove to you that it is a great blessing to all rupture afflicted women. No matter what you have tried now is your opportunity to find out just what you require, and get the benefit of free personal application, by a competent lady expert.

Why be burdened with rupture and suffer the continual annoyance of wearing trusses if you don't have to? Why not use the Rice Method and prove to your entire satisfaction what results are possible in your case? Thousands have been able to throw away their trusses after a brief application of the Rice Method and there are thousands who are still suffering the tortures of rupture because they know not where to turn for relief. Mrs. Williams is in Los Angeles to give all such women the benefit of her experience and knowledge of hernia and invites you to her private apartments at the New Rosslyn Hotel. Do not fail to get this free demonstration.

Remember, Mrs. Williams will be in Los Angeles only a few days, then your opportunity will be gone, so by all means don't fail to call and see this wonderful demonstration.

Daily from 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 evenings.

POPULAR RADIO PROGRAM SENT

Saxophone Numbers Carry Clearly to Audience

Singers Entertain With Classic Works

Vandalism in Library is Pointed Out

The Times—KHJ—on the air today, 7:15 to 8 p.m. Jessie MacDonald Patterson, soprano, accompanied by Dr. Frank Nagel, pianist-composer, will sing "Violets," "Ruth's Lullaby," "Three for You" and "Scotch Love Song," all compositions by Dr. Nagel. Franklin Booth, violinist, will play "Ave Maria," by Schubert-Wilhelmj, and "Rigandon," by Kreisler. Maestro William Tyroler, pianist, will accompany Mr. Booth.. Bedtime story at 7:20 p.m.

Wilbur P. Funk's saxophone was heard in thousands of homes yesterday in an enjoyable delineation of two popular melodies, "Leave Me With a Smile," and "Saxophobia," by Rudy Wiedoft. Erle Murray accompanied Mr. Funk at the piano and rounded out the popular program.

Miss Lois Brown, a member of Copley Club Singers of Boston sang "Love, Here Is My Heart," by Ross-Silesu, and "Where My Caravan Has Rested," by Lohr. Her voice carried clear, and resonant, according to reports received at the conclusion of the program.

The refreshing tones of Florence Minott, lyric soprano, and the piano accompaniment of Mrs. H. C. Lee in "Vissi D'Arte," by Puccini; "Love's Old Sweet Song," by Molloy and "The Old County Down," were winged in the evening concert.

Althea Smith, 15-year-old pucker whistler, of the Redondo High School, rendered, "Gondoliers," by Ethelbert Nevin; "The Year's at the Spring," by Beach, and "Pas des Amphores," by Chaminade. Mrs. Graham Smith, her mother, accompanied at the piano.

"VANDALISM" IS TOPIC

"Vandalism," the topic of Everrett R. Perry, Los Angeles Public Librarian, was broadcast in the afternoon program. The rapid destruction of the city's books, property of the taxpayers, was pointed out by Mr. Perry in his address, part of which follows:

"This radio invention is a wonderful thing. It gives us a chance to get acquainted, to know what each other is thinking. It is a way to keep in touch with what is going on in the world and to get together to try to find a way out of our common difficulties. The Times has given us an opportunity to have a committee meeting, where I, the librarian of the Los Angeles Public Library, can make a report to you, its owners. Because some of you may be newcomers who have never shared in this responsibility before, I shall begin by making a short statement of the nature of our business, before I touch on the problem which confronts us.

TAX LEVIED

"The Public Library is an institution which is empowered by law to furnish reading matter to the citizens of Los Angeles. For the maintenance of this institution a tax is levied of 65 cents per capita. This money provides for the purchase of books and the administration and care of these books at the library building. It must also cover depreciation charges—or the wear and tear of the books. This is out of all proportion and reason, and is causing a serious loss which will affect you, as owners, if steps are not taken immediately to rectify it.

"The Los Angeles Public Library right now is facing a grave problem. It is the problem of mutilation of library books and it has arisen solely because people who use library books do not realize their responsibility. The library books are being ruined at an appalling rate. Thousands of volumes must be discarded every year because readers have so abused them that they can no longer be used. The worst offenders are the people who mark in books with pen or pencil. This may be underlining, or comments written as they occur to the reader, probably meaning something to him, but either stupid or exceedingly annoying to the next reader. It may be a joy to find your own marks in a library book, but it is anything but a pleasure to find some one else's marks sprinkled through that book. A second type of offender is the person who cuts out illustrations or sections of the text. A third is the man who uses a pencil, or anything else that is handy for a bookmark, not realising that this weakens the back of the book. A fourth has the habit of wetting his fingers to turn a page. The offender who mutilates library books forgets that while the books he injures are his, they are also his neighbor's and that his neighbor has an equal right to the enjoyment of them.

REPLACEMENT COSTLY

"In the three months, January to March of this year, our periodical department has paid $100 to replace single numbers of mutilated magzines. It had to pay $2.50 to replace one 50-cent magazine. "It is your problem, as well as ours. We in the library are trying to solve it and urge you to assist us."

The Patterson Electric Company of Los Angeles and Chicago are now manufacturing their jewel crystal receiving sets in Los Angeles.

William Breniman, active in radio for the past fourteen years, has just finished designing and building a cabinet receiving set for the home. Mr. Breniman has registered his new instrument under the trade name of "Radiotrola," and is expecting to build in large quantities very shortly.

Another old timer, H. R. Renner, 1319 South Hoover street, is back into the radio field. Mr. Renner, actively engaged as an operator from 1906 to 1913, announces that he is studying the code and radio technic for the purpose of obtaining another government commercial license.

LESSON 54
By G. C. Farmer

A few good basic suggestions, helpful hints and rules for the radio enthusiast may be of interest.

A permanently adjusted crystal detector can be arranged by mounting the detector on the end of a post which has its bed in the ground. A hole in the floor, and also in the table must be made, of course, to accommodate the post. Once the detector is adjusted, however, any amount of jarring on the table, the floor or adjacent walls can be made without disturbing the delicately set detector. Adjustment can be maintained for weeks at a time.

Instead of using a buzzer for adjusting the crystal detector, the switching on or off of an electric light globe will cause a click to be heard in the receivers when a sensitive adjustment is reached.

A good contact to galena can be obtained by employing a cup partly filled with mercury in which the galena crystal is lowered by means of a very fine thread screw adjustment.

Instead of soldering the connections in the receiving cabinet to the back of the taps, and thus ruining the threads, or using ordinary copper lugs, a very clever scheme for attaching the leads to the taps is by employing ordinary shoe eyelets to hold the wires firmly. These eyelets only cost 75 cents per 500. The eyelet wrench for flattening the eyelet costs 50 cents. A great deal of time and money can be saved by using these eyelets, which make as good contact as solder.

Switch knobs for your home-made tuner can be made out of ink bottle tops. By removing the cork and boring a hole in the center of the black top and inserting an ordinary screw-top binding post in the hole, a serviceable switch is constructed.

A sure test for finding the polarity of a storage battery or a B battery, or any other source of direct current, is to bring the leads into a glass of water containing a pinch of salt. The terminal that gives off a fine stream of bubbles is the negative side. In charging storage batteries, positive of the charging current and positive of the battery should be connected. Like poles should be together.

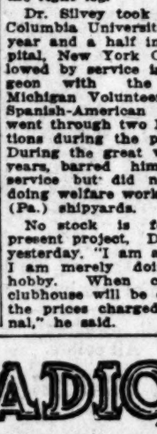
ANGELENO PLANS CLUB IN MEXICO

Resort to Cost Quarter-Million to be Opened to Serve Public

A clubhouse and dancing pavilion on the sea coast of Lower California within easy motoring distance from Los Angeles, to be completed by next October at an estimated cost of $250,000, and to be located on his 28,000-acre tract, twelve miles below Ensenada, is the plan of Dr. F. R. L. Silvey, 243 West Adams street, he announced yesterday. The site is less than one mile from the property recently purchased by the Jonathan Club for clubhouse and golf link purposes.



Dr. F. R. L. Silvey

From San Diego, next week, according to Dr. Silvey, a chartered boat will leave for the property carrying a rock crusher, to be used in building one mile of concrete road to connect the proposed clubhouse with a main highway, several trucks, eight ready-built houses to be occupied by twenty skilled American mechanics who will be taken, and other necessary material. The contract for the building of the road has been let to the Hughes West Coast Construction Company. Dr. Silvey says he will personally superintend the building of the clubhouse. It will be built of native rock and be of old mission architecture. The patio, sixty feet square, will be the dance floor.

IS WELL KNOWN

Dr. Silvey is a well known figure in Mexico, going there first in 1910 as surgeon for the Mexican Petroleum Company. While employed by that company he located oil land for himself near Tuxpan, state of Vera Cruz, which for the past several years has brought him an income of $2000 a day, he stated yesterday. In 1911 he occupied offices in Mexico City with Clement Swain, Los Angeles capitalist. Together with Julio Madero, youngest brother of the late President Madero, he designed the Madero peso, a silver coin still circulating in Mexico.

In 1914 and just previous to the Columbus raid, while he was at Madera, State of Coahuila, he gave surgical treatment to Pancho Villa who at the time was suffering from a gunshot wound in the right leg.

Dr. Silvey took his degree at Columbia University in 1896. A year and a half in Bellevue Hospital, New York City, was followed by service in Cuba as surgeon with the Thirty-second Michigan Volunteers, during the Spanish-American War. He also went through two Mexican revolutions during the period 1910-14. During the great war his age, 50 years, barred him from active service but did not prevent his doing welfare work at the Chester (Pa.) shipyards.

No stock is for sale in his present project, Dr. Silvey said yesterday, "I am a rich man and I am merely doing this as a hobby. When completed the clubhouse will be open to all and the prices charged will be nominal," he said.

BOARD EXTENDS TUNNEL TIME

Contractor Given Extra Year to Complete Work

Formal Approval of Action Up to Council

Record Construction Speed is Promised

With the proviso that the work must be rushed at a definite speed, the Board of Public Works yesterday approved of the granting of a year's extension of time to Contractor John Hayes for the building of the Second-street tunnel. It will be necessary for the City Council to formally approve of the extension. The contractor originally was given 465 days to complete the tunnel and this time limit expires on July 9, with the tunnel but 18 per cent completed to date.

In the first few months construction of the tunnel proceeded slowly on account of rains, sewer and conduit troubles, but since January 9, the records show, the work has been pushed through rapidly.

HEATED SESSION

The extension was approved yesterday by the board after a rather heated session. At one time the commissioners told Mr. Hayes that unless the contractor and his former associates and financial backers straightened out their troubles the board would declare the contract and the $250,000 bond forfeited and complete the work under municipal direction.

Contractor James A. Hill, who since January 9 has been actually in charge of the work of digging the tunnel, said that the extension of time would permit the obtaining of necessary financial backing and that the work would move at record speed from this time on. George M. Babcock, secretary and managing director of the Business Men's Co-Operative Association, recommended that the extension be granted in order that the contractor could obtain the necessary financial backing and the early completion of the tunnel which, Mr. Babcock said, the people demanded accomplished.

REPORTS ON WORK

City Engineer Griffin reported that of the tunnel's total length of 1502 feet, there had been completed to date twenty-seven feet of full masonry work including rock back fill, 163 feet of full masonry work at easterly end, now being backfilled, both portal walls had been completed, and 283 feet of concrete side-walls have been built up to the brick lines, including backfill. He also reported that actual excavation work in the tunnel amounted to a length of 460 feet. The City Engineer recommended that to speed up the work the contractor should excavate another working shaft from the surface in addition to the two already in use, so that three gangs of men can excavate at the bottom of these shafts. The board told Mr. Hayes that regardless of troubles, assignments and large transfers of various kinds, the board recognized Mr. Hayes as the only contractor for the tunnel and would hold him responsible for its construction. The commissioners also will recommended to the Council that the extension be granted with the protective clause that at the end of six months the city is not satisfied with the progress being made it can cancel the extension, the contract, declare the contractor's bond forfeited and proceed to complete the tube as a city job.

JILTED, SHE AVERS; ASKS HEART BALM

Miss Emma S. Lahey Sues Sawtelle Undertaker for $20,000 Damages

Miss Emma S. Lahey might have been Mrs. Fred J. Finch No. 3 but for a change of heart on the part of Mr. Finch, Miss Lahey declares. Instead of making her his happy bride last August, Mr. Finch married Mrs. Alice V. Stewart, and Miss Lahey, humiliated and distressed, was in Judge Wadton J. Wood's court yesterday seeking $20,000 damages for breach of promise.

In some respects the case is novel. Miss Lahey, who modestly told the story of Mr. Finch's asserted love and affection for her roomed with the young woman who later became Mrs. Finch No. 2. The first Mrs. Finch died, and the second Mrs. Finch and Mr. Finch were divorced.

Mr. Finch, after his divorce, called on Miss Lahey. Then came a time when, she said, he asked her to become his wife. She accepted, she said, and subsequently he bought her a diamond engagement ring. The wedding was to be in June, 1921, but apparently by mutual agreement was postponed until August.

And then, she asserted, came the disillusionment. She testified Mr. Finch wrote her a note in which he stated he had decided to break off the engagement. They met afterward, but the engagement never was renewed.

Mr. Finch, in his answer, denying the breach of promise, said he had consulted a priest and learned that his marriage to Miss Lahey would be unlawful under the rules of the church.

He also introduced another element. He said there had been quarrels and dissensions between himself and Miss Lahey over her purported propensity for automobile riding with Ralph Klein. She denies the impeachment.

Tanner, Odell, Odell & Taft represent Mr. Finch. Attorney Hollzer is counsel for Miss Lahey. The case will be resumed before the jury Monday.

Former Wife to be Witness in Valentino Case

Jean Acker-Valentino, divorced wife of Rodolph Valentino, cinema actor, was subpoenaed yesterday to appear as a witness at his hearing June 1 before Justice Hasby. The subpoena, together with four others, was issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McClelland. Nine other subpoenaes were sent out, eight of them to Imperial Valley and Riverside county.

Although Jean Acker-Valentino has talked over the telephone several times with Mr. McClelland, so far she has failed to keep numerous appointments with him. Investigators are still getting information from local witnesses regarding the status in this State of the marriage in Mexicali of Mr. Valentino and Miss Winifred Shaughnessy step-daughter of Richard Hudnut, New York capitalist.

Plan Funeral Services for Dean Fifield

Funeral services for Dean N. Fifield, publicity director and formerly a well-known football star, were being arranged yesterday by his family.

Mr. Fifield was killed yesterday morning when the automobile he was driving collided with the rear end of a standing Pacific Electric freight train at Highland avenue and Santa Monica Boulevard. He died almost instantly.

During his schooldays at Polytechnic High School and Occidental College, Mr. Fifield distinguished himself on the football field. Later, while in service in the World War, he was cited by Gen. Pershing for meritorious and distinguished services under fire. Before the war he was employed as a sports writer on a morning newspaper.

He was 30 years old and resided at 164 Larrabee street, Sherman.

Aged Blind Man Falls Into Hole; Two Arrested

Serious injury yesterday to John R. Home, 76 years old, the blind father of Police Captain Home, resulted in the arrest of John Sutalo, contractor, and George Pilch, laborer, who are said to have left a manhole uncovered in an alley between Douglas street and Edgeware Road. Mr. Home, who resides at 843½ Kensington Road, while walking in the alley, fell into the hole and suffered severe bruises, lacerations and shock.

FILES $50,100 SUIT

Malicious Prosecution Is Charged by Cattleman

A suit for malicious prosecution in which $50,100 damages are asked, was filed yesterday by J. H. Hamilton, a cattleman of Antelope Valley, against J. W. Mays, S. G. Wilson, W. G. Fraser and O. K. Morton. It is contended in the complaint that the defendants conspired to have him falsely arrested. Mr. Hamilton declares he was arrested on the charge of stealing $47,320.21, but was acquitted. The suit grows out of a cattle deal.
